LEVY FOR STATE PAY ROLL SLUSH FUND RESUMED

Collector Sits and Takes the Cash.

H. A. Stone, a state pay roller, sat in the Louis Joliet hotel at Joliet last night and admitted that he has resumed his collections from state prison employés for the Illinoisans.

This is the Horner organization formed to assess 2 per cent of the monthly salaries of state employés for Democratic campaign purposes. Its take is estimated at $500,000 a year.

Warned Just Recently.

The civil service commission recently found from an investigation of Stone and other solicitors that the collectors were violating the civil service law. The commission gave warning only last Friday to a member of Gov. Horner's cabinet, A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, that he must stop the solicitations.

But Stone was back on the collecting job last night.

This time he did not have headquarters within the Joliet or Stateville prisons, as he had done previously under authority of a letter from Bowen. Bowen is under indictment for malfeasance as a result of the 53 deaths from typhoid fever at the Manteno state hospital.

Instead of calling on them at work, Stone said he was seeing to it that the state employés came to him at the hotel.

This circumvents the state law against solicitation of state employés on the premises of state institutions.

Stone gave no indication that he was collecting only from noncivil service workers.

[The state civil service law reads: "No officer or employé shall solicit, orally or by letter, or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving any assessment, subscription, or contribution from any member of the classified service for any party or political purpose whatever."]

Money Laid on Table.

Stone yesterday afternoon had a visitor in his room. The visitor had a list of names.

On a table in front of Stone was a typed list of hundreds of names. Beside it lay half a dozen receipt books of the Illinoisans and some paper money, mostly in $1 bills, which apparently totaled about $20.

Stone bade farewell to his visitor and turned to a reporter.

"Mr. Stone," the reporter asked, "are you collecting for the Democratic campaign fund?"

"Yes, if that's anything to you," Stone replied, leaning back and sticking his thumbs in his vest.

Denies Use of Threats.

"Why did you tell me you were a flour salesman the last time I talked to you," the reporter inquired.

"And why should I talk at all?" demanded Stone. "However, I would like to tell you a few things.

"We don't use threats. Absolutely none of that. Any one interested in the Democratic party is going to contribute, of course.

"They realize that we must have money to conduct a campaign. But there are men who've been in prison for years, as employés I mean, who have never contributed. And they're not treated any differently from the others."

The reporter asked how the pay rollers know when to come to Mr. Stone to pay the two per cent.

He Just Sends Word.

"We get word to them," Stone explained. "No, not thru the warden, Mr. Ragen, who is out of town anyway, or his assistant. I just send word to one of the fellows. Yes, employés."

"Are enough of the employés kicking in?" the collector was asked.

"O, yes. Plenty of them," Stone answered. "Listen, I'm pretty busy."

Outside the hotel the reporter found five guards from the prisons at Joliet. They said they were there to pay their 2 per cent. They laughed, looked at one another, and then said "no" when asked whether they had been threatened.

Stone is on leave for his collection duties from the state division of old age assistance.

The Illinoisans are headed by F. Lynden Smith, a member of Gov. Horner's cabinet and director of the state department of public works and buildings. The organization was recently exposed by the Civil Service Protective association.

Harlem Eagle Flies to Aid of Father Divine

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—A throng of dusky Harlem "angels" jubilantly chanted "Sittin' at de Table of de Lawd" today as they trooped out of the state Supreme court room where the little bald man they call "God" appeared as defendant in a $4,476 equity suit brought by a disgruntled ex-disciple.

"Peace!" they shouted. "Ain't you glad?"

"Father Divine is God!" exulted others.

Their ecstasy arose from an offer by Col. Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, 42 year old, self-styled soldier of fortune, aviator, and "black eagle of Harlem," to put up $12,500 for an out of court settlement of claims totaling $17,000 against Father Divine.

Hopes to Shield Race.

Julian said he made the offer to spare the cult leader from being made "the target of a reflection on the Negro race."

Supreme Court Justice Benedict E. Dineen recessed the case until tomorrow morning to give counsel for both sides a chance to talk it over.

Thruout the four hour session the Harlem Messiah himself—natty in a double-breasted blue business suit, blue shirt and dark tie—never batted an eye as the chief complainant, Mrs. Verinda Brown, 52 years old, a West Indian, directed hostile glares in his direction and testified that he once told her he was "omnipotent and omnipresent."

Wants Wealth Divided.

Mrs. Brown is asking that the myriad properties of Father Divine's "peace" movement be placed in receivership and sold, with the proceeds distributed among his followers.

Mrs. Brown testified the cult leader often talked about "cosmic forces" and "the millions, the trillions, the quadrillions and I don't know how much more money he had in his heavenly treasury."

The witness said it was a far less cheerful story, however, when she wanted to get her money out of the "heavenly treasury." She couldn't get a nickel, she said.

NOISE DRIVES COUPLE TO JUDGE; HIS RULING: A NIGHT'S OUTING FREE

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—The James C. Lewises dined out gratis tonight on Finnish caviar, lobster a la Newburg, pressed duck, wines of rare vintage, and topped it off with a quiet night's sleep in a hotel—thanks to Magistrate Henry C. Curran and a noisy steam derrick.

This was the manna that fell from Magistrate's court today when Mr. and Mrs. Lewis complained that their sleep was shattered by noise from construction of the new East River drive near their fashionable apartment. Sleeplessness was making wrecks of them, they told the magistrate.

The judge prescribed for the couple a night of food and fun, including a Broadway hit show, and later the peace of Morpheus, with the city guaranteeing that the bill would be paid.

Lewis, a real estate broker, and Mrs. Lewis put away $35 worth of food and drink, paid a $7 tip, then went to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel where Lewis said he would ask for the bill at 9 a. m. tomorrow. He and Mrs. Lewis are to appear in court tomorrow morning with a documented bill and a report on the evening.

When news of the magistrate's decision reached the office of the borough president it was said the contractor on the job—Merritt-Chapman & Scott—would foot the Lewises' bill. A spokesman for the contractors said they knew nothing about the case.

SWISS STUDENTS LOSE THEIR MAPS OF VITAL PASSES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 4.—Basel school children will study geography this year without the aid of maps of their country.

Topographical maps issued two years ago are being removed from school books of this frontier canton by police as a part of Switzerland's precautionary measures against invasion by either of the belligerents on her border. The maps show mountain passes which would be useful to an invader.

Paul's Lesson Teaches Ma a Thing or Two

Shoppers pushed and jostled and stepped on his toes, but the little boy in the green snowsuit stood his ground yesterday at State and Adams street. He watched every move of Policeman Bernard Babe, directing traffic. The boy's eyes glowed with admiration at every shriek of the policeman's whistle, every wave of his blue clad arm.

Policeman Babe noticed the boy and went over to talk to him.

"Hello," said the youngster. "I came to see Santa Claus. I got lost from my ma."

Takes Boy to Station.

Babe took the boy to the Central station. He met a lot of policemen there, and told them he was Paul Felcyn, 7 years old, and lived at 2604 New England avenue. His mother's name was Irene and his daddy's name was Phil, but daddy was gone now.

One policeman took Paul to dinner; another scrubbed his face; a third let him try on his cap, and a fourth bought him a balloon. Paul liked it fine; that is, all except the scrubbing.

A squad was sent to notify Mrs. Felcyn. Policeman Henry Sullivan reported Mrs. Felcyn didn't seem worried. She said she'd been having trouble with the boy. At the Central station an indignant hand filled out a printed admission slip supplied by the Juvenile home. After "Reason for detention" was written: "Child lost in loop. Mother refused to call for him."

Goes to Juvenile Home.

Paul, chattering about the sled and electric train he had spoken to Santa about, was bundled off to the Juvenile home at 9 o'clock.

An hour later a sobbing, distraught young woman appeared at police headquarters. She was Mrs. Felcyn. She said Paul wouldn't do anything she told him; stayed out late, ran away, played with older boys . . . "I wanted to teach him a lesson," she said, shoulders shaking.

Her plea fell on deaf ears. Paul was asleep in the Juvenile home. And the doors were locked for the night.

SPURNS LEAGUE PARLEY CALLED BY HELSINGFORS

Claims Advances by Troops.

BULLETIN.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 5, Tuesday (AP).—Sweden, in increasing alarm at the extent of the soviet Russian incursion into Finland, called more troops to the colors today and for the first time acknowledged "partial mobilization." About 40,000 men, including artillerymen, engineers, and commissary detachments, were ordered into service, bringing to about 150,000 the number under arms—as against a normal standing force of 20,000.

MOSCOW, Dec. 4 (AP).—The Russian government tonight made clear that it has no intentions of abandoning its invasion of Finland by the following actions:

1. The rejection of an offer by the Swedish government to mediate the conflict between the soviets and Finns.

2. The announcement that Russia would not participate in the league of nations meeting called to consider a Finnish protest at the Russian invasions.

3. The publication of military communiques which claimed further advances for soviet forces.

Says Finns Abandon Capital.

In refusing the Swedish mediation offer, extended by the Swedish minister in Moscow, the soviet premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, said that the "so-called government of Finland" already had abandoned its capital, so that "there now can be no question of any negotiations with this government."

Russia has recognized the so-called People's government, supposedly created at Terijoki, on Finnish territory, as the only government of Finland. Moscow has concluded a mutual assistance treaty with this régime.

[Latest dispatches from Helsingfors indicated the government still was functioning at Finland's capital.]

Two Visits to Molotov.

The Swedish minister, acting on behalf of Finland, visited Molotov both Saturday and Sunday night to urge a negotiated settlement of the conflict, but both times he received a negative reply.

In explaining Russia's refusal to send delegates to the league of nations meeting, scheduled to begin next Saturday, Premier Molotov said:

"The soviet union is not in a state of war with Finland and does not threaten the Finnish people with war."

The communication was addressed to Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary general of the league, in Geneva, Switzerland. Molotov said the soviet government regarded the Finnish appeal for league assistance as unfounded.

Recognize New Government.

He said that Russia was maintaining peaceful relations with the new People's government of Finland. Molotov declared the Finnish government at Helsingfors had "now resigned its powers" and that the petition to the league was not made by "authorized representatives of the Finnish people."

"If, notwithstanding the above considerations, the league council and assembly were still convened to consider the Finnish application, the soviet government would not deem it possible to take part in these assemblies," Molotov's message concluded.

A communique from Leningrad military headquarters told of a relentless advance into Finnish territory. On the Karelian isthmus, north of Leningrad, the announcement said, the Red army had thrust from 28 to 31 miles into Finnish territory from the border line.

Advance Along Shore.

North of Lake Ladoga, it added, the Red troops drove along the shore and occupied the town of Salmi, 13 miles over the frontier, and the railway station of Laimola, 44 miles north of Salmi.

In the Petsamo region, the communique said, soviet troops pursued

RED ARMY POORLY CLOTHED FOR WAR IN ARCTIC REGION

BY MARTIN MARTELIUS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAPARANDA, Sweden, near the Finnish Frontier, Dec. 4.—Finland's crack troops, which have been drilled for years in arctic warfare, are fighting the Russian invaders around Petsamo, the Finnish ice-free harbor 200 miles north of the polar circle.

The Russians attacked from both the south and the north and with warships in Petsamo fjord.

A Norwegian engineer who has observed the action between Petsamo and Kirkenes, a Norwegian frontier town, said the first Russian attacks disclosed that the Russian soldiers were poorly outfitted.

Many prisoners taken by the Finns had only one pair of shoes and others had shoes with soles made of wood.

Finns Clothed for Warmth.

Many of the Finnish soldiers wore no uniforms. They were clothed in the windcloths or leather jackets which usually are worn on peaceful ski jaunts. The white arm bands, bearing their company insignia, which the Finns wore were the only military signs about them. Twenty years ago such white arm bands also were worn by groups of Finns fighting for freedom from Russia.

Refugees from Petsamo are following the newly built arctic automobile highway to the most northern railway station at Rovaniemi. Thence they continue by rail to Tornio, Finland, and Haparanda, which is on the northern shore of the Gulf of Bothnia. Only a few refugees so far have sought shelter on the Swedish side of the border.

Fear Civilian Action.

There have been no air raids on Tornio but sirens shrieked twice when three scouting planes were observed near Kemi, 15 miles southeast on the Gulf of Bothnia.

Some war experts believe the Russians are endeavoring to land civilians for the purpose of exploding mines at important railway points.

Norwegians along Finland's arctic border are doing their utmost to aid the refugees in their escape from menaced towns. Ice in the fjords now is thick enough to hold automobiles. Finnish Boy Scouts are assisting in the removal of women and children. One youth of 13 made 20 trips across the ice during two nights and one day. Motor cars are being camouflaged with white sheets to prevent them from being observed from enemy planes.

A MONTEZUMA DEAL IN 1590 UP TO COURTS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—Four descendants of Montezuma, emperor of the Aztecs, have sued the Mexican government for alleged arrears in the perpetual income granted their forefathers 349 years ago by Spain. A hearing has been set for March 13, 1940, before the First District court of the federal district.

The plaintiffs are Fernando Oliveira Esperon and three of his brothers. They claim descent from Juan Andrade de Montezuma and Dona Magdalena de Montezuma, who, as legal heirs of the Aztec emperor, are said to have signed a contract with the Spanish crown on Dec. 5, 1590, receiving perpetual rights over the lands of Tacuba and other towns.

The Mexican government rejected the claims in 1933, saying the rights were canceled when Mexico gained independence.

COUNTY BOARD REALLY HAS A WOLF AT DOOR

Among the—more or less—astronomical figures over which the county board is now struggling in preparing its 1940 budget is an item for $10. The ten spot is for the pelt of a Cook county wolf. It's claimed by James Serbus, gas station owner at 3249 South Pulaski road. Serbus shot the wolf in Barrington township on Nov. 28. Last Thursday two agents for the board reviewed the remains. Serbus claimed and received a similar bounty for another wolf last year. Yesterday the harried board, worrying about million dollar expenditures, referred Serbus' demand to the budget committee for further consideration.

ADMIRAL SCHEER STRIKES AGAIN IN SOUTH ATLANTIC

10,000 Ton Boat Sent to Bottom.

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—Another British vessel, this time the 10,086 ton steamer Doric Star, was chalked up tonight as a victim of the wide ranging German sea raider, the Admiral Scheer.

The British admiralty's announcement said the Doric Star presumably went to the bottom after being attacked by a German raider in the South Atlantic. Unofficial information was that her attacker was the 10,000 ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer.

This was the first report of the German sea raider since Nov. 16 when some survivors of the British tanker, Africa Shell, sunk in the Indian ocean off the east coast of Africa, identified the enemy ship as the Admiral Scheer.

Crew of 70 Aboard.

Homeward bound with a cargo of meat from New Zealand and Australia under command of Capt. M. Stubbs of Liverpool, the Blue Star Liner Doric Star had a crew of 70 and accommodations for six passengers. No reports on the fate of the Doric Star's crew were available here, and it was not known whether she carried passengers.

In addition to the Doric Star, it was reported during the day that a British vessel was sunk by a mine, another British ship was sunk in a collision and two other British ships were damaged in collisions. A German minelayer sunk off the Danish coast.

Victim of a mine, the 3,829 ton British freighter Eskdene went down. Her crew of 29 was landed in Scotland. The British steamer Hamsterley, 2,160 tons, was sunk in collision off the east coast of England with one man missing.

Mysterious Accidents.

Mysterious collisions off the west coast of England damaged the 1,276 ton Scottish steamer Lairdsglen and the 1,064 ton Findhorn.

The admiralty report on the Doric Star said that she had been attacked in the South Atlantic by a raider and "as no further information has been received it is presumed she has been sunk."

Since the early days of the war the British navy has been searching for the Admiral Scheer and her sister ship, the Deutschland, which have been preying on British shipping.

The first report on the Admiral Scheer was on Oct. 2 when she sank the British freighter Clement off Bahia, Brazil. She last was reported in the Indian ocean in connection with the Africa Shell.

Victorious in Sea Battle.

The Deutschland, which captured the American freighter City of Flint and sent her to Murmansk, Russia, in charge of a German prize crew, engaged and sank the armed British merchantman Rawalpindi Nov. 23 in a fierce fight in the North Atlantic. More than 250 British sailors died when the Rawalpindi went down.

The Deutschland eluded British warships in fog and a storm. That has been the last report from her. The two vessels, built to outrun heavy battleships and outshoot faster cruisers, have a speed of 26 knots and a cruising range of 10,000 miles.

German Minelayer Sunk.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 4 (AP).—A German minelayer struck a mine and sank off the Danish coast today. Only two survivors were found of the crew, believed to have numbered 50. Danish warships launched an extended search for others who may have survived.

The minelayer went down off Langeland, south Danish island.

Fear of Mines in Argentina.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 4.—Rumors that German steamers which have recently sailed from Argentine and Uruguayan ports may now be engaged in sowing mines in Plate river waters apparently are causing Argentine authorities much concern. This apprehension has been increased by the strong suspicion that secret air bases exist in the far southern regions of the republic.

AWAIT BLOCKADE RESULTS

LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 4.—Belgium and Holland, worried by the economic aspects of the British and French blockade which became effective against Germany today, were waiting tonight to learn what its first results will be.

Both countries have long been dependent on the revenue from German exports passing thru their ports and carried in their ships.

Antwerp, Europe's most active port, provides one-third of the transit trade, most of it from Germany.

To Work Two Ways.

The blockade will work two ways, in the seizure of German exports, whether carried in German or neutral ships, and in intercepting her imports, as has been done since the war began.

Under the British order, which was proclaimed a week ago by King George VI., but delayed following complaints from neutral countries, all ships must pass inspection for German goods in export just as ships carrying goods actually en route to Germany or likely to find their way there have been searched for the last three months. However, the order provides for occasional relaxation to meet neutrals' protests and to lighten the financial blow to them.

A Powerful Weapon.

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—Great Britain and France today clamped on Germany one of the most powerful weapons at their command—a total blockade.

The British order to seize German exports—whether carried in German or neutral ships—was proclaimed just a week ago by King George VI.

Prime Minister Chamberlain had announced it six days earlier as a decision for retaliation against mine warfare which still is taking a toll of British and neutral shipping.

The delay in putting the two way blockade into force was a concession to neutral nations, following complaints from Holland, Denmark, Belgium, Sweden, Italy, and Japan.

Seek Neutral Markets.

A British mission headed by Ronald Hibbert Cross, minister of economic welfare, arrived in Paris by airplane and conferred with French officials on means of applying the British-French embargo. A communique issued after the meeting said the two delegations were in complete accord.

Meanwhile, a demand was growing that Britain buy up all markets accessible to Germany across neutral frontiers—at the necessary price—and at the same time increase British exports.

The blockade was expected here to wipe out Germany's trade with South America, and British business groups have been pressing the government for aid in capturing those markets.

Sink 33 German Ships.

Britain simultaneously announced she had put 33 German merchant ships out of action in three months of war on her enemy's sea trade.

[Unofficial reports list 87 British merchant ships lost in sea warfare.]

The report on Britain's war on German sea trade to date said Germany's merchant shipping loss totaled 171,390 tons. It said 144 German submarine crewmen had been taken prisoners during the three months of the war.

More Mines, Germany's Answer.

BERLIN, Dec. 4 (AP).—Informed sources said today they believed German planes and submarines would lay a belt of dreaded magnetic mines around England and Scotland and the region would be declared a danger zone. This, they said, would be Germany's answer to the British-French blockade, but from official sources there was no comment other than that Germany "will give a proper answer to Britain's piratical practices.'

Son of Gallen-Kallela, Noted Finn Painter, Killed in War

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 4 (AP).—Lieut. Vuurima Gallen-Kallela, son of Finland's great national painter, has been killed on the eastern front while leading a patrol against the crew of a Russian bomber fighting in a forest. The bomber's crew was killed.

NAZIS TO HONOR VON MACKENSEN'S 90TH BIRTHDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—Field Marshal August von Mackensen, who has known the favor of former Kaiser Wilhelm and Adolf Hitler in his long career, will be 90 years old on Wednesday.

His birthday will be marked by military ceremonies and Col. Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, chief of the German armed forces, personally will present a white horse to Von Mackensen, who to this day prides himself on his slim, youthful figure. A white horse has been the traditional mount of hussar officers since Frederick the Great.

For a time there was a certain coolness between Hitler and Von Mackensen because the old soldier protested against the treatment of Protestant pastors. They have since become reconciled. "The grand old soldier of Germany," as Von Mackensen now is known, will review detachments of his honorary regiment and cavalry and infantry regiments which bear his name as they march before his home.

CANADIAN AIR FORCE OPENED TO AMERICANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 4.—American airmen will be allowed to enlist in the Royal Canadian air force. The defense department today announced that noncitizens, provided they are of European descent and resident in Canada, may enlist. "Resident in Canada" will mean only that the applicant must be in Canada when he files his papers. Americans will have to cross the border before they can join. All must take the oath of allegiance. Hundreds of applications are on file from the United States. Several experienced American pilots have offered to be instructed.

BROWDER'S AID IS INDICTED FOR PASSPORT FRAUD

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—A second communist leader was indicted today by a federal grand jury for passport fraud a short time after the trial on similar charges of Earl Browder, the party's national head, had been postponed until Dec. 18.

The new defendant was accused of having obtained and used passport under the name of Robert William Wiener, whereas it was alleged his real name was Welwel Warszower. He was said by Assistant United States Attorney Lester Dunigan to have been financial secretary of the communist party of the United States "until a few days ago."

Warszower was identified in the indictment as a Russian born alien who came to this country as an immigrant in 1914 and since had posed as an American born citizen. He was denounced by Dunigan as "the rankest sort of imposter." He pleaded innocent and his $10,000 bail was posted by Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, secretary of the defense committee for civil rights.

The maximum penalty on conviction would be five years in prison and $2,000 fine. Browder could get 10 years in prison and be fined $4,000.

BRITISH DEVISE SECRET WEAPON TO FIGHT MINES

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—An authoritative source said today that Britain had devised a "very satisfactory" new secret weapon to combat German magnetic mines.

It was said that fishermen volunteers on trawler minesweepers were using a new method closely guarded by the navy.

Neutral experts commented that it was feasible to drag metal nets between two wooden trawlers to detonate the mines harmlessly.

[Finnish sources have declared their troops had retaken Petsamo and that 20,000 seasoned soldiers were defending the area.]

The text of the communique of the Leningrad military area follows:

"On Dec. 4th the troops of the Leningrad military area continued to advance. In the direction of Murmansk soviet troops pursued a group of defeated Finnish troops near Petsamo and advanced 25 kilometers [15.5 miles] south of Petsamo.

"In the port of Petsamo soviet warships are clearing the berths of mines laid by Finns.

"In the Uhtua, Repola, and Porosozero sectors [about 450 miles north of Lake Ladoga] soviet troops advanced from 45 to 50 kilometers [28 to 31 miles] from the state frontier.

"Soviet troops occupied the town of Salmi on the shore of Lake Ladoga, the railway station of Laimola, north of Salmi, and continued to advance.

"On the Karelian isthmus soviet troops advanced from 45 to 50 kilometers from the state frontier. In view of unfavorable weather, no air action took place."

Report Islands Occupied.

A communique earlier in the day, reporting on yesterday's activity, said that the Russian Baltic fleet, after successful battles, had occupied the Finnish islands of Suursaari [Hogland], Seiskari, Lavansaari, and Little and Big Tytaersaari.

The islands are strategically located in the Gulf of Finland along Russia's route to the Baltic and, thru it, to the North sea and the Atlantic. Russia had sought to win these islands in the diplomatic negotiations which preceded the present conflict.

The official communist party newspaper Pravda reported in a dispatch from Kronstadt, soviet island naval base in the Gulf of Finland near Leningrad, that a heavy battle had taken place in the neighborhood.

Charges English Participated.

Pravda said that soviet ships, airplanes, and the army had "routed the Finns and the English who dared to attack our shores," but did not elaborate on the charge that "the English" took part.

[Official quarters in Helsingfors seemed mystified over the Pravda report of English participation in an attack on Kronstadt. No official comment was forthcoming immediately.]

BRITAIN'S KING JOINS HIS ARMY AT WAR FRONT

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN FRANCE, Nov. 4 (AP).—King George VI. of Great Britain, cheerful despite a drenching during a rough channel crossing, joined his empire's army tonight in British battle position. He will inspect the front line and supporting troops and visit units of the royal air force.

The king landed this afternoon after a journey in which destroyers and aircraft kept watch over his transport. He had remained on the bridge of a destroyer thruout the trip. Accompanying him was his brother, the duke of Gloucester, who is a major general, and was returning from a leave.

ROBBED OF CASH AND TRUCK.

Max Gussis, 1821 South Avers avenue, was robbed of $46 and his truck, which contained $107 more in its built-in safe, by two bandits at Central and Agatite avenues.

FINNS CAPTURE 1,500 REDS; HOLD FIRM IN ARCTIC

Begin Fortifying Strategic Aaland Islands.

BULLETIN.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 4 (AP).—A Russian squadron on a bombing flight over Finland, north of Lake Ladoga, was reported today to have lost its way in a snowstorm and crashed into treetops. Several planes were believed wrecked, but there was no immediate mention of personnel casualties.

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 4 (AP).—Fighting Finland tonight claimed new successes against soviet Russian invaders and steeled herself for new and more vigorous assaults expected by land, sea, and air.

The ghost like capital, deserted except for defenders and those necessary for vital services, was grateful for lowering clouds and snowfall which kept Russian bombers away and gave time to strengthen defenses and clear away the débris of last week's air bombardment.

As night fell without further air raids on Helsingfors a government spokesman announced that in the eastern sector north of Lake Ladoga the Finns had captured 1,500 Russian troops. He said no further details of the capture were available.

[In the north, reports reaching Kirkenes, Norway, said 20,000 Finnish troops were standing off the Russian attack on the Arctic region of Petsamo. The reports said several thousand soviet troops had landed in that area but Finnish leaders declared their well trained regiments in the far north would not be pushed back.]

Government Leaders Meet.

The government remained in almost continuous session but it was said that no important internal political developments had occurred.

No decision for the government to leave Helsingfors had been reached although vigorous efforts were being made to board up the city in preparation for new bombing raids. Total civilian casualties in air raids on Finland were announced as 85 dead and 181 wounded, with 65 of the dead killed in Helsingfors where 16 buildings were destroyed by bombs, 11 by fire, and 233 others demaged.

As a new defense measure the Helsingfors government announced it was fortifying the strategic Aaland Islands which command the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia.

[A Swedish government spokesman said Sweden would have no objection to Finland fortifying the Aalands, adding that under the convention of 1920 Finland may take any steps necessary to defend the islands if her neutrality is threatened. Russia offered vigorous objections before the league of nations last June when Sweden and Finland proposed jointly to fortify the islands.]

New Situation Created.

Word of the decision to fortify the islands was sent to Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary general of the league of nations.

A government spokesman said the Russian invasion had created a new situation in regard to the group of islands which is about 30 miles wide and whose center is 50 miles from the Finnish west coast and 50 miles from the eastern coast of Sweden.

"The Aaland Islands are one of our most vulnerable points," said a government spokesman. "If they should fall into the hands of another power it would close the Gulf of Botnnia and practically isolate Finland from the rest of the world."

Hold Firm in North.

KIRKENES, Norway, Dec. 4 (AP).—Twenty thousand first line Finnish troops with first class equipment are holding firm against newly-landed Russians on the arctic front, according to latest reports reaching here tonight.

A reliable estimate of the number of Red troops landed near Petsamo, at the head of Finland's narrow corridor to the Arctic ocean, was difficult to obtain. Some reports put the figure at several thousands.

Reports reaching this border town said the main Finnish front line was from Petsamo southward, a little bit east of the so-called Arctic highway, which connects this far north country with southern Finland. It was said there were no Russians west of the highway.

Other Finnish Lines.

There are other Finnish lines 30 miles to the west, close to the Norwegian border and touching Salmijaervi, border town 20 miles south of Kirkenes.

The Finns insist that there is little chance of the Russians pushing these first class troops back.

Russian prisoners taken by the Finns were said to be exhausted, having gone without food for three days prior to their capture.

I. J. Simcox, American manager for properties of the International Nickel company of Canada in the Salmijaervi area, arrived here after a tour of inspection of the properties, bringing a report that 3,000 Russian soldiers had landed at various points on Petsamo fjord.

Say Old Homes Burned.

After Simcox reached here smoke was sighted over the nickel company's properties at Salmijaervi and it was believed the nickel works were aflame. But refugees arriving later tonight said the fires sighted were old houses burning along the road between the mines and Salmijaervi. The refugees said that Finns burned the houses for strategical reasons.

Simcox reported that the entire civilian population of Salmijaervi had been removed and that only Finnish troops remained.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 4 (AP).—Dorothy James had a movie actor as a guest today in Pennsylvania's executive mansion. The governor's daughter, in her early twenties, told interviewers "I am not engaged."

William Lundigan, who went to Hollywood from a radio announcing job in Syracuse, N. Y., flew in from the west coast over the week-end.

"Bill had a few days holiday and he came on for a visit," said Miss James. "We met in Syracuse when I did dramatic sketches on the air."

TROOPS IN ROME CHECK ANTI-RED DEMONSTRATION

Students Cry 'Resist' to Finn Minister.

BULLETIN.

ROME, Dec. 5, Tuesday (AP).—Carabinieri and other troops today blocked a new attempt by student groups to stage an anti-Russian demonstration in front of the soviet embassy.

ROME, Dec. 4 (AP).—A thousand students, in the second anti-Russian demonstration within three days in Rome, today expressed Italian indignation against Russia's invasion of Finland. A similar demonstration took place in Milan.

Eero Jarnefelt.

Police dispersed the crowd in Rome, which had gathered before the Finnish legation, after students had rushed upstairs to the apartment of the minister, Eero Jarnefelt, and brought him to the balcony three times to bow and thank them in the Finnish language. "Resist! Fight!" the demonstrators shouted before they were moved along by police.

Barred from Soviet Embassy.

Cries of "Long live Finland!" and "Down with Russia, Stalin and bolshevism!" echoed as the students moved off toward the soviet embassy, which troops prevented them from reaching. Several hundred armed soldiers blocked off surrounding streets and prevented another demonstration such as occurred Saturday when a crowd of 3,000, some of them uniformed Fascists, shouted anti-bolshevist slogans in front of the soviet embassy.

Several hundred students who marched past the United States embassy toward the Russian embassy, applauded Consul General Graham Kemper and members of his staff who appeared on balconies.

Press Sympathizes with Finns.

Virginio Gayda, commentator who frequently expresses authoritative Fascist opinion, wrote in Il Giornale D'Italia that it would be "interesting to learn in the clear case of Finland what are the intentions and defensive actions" of those big powers still in the league of nations.

He mentioned particularly Britain and France and declared that Russia, against whose invasion Finland has appealed to the league, was active in imposing economic penalties on Italy during the conquest of Ethiopia in 1935.

[A league council session has been called for Saturday to consider Finland's appeal for arbitration of the Finnish-Russian conflict.]

Nazis Charge League Seeks to Put Germany on the Spot

BERLIN, Dec. 4 (AP).—Convocation of the league of nations' council and assembly in response to Finland's appeal was seen tonight by the newspaper Fremdenblatt of Hamburg as an attempt to put Germany "on the carpet" before a world forum.

Finland's appeal was directed against Russia for her invasion, but Britain and France would not have accepted it, the newspaper said, unless they wished to try to place Germany "on the spot."

Fears Germany Will Be Blamed.

"At this propaganda forum all energies will undoubtedly be bent upon making it appear that tremendous changes in eastern Europe, and now in Finland, are the direct and exclusive result of Germany's foreign policy in recent months," the paper stated.

It said Germany had expressed herself as "favoring a compromise between Russia's objectively justified demand for strategic security of her second capital of Leningrad and Finland's demand for safeguarding her independence, a demand which has been proved possible of fulfillment."

Asks League to Expel Russia.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 4 (AP).—Backed by other South American countries, Argentina today demanded immediate expulsion of Russia from the league of nations as an aggressor against Finland.

Before this action Britain and France were reported vacillating over the wisdom of backing Finland's protest to the league against the soviet invasion. They were said to fear it might throw the soviets into the arms of Germany.

The Argentina demand received widespread approval among the delegations at Geneva. Observers said it was expected to clarify quickly whether the empires would wink at soviet actions. Geneva sources also agreed that Russia probably will resign from the league before the league council, which will meet on Saturday, and the general assembly, which will gather Monday, have a chance to act on Finland's appeal.

Appeal Unfounded, Say Soviets.

[Russia informed the league of nations yesterday that she regarded Finland's appeal to that body unfounded; that she was maintaining peaceful relations with the "people's" government of Finland, and that she would not attend the league sessions.]

Argentina based its demand for Russia's ouster on article 16 of the league covenant, which states that "a member of the league which has violated the covenant may be declared no longer a member by vote of the council."

Argentina's demand was sent by its foreign minister, Jose Maria Cantilo. A similar note was sent by Uruguay and other South American members of the league were said to be preparing to act. The other South American members are Bolivia, Colombia, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Haiti, Mexico, Panama, and Peru.

CHAMPION SHOTS MAN FINLAND'S AIR RAID GUNS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 4 (AP).—Finland's crack clay pigeon shooters manned antiaircraft posts today as part of elaborate preparations against Russian air raids. Among such marksmen are the champion trapshooter Conny Huber and former champion Dr. Forselles.

Helsingfors, hidden from airmen by wet snow and low clouds, was like a ghost town when evening fell today on the fifth day of the Russian invasion. Several districts, considered the most dangerous during raids, were closed. Elsewhere a few stragglers were seen hurrying with their baggage toward suburbs. Otherwise only soldiers or civil air defense guards remained.

Most shops closed last Saturday. Stockmann's large department store, patronized by members of the Moscow foreign colony as a source of merchandise not obtainable in Russia, boarded up its big show windows and closed today. The guest list of the Hotel Torni dwindled to four as firehoses were unrolled on all floors and it was converted into a first aid station.

U. S. CHALLENGED BY VANDENBERG ON RED COMPACT

Demands Roosevelt Seek Out Its Violations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—Denouncing the "brutal rape of Finland following the partition of Poland," Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today urged an investigation by President Roosevelt to determine whether the pledges on which American recognition of the soviet government of Russia was extended in 1933 have been violated and whether such recognition should be withdrawn.

"The recall of the American ambassador to Russia would reflect our deep moral indignation," said the senator. "But there is something else in this connection which vitally involves our own domestic security. Since the assault upon Finland puts the world upon final notice that soviet policy is as treacherous as it is ruthless, we should realistically reexamine the integrity of those Russian promises to us in the Roosevelt-Litvinov compact of Nov. 16, 1933, upon which our entire diplomatic relationship with Russia relies. It is folly longer to take good faith for granted where it is so often demonstrated that none exists.

Recalls Pact's Provisions.

"President Roosevelt recognized Russia on the basis of the contract he made with Comrade Litvinov. Russia agreed to quit any relations, directly or indirectly, with any American organization that is 'liable in any way whatsoever to injure the tranquility, prosperity, order, or security of the whole or any part of the United States,' or which seeks to bring about 'by force any change in the political or official order' here. In other words, Russia agreed to wall us off from her 'world revolution.'

"In my opinion, this contract is no longer worth the paper it is written on and has not been at least since 1936, when Rear Admiral J. K. Taussig said to the house appropriations committee: 'Members of the third internationale are very active in the United States in furtherance of their plan for world revolution, which includes the overthrow of the present form of government.'

Charges Reds Are Active.

"In my opinion, communists in America have done and are doing all the things we sought to protect ourselves against in the Roosevelt-Litvinov compact. It appears from competent evidence that they act directly or indirectly under Moscow's orders or under Moscow's leadership. If this be true—and it is the duty of our government to determine the facts—we should not only recall our ambassador; we should recall our recognition and revert to the status preceding 1933."

Meanwhile, any move on the part of the administration to sever diplomatic relations with soviet Russia appeared to have been definitely discarded, at least for the time being.

Mass Execution of 300 Prominent Poles Reported

PARIS, Dec. 4 [Special].—The mass execution of prominent Poles in Gotenhafen [Gdynia] was announced today by the Polish information ministry. Out of 350 hostages detained immediately after Gotenhafen's occupation about 50 have survived, it was said. The rest were reported executed, including the port manager, Legowski, and judges, bankers, and lawyers.

Gets Reno Divorce

Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler Jr. after winning divorce.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 4 [Special].—Marguerite Sykes Chrysler of New York obtained a divorce here today from Walter P. Chrysler Jr., son of the automobile manufacturer, on grounds of cruelty. The hearing was conducted in chambers and none of the testimony was made public. Mrs. Chrysler's counsel said a property settlement had been made by agreement and that Mrs. Chrysler would assume her maiden name. The Chryslers were married April 29, 1938, and separated last Oct. 18.

SWEDES STUDY FORMATION OF WIDER CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 4.—Reliable sources today reported that reconstruction of the Swedish government has been discussed for several days. These sources said a national coalition régime, embracing all parties except the communists, may be formed. Evening newspapers today hinted that Foreign Minister Rickard J. Sandler, who has been bitterly attacked by the German press, may be replaced.

Stockholm, meantime, continued to send volunteers to fight with the Finnish army. Up to Sunday, 1,300 persons had left for Finland, most of them paying their own way and outfitting themselves. Enlistment bureaus have been opened in many other towns.

FRENCH REPORT 'LOCAL ACTIVITY' ON WEST FRONT

PARIS, Dec. 4 (AP).—The French general staff tonight issued the following communique on today's activity on the western front: "Local activity of the units in contact. Some reciprocal artillery action."

There was "nothing of importance to report" last night, said the morning communique.

[The German high command's communique yesterday also reported limited activity on the western front.]

BRITISH RECEIVE FIRST TASTE OF FOOD RATIONING

Trial Cuts Butter Issue to Four Ounces a Week.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 4.—When Mrs. John Bull went to market today she got her first taste of what rationing means and found that she could get only four ounces of butter for each member of her family. It cost her one shilling seven pence, [30⅛ cents] a pound, and must last for a week.

The rationing is described as a trial and is unofficial. The official rationing for butter, bacon and sugar is scheduled not to begin until Jan. 8 so as not to create a dark brown taste in the mouths of Britons before the Christmas holidays. But it is certain that Mrs. John Bull henceforth will not get more than the unofficial four ounces. Some housewives began laying in supplies last week.

Held Aid to Distribution.

The restriction on butter sales, food ministry officials say, is part of a general leveling down process to facilitate distribution. The ministry contends the amount of butter released for sales has not been cut since a 50 to 60 per cent reduction was imposed on wholesalers' normal supplies at the beginning of the war.

The fluctuation of evacuees between danger and safety areas has thrown the distribution machine out of gear. Some districts have had enough butter to supply their needs and others have gone short. The unofficial rationing is aimed to adjust these differences. Allocations to trade henceforth will be restricted on the four-ounces-a-person basis and storekeepers will have to measure out their supplies to their customers.

Bacon to Be Restricted.

Housewives will face further trials when the bacon rationing begins next month. Only three cuts will be available, it is announced—the fore end, the middle, and the gammon [bottom of a side of bacon]. With the ration of only four ounces, all bacon sold will be sliced. Boiling joints, back rashers [thin slices from upper portion] and streaks [alternating in streaks of fat and lean meat] will disappear from the market, but it is indicated the customers may get knuckles without surrendering their precious ration coupons. The middle of a side of bacon will be sold as rashers without restrictions.

The question of price control still is undecided but storekeepers fear that in any case the scheme will create dissatisfied consumers.

As a concession to the Christmas demand, the government has sanctioned the importation of certain luxury foods from France and Tunis without licenses. These include dates, crystallized fruits, and Metz fruits.

Traders See Ruin Ahead.

Since the war started more than 1,000 changes have been recorded in the prices of groceries alone in this country due to the government's price control operations. Grocers' associations thruout the country are protesting against the narrow margins of profit allowed on controled commodities. They say their gross profit on sugar is less than 10 per cent, on margarine and cooking fats, 16 per cent, and on butter, 14 per cent. The traders complain that, with the burden of wartime costs, these meager profits mean ruin.

The British government is seeing to its stock of basic commodities and has taken more than 10,000,000 bushels of Australian wheat at a price about one shilling [about 19½ cents] a bushel higher than the prewar figure. Another 5,000,000 bushels will be ordered before the end of the year. The government also has contracted to buy a big portion of Australia's growing crops and all of the exportable surplus of Australian meat and butter.

GERMANS TO GET VITAMIN A FROM BRAMBLE BUSHES

Science Finds Way to Meet Nation's Demand.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 4. — Scientists are working feverishly in an attempt to balance Germany's diet and food resources.

When food restrictions first were applied, doctors and dieticians were alarmed by the lack of vitamins in diets. Germany's diet specialists have now established that they can provide the population with all of vitamin A it needs.

Berry Bushes Yield It.

It will be extracted from the shoots of raspberry bushes, bramble berry [blackberry] bushes, and rose berries, which thousands of youths now are collecting in gardens and forests.

[Vitamin A protects the body against a number of bacterial infections, stimulates growth, and is essential to well-being at all ages.]

But experts remain worried about the lack of fat, which they feel is undermining the health of the masses. Hard working men and growing children complain that tho they eat their full rations, they feel something lacking. Food experts attribute this to lack of fats in the diet.

Stores Have No Olive Oil.

Olive oil and other food oils are at a premium. Diplomats, who receive especially big food allowances from the German government, are given cards allowing each to buy a quart of olive oil a month, but they can't buy it because stores have none.

REPORTS OF REDS MASSING NEARBY TROUBLE RUMANIA

Fears Attempt to Regain Bessarabian Area.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 4.—Already worried by the Russian invasion of Finland, the Rumanians got a new shock today when reports circulated in diplomatic circles that soviet troops were gathering near the Rumanian frontier and that Russia is almost ready to seize Bessarabia from Rumania. Official reports, however, denied the concentrations.

Bessarabia, which Rumania acquired from Russia after the world war, is vulnerable because it is not only bordered—and coveted—by a major power, but also because the Rumanians had come to the idea it was not likely to be molested for some time.

Today's reports came, it was understood, from British sources and must be taken with a grain of salt. It would serve British and French interests now to convince the world that Russia is preparing for a new aggression in this region as well as in Finland.

See Delay as Best Defense.

Rumanians mention that this is a bad time to move an army into Bessarabia because its muddy roads are not yet frozen. But what nobody doubts is that Rumania's only immediate question is to delay such a move, either by armed or diplomatic maneuvering.

Some observers here have a theory that the chief menace still is from Germany. Their argument is that Russia needs her only good shock troops for Finland and that Germany could make a big drive to the southeast without anybody interferring.

It is asserted here that, with the blockade's temporary cut-off in Germany's supplies, there is the consideration, first, that Germany supposedly has a one year's supply and no more room to store more for the present, and, second, that if she could once install herself in this part of Europe she could probably get a vastly greater stream of supplies at much less cost.

Germans Renew Pressure.

The Germans already have renewed pressure on Rumania to find means to give them better terms on supplies, either by devaluation of the lei — the Rumanian monetary unit — which the Rumanians refused to do, or by other means.

After Rumania's last refusal to accept German marks at a better rate against the lei, the Germans' immediate reaction was a heavy increase in the prices of many German products sold here.

The greatest fear, however, is a move against Rumania by the Russians when their Finnish conquest is completed.

Rumanians think the Turks would back them, and the British and French would give such aid as they could.

CHILEANS RUN EX-PRESIDENT OUT OF TOWN

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile, Dec. 4 (AP).—Sixty leftist opponents of former President Arturo Alessandri chased him out of this seaport today and injured his son, Fernando, 42 years old, when the Alessandris called here after a tour of Europe and the United States.

En route to Santiago, the Alessandris stopped at the Air club. Adherents of the Vanguardia Popular Socialista, formerly known as the Nacistas, besieged the building. The former president, a member of the rightist-inclined liberal party, fled with his son, while the crowd broke the club's furniture. The Vanguardistas intercepted the Alessandris at the dock, where Fernando's head was cut.

The Alessandris escaped to the liner. Three police were hurt in dispersing the mob.

HORSE RUNS 2D, BUT DOES RALPH WIN? NAY, NAY!

Ralph C. Deitrich told Desk Sergeant Steve Naughton at the Central station last night that he didn't believe in squawking, but maybe his story would save the money of other Chicago horse players.

Deitrich said he was in a handbook on North Wabash avenue yesterday. Two touts gave him the horse Nay Nay, in the second race at Charles Town, W. Va. Deitrich bet $10 to win and $20 to place, and agreed to split his winnings with the touts.

Tout No. 2 retained the $20 place ticket. Nay Nay ran second and paid $4, so Deitrich had $40 coming. But Tout No. 2 had disappeared. "Let's go look for him, pal," said Tout No. 1. They went out. Tout No. 1 managed to get away from Deitrich in the crowd while No. 2 returned and cashed the ticket. Deitrich lives at 858 East 80th street.

N.Y. HIGH SCHOOL GIRL, ENGINEER ARRESTED HERE

A romance that began in a girls' commercial school in Brooklyn, N. Y., ended in Chicago last night when Summerdale police seized the assistant engineer of the school and a girl student, 16 years old, in a kitchenette apartment at 5116 Sheridan road. He is William Mangan, 27 years old, married and the father of a small daughter.

They arrived in Chicago by bus on Friday. Two days ago he wired a New York friend for money. New York police intercepted the message and learned where he and the girl were staying.

Mangan said he had met the girl two months ago. They fell in love, he said. He had been having trouble at home, and so he and the girl came to Chicago his hope, he said, being "to start life all over again." The girl told police she accompanied Mangan to Chicago because she loved him. Mangan is being held for federal authorities. The girl was turned over to juvenile officials.

JAPANESE CHARGE AMERICA BALKS GOOD RELATIONS

Assert Fleet in Pacific Stands as Threat.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Dec. 5, Tuesday.—Summoning American Ambassador Joseph Clark Grew to a conference yesterday evening, Foreign Minister Admiral Nomura told him that it will be impossible for the Japanese government to proceed with adjustment of Japanese-American relations while under alleged threats against Japan.

These threats were seen by Nomura in the concentration of the American fleet in the Pacific and suggestions of bringing economic pressure against Japan thru an embargo of exports, Domei, the officials Japanese news agency, said.

Doors to China Closed.

Grew is understood to have replied that the United States has evidence that Japan has enforced a closed economy on a large part of China. It was further declared that if Japan can provide concrete evidence to show that the American misgivings are unfounded then the key to the situation will have been found.

Grew is understood to have admitted that there has been an improvement in the atmosphere toward the United States but to have asserted that altho the Japanese military is now taking precautions not to harm American rights and interests, there has not been any positive gesture, such as the opening of the Yangtze river, which the Japanese have kept closed to foreign commerce.

Says Bombings Unavoidable.

Domei summed up Nomura's declarations as follows:

FIRST—It is a mistake to say that the objective of the Japanese military and political operations in China is to drive out the interests of American and European nations.

SECOND—The cases of bombings which resulted in damage to American interests were of an unavoidable nature because hostilities were in progress; inconvenience to neutral trade cannot be helped because of the large scale military operations, and the first condition in settling the 600 pending cases must be American recognition that hostilities are in progress.

THIRD—It is impossibe for the Japanese government to proceed with adjustment of American and Japanese relations under threats and pressure.

Tells of Night Life

(Story in adjoining column.)

Miss Elizabeth Detweiler, witness for state in trial of office manager charged with embezzlement of $14,000. She told jury how the $40 a week manager, for whom she worked as secretary, went to night clubs and roadhouses night after night.

NORWAY INVITES SWEDEN, DENMARK TO CONFERENCE

OSLO, Dec. 5, Tuesday (AP).—Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht today invited Foreign Ministers Richard Sandler of Sweden and Peter Munch of Denmark to a conference here next Thursday to seek means of bringing peace between soviet Russia and Finland.

In convoking the diplomats for talks which may prove a turning point in north country affairs, Koht said:

"The Scandinavian governments are gravely concerned over the war into which the Finnish people have been thrown and, both because of ourselves and because of Finland, they wish that peace may be reëstablished as soon as possible.

"The Scandinavian countries therefore must discuss all means to get peace negotiations. They assume that this also is the base of Finland's appeal to the league of nations."

GIRL DESCRIBES WHIRL WITH BOSS AT THEFT TRIAL

Secretary Tells of Night Club Parties.

The handsome office manager and his pretty blonde secretary went stepping after office hours. They took in the night clubs and the roadhouses night after night.

Raymond Hartman.

His salary was $40 a week, but he maintained expensive quarters in a loop hotel. His taxi bills ran into three figures. He bought costly corsages for the secretary. He proposed marriage to her—altho he has a wife and a daughter.

This tale of high life with her employer was told yesterday by the secretary to a jury of six women and six men in the Criminal court of Judge William J. Lindsay. The secretary, who is in her early 20s, is Miss Elizabeth Detweiler of 1508 Sherman avenue, Evanston.

Appears as Surprise Witness.

She appeared as a surprise witness for the state in the trial of Raymond C. Hartman, former office manager in the Chicago plant of Lever Brothers, soap manufacturers. Hartman is charged with embezzling $14,000 in 13 months by juggling his accounts.

Miss Detweiler said she started working in the office as a clerk and became a sort of roving secretary in the summer of 1938. She said that at Christmas time that year Hartman's secretary was away and she filled in as a substitute, soon becoming his regular secretary.

"He started to rush me right away," Miss Detweiler testified. "He told me he was single. I went out with him about three nights a week.

Tells of Visits to Clubs.

"We went to the Club Cherie, Harry's New Yorker, Colosimo's, Allegretti's, Gibby's, and many other clubs. There often were others with us, but Mr. Hartman always footed the bill. Last Christmas he gave me a jade necklace and bracelet. There always were lovely flowers for me, too."

Hartman weighs 220 pounds, is six feet two inches tall, and has wavy chestnut colored hair. He is 34 years old. He maintains a home for his wife, Irene, and their daughter, 10, in Crete, Ill.

Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown said Mrs. Hartman saw her husband only on week-ends.

"Did you think Mr. Hartman was a sugar daddy?" Joseph Nagle, defense counsel, asked Miss Detweiler.

"O, no!" she answered, tossing her curls. "Mr. Hartman always talked marriage to me."

CYCLONIC WINDS WHIP PHILIPPINES; LEAVE HUNDREDS HOMELESS

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 4 (AP).—The Central Philippine Islands were whipped by cyclonic winds tonight but a typhoon which had been moving slowly toward Manila apparently had halted.

Large sections were cut off from all communications. Two men were killed in Masbate province. Hundreds are homeless and heavy crop damage was inflicted by the typhoon which swept in from the South Pacific Saturday.

The Manila observatory said it was unlikely the storm would move toward Manila during the night.

MOTORISTS OPEN FIGHT ON TOLLS BETWEEN STATES

Demand Slash in 50c Fee to Cross Boundary.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—More than 40,000 indignant motorists along the New York-New Jersey boundary have been mobilized for a fight on the high cost of traveling between the states.

This army has started action against the burocratic Port of New York Authority, a 250 million dollar public corporation operating six interstate bridges and tunnels. An organization called the Holland Tunnel Toll Reduction association is rallying the army to force the Port authority to cut the 50 cent toll charges on the bi-state crossings.

Millions in Profits.

A survey today revealed the following facts:

1. Two of the crossings are big revenue producers and carry the other four which are financial flops. The successful ventures are the Holland tunnel, which bores under the Hudson river from the lower end of Manhattan Island, to the Jersey shore, and the George Washington bridge, spanning the Hudson river from the upper end of Manhattan. Last year the tunnel chalked up a profit of $3,467,881 from the half dollars extracted from motorists' pockets, while the bridge cleared $1,960,908. These combined profits total $5,428,789.

2. The four crossings which are failures include three Staten Island bridges and the Lincoln tunnel. Together the three Staten Island spans—the Outer, Goethals, and Bayonne bridges—lost $446,850 last year. Lincoln tunnel, connecting mid-Manhattan with Jersey, lost $953,857. These losses amount to $1,400,707, leaving the authority a net profit of $4,028,082.

3. The Port authority pays the general manager, John E. Ramsey, $30,000 a year. Thirteen others draw salaries of $10,000 to $25,000. Approximately 1,200 persons are on the authority pay roll.

4. The autoists claim the pay roll could be slashed materially and toll charges lowered to 35 cents. If this came about, they assert, the volume of users would show a huge increase and unsuccessful ventures would soon pay their way. It was pointed out that the Lincoln tunnel, which cost 85 million dollars and was financed in large measure with federal easy money, has one of its two under river bores sealed up due to lack of traffic.

5. Ferry boats continue to carry undiminished loads of cars across the river at lower charges. The port authority takes credit for forcing down the ferry charges, but at the same time contends a lowering of bridge and tunnel tolls would be followed by a proportionate reduction by the ferries. Thus the port authority's revenue would be cut and the volume not increased, according to this argument.

Fair Visitors Gouged.

Agitation for lowering tolls became acute in 1938. One argument advanced against the step was that the authority wanted to take advantage of the increased revenue shelled out by western visitors to the New York World's fair.

Rudolph Reimer, district commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, a coal dealer and one of the port authority commissioners, was one who insisted the reduction was unwarranted.

"I appeal to the good sense and business judgment of the people of New Jersey to cease their irritating agitation for a reduction," said Reimer. "No good will come of it. The strong financial position in which the port authority will find itself will enable it to give better service and increase its facilities."

On the other hand a mounting number of prominent persons have declared themselves in favor of reducing the tolls if a feasible plan can be carried into effect. In this group are Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City and the former Republican governor, Harold G. Hoffman.

DIRKSEN FEARS NEW TAXES AND A BIGGER DEBT

BY PARKE BROWN.

Congressman Everett M. Dirksen predicted yesterday that new taxes will be created by the session of congress which starts in less than a month.

In a statement issued in Chicago while he was en route to the capital the Republican representative of the 16th Illinois district declared his certainty that the session wil'l do little to relieve the national situation, which he described as desperate. He forecast an increase in the total public debt and a huge deficit for the seventh consecutive year as well as frantic efforts to bring in new revenue.

"Recently," he said, "the chairman of the ways and means committee of the house [Robert L. Daughton of North Carolina] announced that there will be no new taxes. This makes the seventh consecutive year that this statement has been made only to be followed by a new tax bill.

"This annual announcement is a soft of annual fiscal joke, but the tax bill which follows is entirely devoid of humorous aspects."

Since Dirksen is considered the right hand of Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, Republican house leader, his statement was taken as a hint of the kind of battle the minority may make during the session.

Debt Near Legal Limit.

The congressman laid the foundation for his discussion with a summary of the basic facts of the situation—that the public debt next June will be close to 45 billion dollars, the maximum established in the second Liberty loan act of 1917, that annual spending has jumped from 7 billion in 1934 to 11.5 billion for the current fiscal year, and that financial experts now forecast an increase in the public debt to almost 50 billions by June 30, 1941.

He said that in addition to this debt 5¼ billion dollars' worth of bonds of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, the Federal Housing administration, the Commodity Credit corporation, and similar units are outstanding. He said the annual interest load of the taxpayers now is $1,050,000,000, an amount greater than the whole cost of government 25 years ago.

"There's something wrong with that picture," Dirksen continued. "Out of every dollar of revenue collected in 1940, 20 cents goes to interest. No private enterprise could ever carry that load and stay in business."

Fears Effect on Business.

He predicted a depressing effect on business if the debt limit is raised from 45 to 50 billion dollar.

"Th net result," he said, "will be increased alarm and a damper on business. That's why this debt business is so serious."

Dirksen made light of predictions of national economy.

"Stories are coming out of Washington that there will be sharp cuts in the budget this year. If we pruned the pay roll of 100,000 persons it would mean a saving of about 150 million dollars a year or about 2.5 per cent of the deficit for this year, to say nothing about its relation to the total expenditure for all purposes.

"More than 70 per cent of the whole budget probably will be contained in five items—interest on public debt, farm benefits, national defense, work relief, and veterans' benefits. There has been no hint from Washington that these will be cut.

Plain and Fancy Paring.

"The Washington talk of sharp cuts in the budget, therefore, will probably take the form of some plain and fancy cheese paring which will produce actual economies just a little bit more than nothing.

"As for taxes, the real administration headache today is in finding new things to tax. If present tax rates are raised it will only serve to restrict business and decrease rather than increase the net revenue. If new taxes are imposed they come back to the consumer and can only mean less money spent on commodities, and hence less business.

"No matter from what angle you consider the present fiscal problem, it looks like a stalemate. And this is especially so since it comes in an election year when a policy of political appeasement will be the rule."

N. Y. MILK PRICE WAR CUTS STORE COST TO 5 CENTS

New York, Dec. 4 [Special].—The retail price of cash and carry grade B milk dropped to five cents a quart today despite predictions from the department of markets that the milk price war would end today.

The new low was reached after two weeks of price cutting, during which the figure was hammered down from the established store price of 11 cents a quart. Milk was available at five, six, seven and eight cents in various stores in the tenement district, with grocers taking a loss to hold their customers.

In Utica Archie Wright, chairman of the dairy farmers' union, wired Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Holton V. Noyes, state agriculture commissioner, demanding an immediate investigation to fix responsibility for the price war. Housewives whose milk is delivered are not affected by the war. They are still paying 15 cents for grade B and 18 cents for grade A—the highest prices since 1931.

More Dentists Needed in Army Dental Corps

The dental corps of the regular army needs more dentists, according to an article by Brig. Gen. Leigh C. Fairbanks in the December issue of the Journal of the American Dental association. Dentists accepted for service must be citizens between the ages of 23 and 32 years and graduates of accepted dental schools. They must also hold commissions in the dental reserve corps and have practiced their profession at least two years.

T W A – SHORTEST, FASTEST COAST TO COAST

THIS WINTER—as usual—TWA's conservative operating policy is to fly you when and where the weather is good. In the past, this has resulted in a high score of completed schedules. For it is a recognized fact that TWA's route—expertly chosen by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in 1927—is unsurpassed for winter sunshine—nature-made for year-round flying.

However, no airline is entirely free from temporary weather interruptions. So this winter, with government approval, TWA offers you "Selected Route Flying." This means flight supervisors have a choice of several operating routes east and west . . . routes that may be used as "weather detours."

U. S. Government weather experts will tell you that all weather is caused by "pressure areas." These areas travel at a speed of about 30 miles per hour in a general west to east direction. They are always on the move, which means—fortunately—that all weather is both local and temporary.

What "Selected Route Flying" Means To You

With many routes to choose from, it's an easy matter for TWA to avoid local weather delays—to take you to your destination safely and comfortably. You simply fly around the weather rather than through it.

No one has a better first-hand knowledge of these important facts than TWA's flying management. They have piloted every mile of TWA's coast-to-coast route hundreds of times—have experienced all possible weather. SUPREME COURT ORDERS CHICAGO MILK CASE TRIAL

Upsets Lower Ruling of Trust Law Immunity.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 [Special]. —The Supreme court held today that the defendants indicted in the Chicago milk case for conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade are not exempted by more recent legislation from prosecution for violation of the Sherman antitrust act. The decision was unanimous.

The Supreme court overruled the District court and remanded the case for trial of the defendants—the Associated Milk Dealers, Chicago distributors; the Pure Milk association, the sales and bargaining agency for more than 12,000 member dairy farmers in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan; the Milk Wagon Drivers' union and seven officers; the milk dealers' bottle exchange; 10 corporations, including the Borden company; Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, and two aides, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, an investigator of the Cook county state's attorney's office.

Judge Woodward Reversed.

Judge Charles E. Woodward of the District court had dismissed the indictments on the ground that milk and other agricultural commodities were removed from the purview of the Sherman antitrust act by the agricultural marketing act. Judge Woodward ruled that the secretary of agriculture was adequately empowered to regulate or prevent the offenses alleged by the government—a conspiracy to fix both the prices paid producers and the sale price in Chicago and to control the distribution and supply of milk in Chicago.

"Our conclusion," said the Supreme court in the opinion delivered by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, "is that the agricultural adjustment act, as reënacted and amended by the agricultural marketing agreement act, affords no grounds for construing the Sherman act as inapplicable to the charges."

Conspiracy Counts Upheld.

The farm coöperatives claimed exemption under the Capper-Volstead act and the Clayton act which provided that coöperatives were not to be held illegal combinations. The court held, however, that this legislation does not immunize "any combination or conspiracy with other persons in restraint of trade that these producers may see fit to devise." In this case a conspiracy of the coöperative producers with outside distributors is charged.

The court did not pass on the applicability of the Sherman antitrust act to labor unions, which also are involved in this case.

"The contention of the defendants who are labor officials that the Sherman act does not apply to labor unions or labor union activities is not open on this appeal," the court said. "The District court did not construe the Sherman act as inapplicable to these defendants and the government's appeal under the restriction of the criminal appeals act does not present that question."

No Clew to Building Cases.

Counsel for the American Federation of Labor had raised the question of applicability of the antitrust act to labor unions in the arguments before the court. A ruling on this particular point had been awaited as offering a possible indication of the court's attitude in the building industry probe where antitrust indictments have been returned against several labor union officials.

Marketing agreements made by the secretary of agriculture under the terms of the agricultural marketing act operate to confer immunity from prosecution for violation of the antitrust laws, but in the absence of such agreements, as in the pending case, no exemption is acquired, the court held.

Chief Justice Hughes said the Sherman act "is a broad enactment prohibiting unreasonable restraints upon interstate commerce, and monopolization or attempts to monopolize, with penal sanctions."

"The agricultural [marketing agreement] act," he continued, "is a limited statute with specific reference to particular transactions which may be regulated by official action in a prescribed manner.

Analyzes Marketing Act.

"The agricultural act declares it to be the policy of congress thru the exercise of the powers conferred upon the secretary of agriculture under this chapter, to establish and maintain such orderly marketing conditions for agricultural commodities in interstate commerce as will establish prices to farmers at a level that will give agricultural commodities a purchasing power with respect to articles that farmers buy, equivalent to the purchasing power of agricultural communities in the 'base period described.

"To carry out that policy a particular plan is set forth.

"Farmers and others are not permitted to resort to their own devices and to make any agreements or arrangements they desire, regardless of the restraints which may be inflicted upon commerce. The statutory program to be followed under the agricultural act requires the participation of the secretary of agriculture who is to hold hearings and make findings.

Provides Reasonable Arrangements.

"The obvious intention is to provide for what may be found to be reasonable arrangements in particular instances and in the light of the circumstances disclosed.

"The methods which the agricultural act permits to attain that result are twofold, marketing agreements and orders. To give validity to marketing agreements the secretary must be an actual party to the agreements. The orders are also to be made by the secretary for the purpose of regulating the handling of the agricultural commodity to which the particular order relates.

"That the field covered by the agricultural act is not coterminus with that covered by the Sherman act is manifest from the fact that the former is thus delimited by the prescribed action participated in and directed by an officer of government proceedings under the authority specifically conferred by congress.

"As to agreements and arrangements not thus agreed upon or directed by the secretary, the agricultural act in no way impinges upon the prohibitions and penalties of the Sherman act, and its condemnation of private action in entering into combinations and conspiracies which impose the prohibited restraint upon interstate commerce remains untouched."

LAWRENCE JACOBSON IS NEW WPA DIRECTOR FOR CHICAGO DISTRICT

L. H. Jacobson.

Lawrence H. Jacobson, WPA deputy state administrator, yesterday was appointed acting WPA director of the Chicago district to succeed H. K. Seltzer, who died on Nov. 26.

Charles E. Miner, state director, who made the appointment, said that no changes in the organization or program of the Chicago district, which includes Cook county, were contemplated. Jacobson, who is 39 years old and lives at 1116 Maple avenue, Evanston, was a consulting engineer in Minneapolis until 1934, when he became district engineer of the Civil Works administration. He was appointed to the Works Progress administration in 1935, and became deputy state administrator in 1937, a position which he will continue to hold. His salary is $6,800.

Miner also announced the appointment of H. M. Cullen, 68, former mayor of Glenview and former director of the district including Kane, Du Page, and Will counties, to the state office. Cullen will direct the WPA's program for low cost housing.

BEGIN COURT HEARING TO TEST MICHIGAN'S MILK MARKETING ACT

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 4 [Special.]—Trial of the charges filed by the Michigan milk marketing board against George A. Johnson and the Johnson Milk company was begun before Judge Robert M. Toms in Wayne County Circuit court today.

The suit is expected to test the constitutionality of the state milk marketing act passed by the 1939 legislature. This law gives the state the power to establish milk marketing areas and to fix wholesale and retail prices of milk.

The state board has set up a marketing area for Detroit and ordered all dealers to pay prices established by the board. One price has been set for so-called base milk, for sale in fluid form, and a lower but fluctuating price for surplus milk.

The Johnson company sells all of its milk thru cash and carry depots at prices as low as 7 cents per quart. The board has fixed a minimum price of 11 cents for delivered milk and 9 cents for standard milk similar in quality to Johnson's 7 cent grade. The board wants a court order forcing Johnson to comply with its orders or cease doing business.

JUDGE CRITICIZED BY ICKES CALLS FOR A SHOWDOWN

Willing to Let Secretary Retract His Charges.

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 4 [Special].—Federal District Judge James C. Wilson, whose conduct of a hot oil trial at Houston was criticized by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, today demanded either a retraction of the charges and an apology by Ickes or a showdown before President Roosevelt or congress.

In a statement marked by judicial calm the judge said he was willing to excuse Ickes on the ground of ignorance because he felt the interior secretary would not make a deliberate misstatement.

Ickes criticized Judge Wilson last Thursday for ending the trial by fining Renne Allred Jr. and Neal Powers $1,000 each on three misdemeanor counts and acquitting them on seven other counts. Ickes charged Judge Wilson stopped the trial without permitting the government to present the evidence it had assembled.

Calls It Grave Charge.

In his statement Judge Wilson noted Ickes' charge that the jurist called in attorneys for the government and the defense and told them he wanted to stop government testimony and end the case because the evidence might reflect upon one of his colleagues on the bench and that he took this action arbitrarily when government attorneys were demanding that they be permitted to go on with the trial.

This, said Judge Wilson, is a grave charge, and "if I did that something should be done about it more than mere talk." It is not a matter, said the judge, that can simply be dropped.

"Since Mr. Ickes is an appointee of the President, and since such conduct on the federal bench would come under the jurisdiction of congress," said Judge Wilson, "if this matter is not righted, out of my own self-respect and my respect for the federal judiciary, I am going to be compelled to insist on a showdown, either before the President or before congress.

"Mr. Ickes has a misunderstanding, and is in error about practically all the matters he deals with in his statement; certainly as to all the serious charges he makes.

Points to Court Record.

"However, I have no criticism to make of him because I feel he would not make a willful misstatement about it. It is evident he has not talked to any one who was in any of the three of four conferences I had with leading counsel for the government and defendants about the settlement of the case, and, I may add, such consultations were not initiated by me.

"Much of what Mr. Ickes says is refuted by my statement made in open court and taken down by the court reporter. I am sure when he learns the facts he will make a correction statement and apologize for the very great injustice done me."

The defendant Allred is a brother of Federal Judge James V. Allred, former governor of Texas, who was put on the federal bench for the southern district by President Roosevelt in a platform speech from the rear of his train when he was touring the country in June, 1938, in an attempt to purge the senate of members who did not support him.

TVA Dams to Cut Cairo's Flood Peaks, Says Morgan

Gilbertsville, Ky., Dec. 4 (AP).—The Tennessee Valley authority's $112,000,000 dam under construction here was described today by TVA Chairman Harcourt A. Morgan as "an indispensable link in harnessing the power as well as bridling the force of the Mississippi system." When the chain of dams along the Tennessee river is completed, Dr. Morgan told a huge throng celebrating progress so far on the vast Gilbertsville project, "practically the entire discharge of the Tennessee can be held back for several days," reducing flood peaks at Cairo by at least two feet.

Points to Court Record.

"However, I have no criticism to make of him because I feel he would not make a willful misstatement about it. It is evident he has not talked to any one who was in any of the three of four conferences I had with leading counsel for the government and defendants about the settlement of the case, and, I may add, such consultations were not initiated by me.

"Much of what Mr. Ickes says is refuted by my statement made in open court and taken down by the court reporter. I am sure when he learns the facts he will make a correction statement and apologize for the very great injustice done me."

The defendant Allred is a brother of Federal Judge James V. Allred, former governor of Texas, who was put on the federal bench for the southern district by President Roosevelt in a platform speech from the rear of his train when he was touring the country in June, 1938, in an attempt to purge the senate of members who did not support him.

TVA Dams to Cut Cairo's Flood Peaks, Says Morgan

Gilbertsville, Ky., Dec. 4 (AP).—The Tennessee Valley authority's $112,000,000 dam under construction here was described today by TVA Chairman Harcourt A. Morgan as "an indispensable link in harnessing the power as well as bridling the force of the Mississippi system." When the chain of dams along the Tennessee river is completed, Dr. Morgan told a huge throng celebrating progress so far on the vast Gilbertsville project, "practically the entire discharge of the Tennessee can be held back for several days," reducing flood peaks at Cairo by at least two feet.

16 Seized as Parisian Police Strike at Outlawed Reds

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Police today announced a series of week-end raids aimed at remnants of the communist youth movement. Georges Pierre, a leader of the dissolved league, has been arrested, together with his wife and 14 other militants. Copies of a multigraphed communist tract and printing equipment were seized.

A FOREST IN FAIRYLAND

By CALEB

ONE doubts if even Shakespeare's art could state such loveliness. Seeing has no substitutes. When it comes to describing how you feel on visiting the "Store of the Christmas Spirit," these days, as one sightseer expressed it, "You breathe in exclamation points."

Someone else among our customers exclaimed that it was "like a forest in Fairyland"; and in so saying, caught precisely the effect that was in our Display Studio director's mind when, a good ten months ago, the Field Christmas theme for 1939 was already under consideration. How that theme developed, however, is an interesting showmanship story the public rarely learns; so, for today's comment we went in search of it.

The basic handling for both State and Wabash store divisions was agreed upon last February. Our studio staff's next step was to embody the various ideas in crayon sketches on paper; the scale adopted being usually one inch to the foot. This decorative group, incidentally, comprises some fifty display experts, as well as ten artists and sculptors who have a lifetime familiarity with commercial decoration.

From the approved sketches, detailed models were then built—figures being moulded in clay, and reproduced in plastic materials, so that the "three-dimensional" appearance of the finished displays might be accurately appraised. Following approval, the actual work of building and assembly began—and into that task went months of moulding, painting, cabinetwork, mechanical engineering, lighting, and finishing. Stagecraft as elaborate as the setting and mounting of a play is, in a word, the technique employed throughout.

At long last, Holidays signaled from the calendar—and the studio's answer was ready! Entering at State on Washington or Randolph, you behold the result in glimmering aisles of a fairyland forest, scintillating with the mingled sheen of scarlet and emerald, punctuated by candles a-wink in the silver-and-crystalline foliage. An enchanted scene where Good Fairies are charioted by gleaming reindeer, amid rainbows of jeweled radiance that bathe the whole in a literal poetry of light. Similar transformation of the Wabash interior is expressed in a quieter, complementary key of pure white festoons and ruby-illuminated bells.

But no verbal substitutes exist for seeing! Only the eye can appreciate what our own display artists, over the hidden stretches of the past year, have creatively evolved—both for the enjoyment of Christmastide shoppers, and the aesthetic delight of all who are Christmastide's lovers.

BUDGET MAKERS DECIDE AGAINST CITY PAY RAISES

Election Board and Court Figures Attacked.

The city council finance committee decided yesterday that no pay raises for groups of workers or individuals will be allowed in 1940. The action was taken at the committee's first session to discuss the 1940 budget.

Besides establishing the policy to govern pay raise requests, the committee decided department heads must itemize requests for lump sum appropriations. It also attacked the budgets of the board of election commissioners and the Municipal court.

The pay raise question arose when the committee started to discuss the proposed election commissioners' budget. The election board had requested $267,460 for salaries and wages for next year, compared to $221,030 appropriated this year. This year the board spent $256,686.

Frank Flanagan, finance committee budget expert, told the aldermen several positions were maneuvered in the election board budget to provide some raises for individuals.

Vote Against Pay Increases.

"I thought the controler asked department heads not to increase salaries," Ald. James Bowler [25th] said. "We should abide by that."

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], committee chairman, said the policy should be voted upon and the committee approved it unanimously.

Ald. John J. Grealis said the committee should set the election board budget at the 1939 figure.

"You can do that, gentlemen, but it won't mean a thing," said Ald. Arvey. "The board decides its own budget and spends money in excess if it wants to."

"What would happen if we spent more than we appropriated?" Ald. Grealis asked.

"We would go to jail," Arvey replied. "But we always find money to pay the election board salaries."

The second chiding of the board came when an item of $250,000, requested for extra clerks, was discussed. Ald. George Kells [28th], said such a lump sum appropriation was bad and should be itemized. The committee decided all such requests should be itemized.

Court Budget Considered.

Next the committee considered the Municipal court budget.

"I might warn you, gentlemen," Ald. Arvey said, "you are only looking at this court budget for your own information. You have no jurisdiction."

On a motion by Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th] the committee voted to ask Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby and a committee of judges to appear before it to discuss the budget. It also requested that the election board meet with it.

At the opening of the budget session, Ald. Arvey warned the committee: "The estimate for 1940 has been prepared by City Controler Robert B. Upham. He has estimated available funds at $58,206,175. There is no more money. We must keep the budget within that amount."

DIVORCE COURT JURY TO HEAR WIFE'S TALE OF SHANGHAI ROMANCE

Mrs. Madeline Warner.

Details of a Shanghai wooing, and charges that her husband once choked her will be told to a jury before Judge Donald S. McKinlay today by Mrs. Madeline Dallas Warner, 39 years old. She is suing her husband, Mason M. Warner, president of an advertising company.

Mrs. Warner had asked the court to determine whether she is entitled to a separate maintenance decree or a divorce. Warner filed a cross bill charging that his wife deserted him, and yesterday demanded a jury trial.

According to Mrs. Warner's bill, they met and were married in Shanghai in 1935, while she was a teacher there. The bill says Warner is 63 years old, lives at 117 Church road, Winnetka, and is the father of a family of four by his first wife, who died in 1932.

Mrs. Warner said they separated in April, 1937, after the alleged choking incident. She is seeking to set aside a post-nuptial agreement by which Warner was to give her $20,000 upon his death. She charges Warner told her he was worth $60,000 whereas the figure should be $500,000.

AIR TRANSPORT FLYERS BEGIN 4 DAY MEETING

Some 70 representatives of the 1,400 pilots flying for American air transport lines yesterday gathered in the Congress hotel for the opening of the annual four day air line pilots' convention. The pilots will consider proposals for retirement pensions, new arbitration arrangements for salary disputes, and new machinery proposed for consultation with employers over regulations and rules applied to pilots and air traffic.

In the gathering are pilots representing Air Line Pilots' association chapters on every domestic air line and on most of the American lines operating outside the United States.

The convention first heard Harllee Branch of the Civil Aeronautics authority, who reported that scheduled air line flying in the United States during the last year had bettered any previous safety record. Eighty million passenger miles were flown for each passenger death.

HORNER TO BLAME FOR WASTE, LUND TELLS CITY CLUB

Spend Charges Disputed by Marovitz.

Rep. Lund [upper] Senator Marovitz.

Members of the City club lunching in the Hotel Sherman yesterday invited two Democrats to debate Arnold L. Lund of Riverside, economy seeking Republican member of the state house of representatives. The two Democrats sent regrets. But a third one dropped in without invitation.

The uninvited guest was Senator Abraham L. Marovitz of Chicago. Like Lund, he is a first termer in the general assembly.

"The entire responsibility for the state's waste of more than $57,000,000 rests upon Gov. Henry Horner's," Lund said. "Had the chief executive not desired the passage of the many flagrant appropriations it would have been impossible to pass them in either house. Horner controled both houses.

"Altho the Republicans had a paper majority in the lower house, from the second day of the last session the Democrats, with the aid of a handful of G. O. P. deserters, held full sway."

Charges Pay Roll Increases.

Lund, who has proposed that the appropriations be decreased by $57,000,000 for the two year period which began July 1, said pay rolls of practically every department have been increased more than 100 per cent since 1929.

"The appropriations show there are 9,000 state pay rollers," Lund said. "I charge that there are 20,000 more pay rollers—a total of 29,000—who are hired out of the lump sum appropriations.

"The state now owns thousands of automobiles. Yet no specific appropriation to buy them ever has been passed. Where they were bought, who runs them, and other details never have been made public. Perhaps the fact that travel expenses have more than doubled in the last ten years accounts for it."

Lund said it is impossible for members of the legislature and the general public to find out how state money is to be spent.

Amazed, Says Marovitz.

Senator Marovitz, who had arrived while Lund was speaking, was pointed out by a club member. Marovitz tackled his subject without hesitation.

"There may be room for economy, but I haven't found it," Marovitz said. "I am amazed to hear Mr. Lund tell how the house conducts itself. If that were true of the senate, I wouldn't have remained there.

"Generally speaking, we have had a very efficient state administration. Lund's suggestions are impractical. It is rather silly for him to say he doesn't know where the state money is going.

"Every dollar in the appropriation bills was itemized. Not one lump sum appropriation was made. Let Mr. Lund send me a single bill which isn't itemized and I'll buy him the best hat he ever wore."

"You'll get your copies tomorrow, and perhaps you'll read them for the first time," Lund retorted.

Those who refused to debate Lund were S. L. Nudelman, state director of finance, and Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago, Democratic leader in the house.

YOUTH CONGRESS NOT RED, MRS. ROOSEVELT INSISTS TO REPORTERS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told reporters today that she had investigated the American Youth Congress long before the Dies committee had undertaken the job and had found nothing "to indicate any outside control."

Witnesses before the Dies committee have contended that the organization is dominated by communists.

"I know a great many of the young people working as officers or with the officers, as well as many young people in many other organizations who belong to the congress," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "I have read all the literature put out by the congress in the last few years and read all the resolutions passed by the congress.

"I have watched the programs of work as they were proposed and as they were carried out under a limited budget. "I found nothing to indicate any outside control."

Mrs. Roosevelt explained that she did not always agree with the young leaders, but that she had read all their financial statements, which are audited and knew the sources of income and how it was spent.

AN ERROR IN 1913 IS CORRECTED BY A LATE WEDDING

Twenty-six years ago Martino Andreoni and Theresa Rocchi of Chicago called upon Miss Leona Roberts, deputy county clerk of Winnebago county, in Rockford, and obtained a marriage license.

Yesterday the couple—he's now 48 years old, and she's 46—called again on Miss Roberts, who still is deputy clerk, and announced they'd like to be married. They handed over the marriage license issued to them by Miss Roberts on Sept. 22, 1913.

The Andreonis, who live at 2038 Erie street, explained they had believed until recently they were married when they obtained the license. They lived together as husband and wife, and reared several children, one now married. The little difficulty was quickly straightened out. Miss Roberts summoned Justice of the Peace Howard Hicks, who married them, using the old license.

There Are Two Ways to Get at Constipation

Yes, and only two ways—before and after it happens! Instead of enduring those dull, tired, headachy days and then having to take an emergency medicine—why not KEEP regular with Kellogg's All-Bran? You can, if your constipation is the kind millions have—due to the lack of "bulk" in modern diets. For All-Bran goes right to the cause of this trouble by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this toasted nutritious cereal every day—with milk or cream, or baked into muffins—drink plenty of water, and see if your life isn't a whole lot brighter! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

[ADVERTISMENT]
HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GIVE THEM THESE
STUDEBAKER KEYS TO HAPPINESS!

WHAT a thrilling Christmas this can be for your family . . . with a beautiful new Studebaker as your gift!

You can't put the car itself underneath the Christmas tree, of course.

But you can present your loved ones with the keys to it—in a handsome jewel box.

And if you make up your mind at once, we'll see to it that the Studebaker of your choice is ready and waiting outside your door on Christmas morning.

Studebaker, as you know, is the most envied car that courses the streets today . . . designed by internationally famous Raymond Loewy . . . built by the motor car industry's ablest craftsmen . . . engineered to give more miles per gallon of gasoline than any car of its price.

And you have three beautiful Studebakers from which to make your choice—the luxurious President, the impressive Commander or the biggest new-car success in 10 years—the stunningly beautiful, restful riding Studebaker Champion.

But remember Christmas is just a few days away—so come in now and let us help you make all the arrangements for your gift of a new Studebaker.

Your present car should cover much of the down payment, perhaps all of it—and you may handle the balance on liberal budget plan terms.

RURAL OHIO WILL BACK GOVERNOR IN RELIEF STAND

Favors Forcing Cities to Do Their Part.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wauseon, O., Dec. 4.—In this agricultural community of northwest Ohio—typical of the state's smaller cities—there is a determination to back Gov. John W. Bricker in his program of cutting relief costs.

The governor, who has refused to summon the legislature in special session to appropriate money for the state's two distressed cities—Cleveland and Toledo—has advanced the theory that relief is basically a home town problem. And he has made it more than a theory; he has made it the policy of his administration.

Bricker Reiterates Stand.

At Columbus, the state capital, Gov. Bricker today issued a statement in which he reiterated that the hungry must be fed; that the state will do its part—but that all communities must coöperate. In answer to charges that he belongs to the socalled corn stalk bloc and is out of sympathy with urban centers, the governor reminded his people that the state is ready to buy Cleveland's delinquent tax bonds and is willing to help Toledo as much as it can.

He does, however, insist on full coöperation from the communities themselves, he said, and that brings the situation back to this agricultural community of Wauseon. The feeling here is best summed up by Frank H. Reighar, editor of the Fulton County Republican. He says:

"There has always been a relief problem and there always will be. The poor are always with us. And we will always feed them. But it is we who will do it—we the people of this town. We would be ashamed to raise the hell that Cleveland is raising. We would be ashamed to have any one think that we are not taking care of our own.

No One Goes Hungry.

"Nobody will go hungry. Nobody will go cold. They will live, they will eat and they will be warmed. But there will be no frills. They won't drive automobiles like the Cleveland relief people do. They will not be allowed to live better than the people who support them. Those who are able may have to do a day's work in payment for what they get; but they will get help, whether they are able to work or not."

Editor Reighar is completely out of sympathy with Cleveland, but he thinks Toledo is doing the best it can. He says that most of Ohio believes Toledo has more right than Cleveland to ask help from the state. Toledo's banks failed several years ago, dealing the city a blow from which it has not recovered.

In Toledo today, the wholesale grocers filed suit for $550,000 the city owes them for food issued to relief clients during the first eight months of the year. But it is a friendly suit, according to Attorney Harold Fraser, who filed it. If the city will acknowledge the debt there is a possibility that the grocers will supply additional food to ease the situation.

Contribute to Relief.

And this will put Toledo on the basis it enjoyed up to Sept. 16, when the grocers cut off credit because the voters killed a relief bond issue. Besides this, the civic organizations and social clubs, the unions and other organizations are contributing money for relief.

Other developments in Toledo's relief situation today were these: Thousands of workers heretofore unemployed because of the Chrysler strike at Detroit began returning to their jobs; the Toledo city council approved a WPA street improvement program which is to start next week. This will prevent layoffs of 3,500 workers.

The city also requested Col. F. C. Harrington, national WPA administrator, to cut off such WPA employés as are in less need than the employables on the city direct relief rolls. Harrington said that all assignments for WPA work shall be made on the basis of relative need.

Industrial leaders said it was becoming evident Toledo is snapping back to predepression levels in both industry and business. This has become increasingly evident to business observers here as complete figures for 11 months began pouring in. Building construction gained 155 per cent, car loadings 20 per cent, port traffic 25 per cent, and department store sales 15 per cent.

Retail Cuts of Lamb

Experts Explain

Judging by the many questions that visitors to the International Live Stock show ask one another as they view the thousands of fine meat animals on display, the average city housewife finds it difficult to associate correctly the cut of meat she buys at the butcher shop with the animal from which it came. Stockyards experts at the show yesterday demonstrated how the different parts of the animal are divided into the various retail cuts as they appear on the meat counters.

DEWEY IS READY FOR MINNEAPOLIS TRIP AND SPEECH

New York, Dec. 4 [Special].—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis to deliver, on Wednesday night, the first speech in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. However, activities at his local campaign headquarters will not slacken while he is away. Dewey will not return to New York until Sunday.

In the absence of Dewey and his campaign chief, J. Russel Sprague of Nassau county, local Dewey interests will be administered by Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., one-time Republican gubernatorial candidate, and by Representative Wallace E. Pierce, Republican leader of Clinton county. The Dewey party will leave Grand Central station at 3:30 p. m., Chicago time, tomorrow on the Commodore Vanderbilt.

Dewey's second speech in his preconvention campaign will be deliverad here on Dec. 16 at a dinner of the Pennsylvania society.

CITY, COUNTY AND FOREST DISTRICT CUT GROSS DEBTS

In the last five years the county commissioners have reduced Cook county's funded debt by $15,798,500, and $2,500,000 in defaulted interest coupons have been paid, Clayton F. Smith, president of the board, yesterday announced. The county's funded debt now stands at $33,490,000. The figures were part of Smith's annual reprt.

In the same period, Smith said, the funded debt of the Forest Preserve district, now standing at $11,033,631, was reduced by $381,750. At present none of the board's securities is in default and market levels for bonds are rising. The civic federation and bureau of public efficiency recently praised the board for improvements during the year in accounting and budgetary procedure.

City Controler Robert B. Upham announced yesterday he has reduced the city's gross debt from $107,273,000 to $95,238,000 during the year with the retirement of $6,735,000 in general obligation bonds and $5,300,000 in callable bonds due Jan. 1. An additional $1,200,000 in bonds will be refunded on Jan. 1, he said.

IDENTIFY TEXAS BANDIT AS STATE PAROLE BREAKER

Ralph O. Lucas, 40 years old, who was shot and seriously wounded Saturday in Houston, Tex., after robbing two detectives of $188 and their pistols, was identified yesterday as an Illinois parole violator.

The detectives, Charles Batten and C. C. Rice, were held up when they went to Lucas' home to arrest him for police in Phoenix, Ariz., where Lucas is wanted for money order theft. Lucas fled and was captured after a chase in which police fired shotgun and rifle charges into his car.

Bureau of identification records here showed that Lucas has a criminal record dating to 1921. On April 15, 1929, he was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Joliet penitentiary for forgery. He was paroled June 1, 1933. In November, 1933, he stopped reporting to parole agents, and since then has been sought as a parole violator.

CASEY RECALLS A TIME HE DID NOT STRIKE OUT!

Silver Spring, Md., Dec. 4 (AP).—There was joy in Silver Spring today because the town's mighty Casey was celebrating his 50th wedding anniversary.

Daniel M. Casey, described by his friends as the inspiration for one of America's priceless homespun poems, "Casey at the Bat," really observed the anniversary yesterday, but the boys down at the corner didn't hear about it until today.

"I figure," said Casey, "that I've had enough publicity."

Because of Ernest Thayer's poem, Casey has had more publicity for a single strikeout than Babe Ruth ever received for his most prodigious home run.

Recited by Thousands.

Thousands of Americans have recited it, and none better, perhaps, than the late De Wolf Hopper, who admitted once he had recited it more than 15,000 times.

Silver Spring's Casey has forgotten the exact day that he, playing for the Philadelphia Phillies, struck out in the pinch against the New York Giants.

He does remember, however, that the poem was published in San Francisco on June 3, 1888. And he can recite those last lines, which are:

"O, somewhere in this favored land
the sun is shining bright,
The band is playing somewhere and somewhere hearts are light,
And somewhere men are laughing and somewhere children shout,
But there is no joy in Mudville—
Mighty Casey has struck out."

Casey Is Now 77.

Casey is 77 now. He and his wife live in a pleasant little brick home. He spends most of his time in his arm chair by a bright window reading sport pages of the newspapers.

Casey's home town was not Mudville, but Binghamton, N. Y. He began his baseball career with Wilmington, Del., in 1884 and finished it in 1891 when he went back to Binghamton and became a street car conductor.

And he'd like to add this to the poem's story: The day before his strikeout he knocked a home run, and back in those days that was a feat.

RETIRED BLACKSMITH DIES.

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 4 [Special].—Funeral services for William Spangenberger, 77 years old, retired blacksmith who spent 42 years at his trade, will be held Wednesday. Mr. Spengenberger died Sunday night after a prolonged illness.

LOWDEN INDORSES BILL DRAWN TO CURB NEW DEAL AGENCIES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 [Special].—Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois today indorsed the pending Logan-Walter bill for curbing administrative agencies and subjecting their activities to judicial review.

In a letter to Col. O. R. McGuire, chairman of the American Bar association's committee on administrative law, which drafted the bill, Lowden wrote: "I don't see how any one can read these papers and oppose the bill. The arguments made in its favor are unanswerable, in my opinion."

The papers referred to were the unanimous reports of the house and senate judiciary committees in reporting the bill at the last regular session and an address on the bill by McGuire before the California Bar association. The bill is opposed by New Dealers. McGuire resigned last week as counsel to the controler general of the United States after he received orders for the administration to cease activities on behalf of the bill.

WOMAN, 82, KILLED BY TRUCK.

Freeport, Ill., Dec. 4 [Special].—Mrs. Matha Kochsmeier, 82 years old, widow of John W. Kochsmeier, a building contractor, died last night of injuries incurred Saturday night when she was struck by a delivery truck while crossing a street.

EX-KLAN CHIEF'S HABEAS CORPUS PLEA DISMISSED

Noblesville, Ind., Dec. 4 (AP).—Another instalment in the serial story of D. C. Stephenson's attempts to gain freedom from the Indiana state prison was completed today when his attorneys dismissed his pending habeas corpus petition. They then opposed vigorously the state's motion that he be returned immediately to the Michigan City institution.

Judge Cassius M. Gentry of the Hamilton Circuit court heard two and a half hours of argument on whether Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, should be allowed to stay here until his petition for a writ of error is heard.

[Stephenson seeks a new trial on the grounds that his conviction in 1925 of the murder of Madge Oberholtzer, former statehouse worker, was obtained after he was prevented from testifying by threats against his life.]

Judge Gentry said at conclusion of arguments he would rule soon on the state's motion to remand Stephenson to prison. Previously he had indicated that the court calendar is so crowded the hearing on the writ of error cannot be held until well after the January term of court opens.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

America's future farm leaders, represented by 1,334 delegates from 4-H clubs in 45 states and from Ontario, paraded last night before 15,000 spectators in the arena of the 40th International Live Stock exposition in the amphitheater at 42d and Halsted streets.

This was one of the most colorful and significant events of the exposition, which on its third day, before ever increasing crowds of city folk and farmers, saw the corn and wheat kings of the world picked and the way paved for the selection of the grand champion steer today by George Gordon-Davis, Argentine expert.

With the finest in horse flesh, fat cattle, swine, and sheep out of the way, the stage was cleared late in the evening for the stirring picture of youth on the way to achievement and happy lives under the banner of this club which is dedicated to the development of head, heart, hands, and health. Many of them are contestants in the cattle and grain shows and they have already won grand championships in junior feeding contests in three classes.

They entered the arena in marching order, led by an eight horse truck, which carried a score of the high achievement leaders of the congress. They were escorted by a club band from Shawnee, Okla., in smart green and white uniforms, matching the caps which each of the members wore with the exception of Texas. The Texans came in with 10 gallon hats and shrill yells.

Achievements Are Noted.

After they had all gathered in the center of the arena the leader, V. V. Varney, assistant state club leader of Wisconsin, introduced a number of what he called the rank and file of the organization.

These were:

Jay B. Pomeroy Jr., Stonewall county, Tex., who has raised 327 hogs and 10 head of beef calves and has bought Herefords with the profits. In five years of work he has had a profit of $9,000.

Esther Sorenson, North Dakota, winner in the noncollegiate judging contest.

La Rhea Nielson, Utah, who got a blue ribbon for a smart sports outfit which she made by turning an old coat.

Elden Wirt, South Dakota, who has raised and broken two colts each year for three years, driving them all together this year.

Willa Nell Freeman, Georgia, who has raised 2,903 pounds of seed cotton on one acre and made a profit of $104.69.

Jean Robinson, Walworth county, Wis., the third generation of 4-H club members in her family. Her grandmother organized the first club there and her mother is a leader today in that work.

Margaret Eargle, South Carolina, who has mounted 800 different species of insects for study.

Dorothy McPherson, Montana, sophomore in animal husbandry at the state university, who has taken her Arabian stallion to school with her.

Carry Creeds on Banners.

Among those were:

"Learn to dress better within the family budget."

"Four-H clubs learn by doing."

"Four-H clubs provide a satisfying social life for farm youth."

"Four-H clubs canned 9,200,000 jars of food that make for a balanced diet and better health."

"Four-H club members own 280,000 head of live stock."

"How many members live on farms?" Varney asked the boys and girls. Nearly all the hands went up. They were also raised when he asked how many had been in club work four years or longer.

The crowd cheered the boys and girls, and this part of the evening ended with the singing of "America."

To the Peace river valley of Alberta, Canada, where the summer days are long and the soil is virgin, went the wheat prize yesterday, while the Indiana prairies took the corn honors. Canada has captured 17 wheat crowns and Indiana 17 corn crowns in the grain show's 21 years.

The individuals named in this contest, which took in hundreds of growers, were F. Lloyd Rigby, 21 years old, a farmer of Wembley, Alta., who took the wheat honors, and C. E. Troyer of La Fontaine, Ind., in Wabash county, who was named corn king. It was Troyer's fourth victory in the contest, the Indiana farmer having won the crown in 1920, 1927, and 1932.

Champion Wether Lamb Picked.

Another selection of importance in the agricultural world yesterday was that of the grand champion wether lamb. This went to Pennsylvania State college, where Eric Dennis, the shepherd, has won for two successive years. The winner was a Southdown.

Rigby, the wheat king, is a freshman in agriculture at the University of Alberta at Edmonton. He won the crown with his sample of Reward wheat, a hard red spring variety.

Young Rigby farms with his brother, Justyn, who was oats king in 1938. With their parents they live on a 320 acre farm 450 miles north of the international boundary. Rigby was not present at the exposition.

The reserve championship for wheat went to George Hofman, Logan county, Colo., on an entry of durum which weighed 66.5 pounds to the bushel.

W. C. Blumenshine of Bloomington, Ill., in McLean county, won the reserve grand championship in the corn contest.

Illinoisan Is Corn Prince.

A young Illinois corn grower took the title of "corn prince" away from Indiana with 10 handsome ears of utility type yellow corn.

Judges bestowed the honor upon Raymond Kreig of Oakley, in Macon county, a 4-H club member. Last year's corn prince was Richard Blackwell of Franklin, Ind.

Floyd Hiner of Lewisville, in Henry county, Ind., was named corn duke by his exhibit of hybrid corn. M. H. Holte of Gardner, N. D., was named flax king for his Viking flax.

L. E. Peterson, Victor, Mont., exhibited the champion sample of barley, with the reserve going to Paul W. W. Swisher of Hotchkiss, Colo.

HAILS 4-H YOUTHS AS PIONEERS OF A NEW FRONTIER

Thomas Wilson Tells Them of Opportunities.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The 4-H club boys and girls of North America were hailed yesterday as the modern pioneers. Not as pioneers in scientific husbandry, altho they are that, but as pioneers in a friendship which some day may solve the turbulence of the world.

The man who gave them this title is Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of the board of Wilson & Co., chairman of the national committee on boys and girls club work.

Wilson spoke in the Medinah temple yesterday at his 22d annual 4-H party, a lavish affair for the outstanding boys and girls from the farms of North America, who are holding their annual conclave in connection with the 40th annual International Live Stock exposition in the International amphitheater.

46 States Represented.

Fifteen hundred boys and girls from 46 states—only California and Vermont were absent—and Canada attended. Each was there as a reward for specific attainment.

On the stage the meat producing winner of Canada sat, a tall, shy boy. Near by sat an Indiana boy who made $4,968 from his 4-H meat projects and $14,273 from his other 4-H projects. To all of these, bound together by their 4-H slogan of "Head, heart, hands, and health," Mr. Wilson, their benefactor for two decades, spoke.

"Too frequently," he began, "we hear it said that the last frontier in America is gone, that there no longer is any place for the pioneer spirit. But you who crave the adventure and excitement of pioneers still can find it open to you in all phases of modern life.

"America still needs pioneers to adjust science to the art of farming, and the world needs pioneers in the field of human relationships.

World Torn by Hate.

"With the approach of Christmas we are doubly conscious of this latter need. Instead of peace and good will, the world is torn by hate. Our way, the 4-H way, is the way of friendliness in its largest sense, the value of it learned in all the 4-H community and national projects.

"You are the modern pioneers! A million and a quarter of you, convinced of the power of tolerance, can lay the foundations of a new world order."

To this the 1,500 applauded wildly. Then, after a half hour in a serious strain, the scene shifted to hilarity in a special vaudeville program prepared for them. Later, before proceeding to the stockyards amphitheater to take over the stock show for the evening, they were Mr. Wilson's guests at dinner.

SPORTSMAN'S AIR SHOW IS PLANNED IN AMPHITHEATER

A Sportsman Pilots' air show will be presented in the International amphitheater from Feb. 17 to 25 as a division of the Sportsman's show, it was announced yesterday. Light airplanes and accessories will be grouped as one division of the main show, according to Maynard Schryver, who will be in charge of the aviation unit. Schryver said the entire second floor of the north wing will be used to display airplanes.

SON OF PIONEER DIES.

Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 4 [Special].—Funeral services for William Henry Bonar, 70 years old, son of Woodford county pioneers, were held today in El Paso. He died in the Mennonite hospital here Saturday.

LESS OBJECTION TO FARM PLANS, SAYS WALLACE

Opposition among farmers to the federal agricultural program is diminishing, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said yesterday. He came to Chicago for the 20th anniversary meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation at the Stevens hotel. Secretary Wallace is to address the delegates this afternoon on "How Permanent Is the Farm Program?" Secretary of State Cordell Hull will speak at the anniversary banquet in the evening.

"The main thing now is to find out how to strengthen the farm program so it will have a more permanent base," said Secretary Wallace. "Soil conservation seems accepted by every one. The loan program is accepted by a great majority of political leaders. Parity payments are a subject of controversy. The school lunch is quite new; it seems favorably received. The distribution of surplus farm products to people on relief seems to be in considerable favor. The food stamp plan, according to recent polls, is being favorably received."

SHELBYVILLE MERCHANT DIES.

Shelbyville, Ill., Dec. 4 [Special].—Funeral services were held today for Joseph W. Phelps, 87 years old, who was engaged in the furniture and undertaking business here for 57 years. He was a lifelong resident of Shelbyville.

MEIGHEN TELLS THE TEMPER OF WARTIME CANADA

Senator Arthur Meighen of Toronto, former prime minister of Canada, discussed Canada's wartime temper and aims yesterday in the course of a presentation address made at the unveiling of an oil portrait of T. A. Russell of Toronto, one of the leading Shorthorn breeders of Canada, at the Saddle and Sirloin club in the Union Stock Yards. The unveiling was in connection with the International Live Stock exposition in the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets.

"Good neighbors in this time of world history mean much," said Meighen. "The last thing that any of us wants is to be written down as a propagandist. Canada intends to mind its own business. Canada intends to do what is right and to grasp hold of the temper of events at this time as intelligently as it can. Canada has not decided to do what it has done out of mere sentiment nor because they have inherited the British tradition, nor because of any compulsion.

"There has been no attempt to impose restraint upon Canada. The course the dominion has taken has been one of its own freedom of choice. It has done so because it believes it is best for Canada and best for the world."

MANTON'S GUILT UPHELD IN SALE OF HIS OPINIONS

Ex-Justice Must Serve 2 Year Sentence.

New York, Dec. 4 [Special].—In an opinion approving the view of John Marshall that a judge must be completely independent and controled by nothing except "God and his conscience," the extraordinary federal Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the conviction of Martin T. Manton for selling judicial decisions.

Manton, former senior justice of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, now must serve his sentence of two years and pay a fine of $10,000 unless he appeals to the United States Supreme court and obtains a reversal.

An appeal, however, is regarded doubtful because one Supreme court justice, Harlan F. Stone, and a retired justice of the same court, George Sutherland, together with Circuit Court Justice Charles Clark, made up the extraordinary court which handed down today's decision.

Spector Conviction Upheld.

Justice Clark joined the Circuit court after Manton resigned under fire, and therefore was regarded eligible to hear the appeal, whereas Manton's former colleagues might have been deemed prejudiced in the eyes of the law.

The extraordinary court also upheld the conviction of George M. Spector, co-defendant who was found guilty with Manton and was sentenced to one year in prison and fined $5,000.

Manton was tried, convicted, and sentenced last summer. The principal charge was a conspiracy to defraud the government of his fair and impartial services as a judicial officer. It was alleged that in several instances he or his associates obtained loans from persons with litigation pending in Manton's court, with all or most of the money going to corporations in which Manton was the controling stockholder.

Sutherland Writes Opinion.

At Manton's trial, the United States attorney charged that decisions in the Circuit Court of Appeals were notoriously on the block, ready for the highest bidder. It was charged that William Fallon, Manton's so-called "bag man," and Spector helped Manton make his deals.

The decision of the extraordinary court was written by Justice Sutherland and was concurred in by the other two members of the court.

It was a dispassionate ruling, with no excoriation of Manton for his sale of decisions, but it said that the evidence of guilt was convincing and pointed to the "overwhelming weight" of the documentary evidence.

In reference to Manton's complaint that most of the testimony given against him had come from alleged co-conspirators, the opinion said that it was unlikely in such a case that much testimony could be obtained from any other source.

The opinion goes to some lengths in clearing of blame the other justices who sat with Manton in the various cases in which he was found to be corrupt, altho in many instances these justices voted with Manton.

POLICE DISCOVER ALFRED SAM IS 2 OTHER FELLOWS

Alfred Sam Olino, a cabby Evanston police have arrested five times for violating traffic regulations, yesterday turned out to be two different fellows. They're brothers, Alfred, 27 years old, and Sam 25, who have been using the same chauffeur's license by working alternate shifts.

The Olinos live at 1914 Dayton street. Alfred returned to Chicago in March after serving six years in San Quentin prison for robbery. To save him from detection Sam impersonated him at the finger printing and photographing required to get the chauffeur's license.

When Alfred was arrested he said he used his first name and paid his fine in the name of Alfred. When Sam was arrested he said he used his middle name and paid in the name of Sam. That way they kept the number of arrests low enough that neither would lose the license thru revocation.

But Friday night Sam again was arrested for speeding. Next morning Policeman George Pestka arrested Alfred for disorderly conduct. Westley Brown, assistant director of the accident prevention bureau, suspected that something was wrong and discovered that there were two Olinos.

Young Robber Takes $30 from Loop Hosiery Shop

A well dressed young robber took $30 from a hosiery shop at 8 West Washington street yesterday after terrorizing the manager, Miss Irene Rifkind, 24 years old, of 4335 17th street, and two clerks. Another clerk returned from lunch as he was leaving. She is Miss Herta Well, 20, of 4070 Kenmore avenue.

$110,000 IS SOUGHT TO PRINT COUNTY ASSESSMENT LIST

Commissioner Maurice Kavanagh, chairman of the county board finance committee, said yesterday that he will urge inclusion in the budget of $110,000 for publication of the quadrennial assessment of real estate. The next budget hearing is scheduled for Thursday or Friday.

"Publishing of the list is a protection to taxpayers," Kavanagh said. "It is a safeguard against differences in assessments on properties of equal value, altho we are sure there won't be any such differences. The law requires such publication and I will recommend it."

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, and several other commissioners also said they will vote for the $110,000 appropriation. The last reassessment, in 1935, was not published, because no appropriation was made. Commissioners recently were reminded by Assessor John S. Clark that publication should not be omitted this time.

CREDIT CHICAGO WORK FOR LOW BABY MORTALITY

Dr. Frederic W. Schlutz, chairman of the department of pediatrics at the University of Chicago, yesterday credited an intelligently directed public health program for the fact that Chicago has the lowest infant mortality rate in the country. Dr. Schlutz and Dr. M. Edward Davis, University of Chicago gynecologist, spoke on "Care of Mothers and New Born Babies" at Lying-In hospital of the university.

Dr. Schlutz referred to recent board of health figures which put Chicago's deaths per thousand live-born children at 20.7; New York, 22.1; Detroit, 24.1, and Philadelphia, 25.1.

Dr. Davis said children today are the world's scarcest commodity. Only 5.8 per cent of the 846,000 families in Chicago are producing enough children to maintain the population at its present level.

CATHOLIC POLL SHOWS STUDENT AVERSION TO WAR

A poll of students in 155 Catholic colleges and universities in 32 states and the District of Columbia concerning their attitudes about America's entry into war shows that 96½ per cent would oppose it. Thirty-six per cent asserted they would be conscientious objectors.

The poll was conducted by the weekly Catholic journal America. A preliminary announcement of the results of the poll on Nov. 11 was confirmed by completed tabulations.

Forty-five per cent thought the country ultimately would be drawn into Europe's present war.

To the question of conscription, volunteer service, or conscientious objection, 23 per cent replied they would volunteer, 41 per cent would await conscription, and 36 per cent would be objectors.

25 WPA Rioters Are Convicted in U. S. Court in Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 4 [Special].—Twenty-five defendants, including 14 women were convicted today of conspiracy in connection with the WPA strike riots here last July.

The federal court jury which heard evidence over a period of five weeks deliberated 45 hours before reaching a verdict. Each defendant faces a maximum penalty of two years in the penitentiary and a $10,000 fine. The defense immediately laid plans for an appeal.

Included among the guilty were Ed Palmquist, vice president of local 544 of the A. F. L. Teamsters union, which has been involved in labor violence in Minnesota for several years. Palmquist's union duties placed him in charge of the federal workers section which went on strike against longer hours and reduced WPA wages. Also convicted was Max Geldman, organizing secretary of the federal workers section.

Demonstrations and rioting in the wake of this strike resulted in the death by heart failure of a policeman a few hours after he assisted in dispersing pickets.

Called Most Unusual Case.

The prosecution termed Palmquist and Geldman the fountain head of the conspiracy. In his final plea Federal Prosecutor Victor Anderson urged the jury to have the courage to do its duty, and voiced his concern over activities of communists in the United States. "Minneapolis is not going to become the Moscow of America so long as I am district attorney," he asserted.

The defense, calling the case the most unusual ever tried in American history, claimed that under the charge of conspiracy the government would take away from citizens the right of petition to the government. The defense admitted that the defendants may or may not have committed assault and battery in connection with the rioting, but denied the accused had had any part in a conspiracy.

Judge Thanks Jury.

Judge M. M. Joyce thanked the jury for their efforts, freed the defendants under continuing bail, and deferred sentencing until several score of similarly indicted persons are brought to trial. A heavy court calendar indicated the next mass trial would not begin before next February.

Nearly 200 witnesses were heard in the trial. Jurors kept track in note books of details of assaults, intimidations, tearing clothes of nonstriking women, and forcible barring of many from work at a sewing project headquarters, where the most severe outbreak of the strike occurred the night of July 14.

The trial was the third resulting from the labor disturbances. In the first, five persons were convicted and three acquitted; the second resulted in three convictions and one acquittal. Today's convictions bring the record to 33 convicted and four acquitted. More than 150 persons were indicted.

INDICT FORMER SCHOOL OFFICIAL AS EMBEZZLER

The Lake county grand jury in Waukegan yesterday indicted Howard J. Davis, 33 years old, of Fox Lake, on a charge of embezzling $5,996 from two school districts in Shields township. The indictment charged that the defalcations occurred while Davis was treasurer for the trustees of School township 44. The missing funds consisted of $2,100 in treasury bonds and the remainder in cash. Davis was arrested last May when an audit showed that the money was missing. He was released in $6,000 bond and has case was continued from time to time in magistrate's court. He was removed as treasurer after his arrest and turned over some $30,000 to Alfred Bowman of Lake Bluff, his successor. Davis will be arraigned tomorrow before Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady.

SERRITELLA PAYS QUIET VISIT TO JUROR'S ROOMS

State Senator Daniel A. Serritella yesterday made a mysterious appearance in the federal grand jury room. Neither Serritella nor United States Attorney William J. Campbell would comment when Serritella was observed slipping quietly out of the room.

Samuel Klaus, a special assistant attorney general in the income tax and lottery prosecution of M. L. Annenberg, said Serritella had been asked some questions. Klaus would not say whether Serritella had appeared before the jury.

Annenberg, wealthy publisher and New Deal critic, was co-defendant with Serritella in a civil suit brought by a turf publication which accused them of operating a monoply thru Serritella's tipsheet.

UNION BUSINESS AGENT APPEALS GUN SENTENCE

Attorney John V. Clinnin yesterday said an appeal has been filed in the state Supreme court in the case of George Henneman, business agent of the painters' union, who was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell and fined $300 for carrying concealed weapons. The sentence was imposed last August by Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court.

Attorney Clinnin said the appeal was based on constitutional grounds. He declared the police had no right to search or arrest Henneman without a warrant, inasmuch as they had no information that a crime had just been committed or was about to be committed.

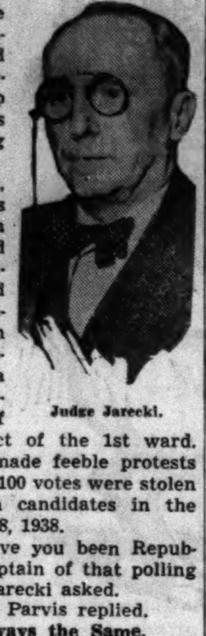
A STRONG G. O. P. WOULD END VOTE THEFT: JARECKI

That's What City Needs, Says Judge.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

What Chicago needs, according to an opinion expressed from the bench yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, is a good Republican organization to keep the Democrats from stealing votes.



Judge Jarecki.

Judge Jarecki, who supervises all elections in the county and appoints all election judges and clerks, was questioning Joseph Parvis, 2600 Calumet avenue, a Republican precinct captain of the 15th precinct of the 1st ward. Parvis said he made feeble protests while more than 100 votes were stolen from Republican candidates in the election of Nov. 8, 1938.

"How long have you been Republican precinct captain of that polling place?" Judge Jarecki asked.

"Eight years," Parvis replied.

Method Always the Same.

"And were the votes counted at other elections in the same fashion as at last year's election?" the judge asked. The answer was "Yes." The inquiry continued:

Q.—Did you ever complain to any one? A.—Once I complained to my ward organization.

Q.—Was anything done? A.—No.

Q.—Who is your Republican ward committeeman? A.—State Senator Daniel Serritella.

Q.—Did you ever tell him that votes were stolen from your candidates every election? A.—No.

Parvis said everybody in the polling place was under orders of the Democratic precinct captain, Deputy Coroner Lawrence Rasmussen. He said Rasmussen "domineered" the precinct and that occasionally he, Parvis, cautioned him. Parvis said he once tried to get some fraudulent names erased from the poll lists but failed.

All Go Out to Eat.

He said that when the polls closed at 5 p. m. the day of the 1938 election the ballot boxes were opened and the ballots taken out and placed on the tables, and then he, as well as the judges and clerks, went out to eat.

Q. [by Judge Jarecki]—Was any one left there to watch the ballots? A.—I don't know who stayed.

Q.—Why did you, the Republican party representative, go at that time? A.—It was customary for us to eat at that time.

Q.—Wasn't it also customary for some one to mark the ballots at that time? A.—I suppose so.

Q.—Who counted the ballots that night? A.—They all took turns at counting.

Q.—Do you know that if the votes were honestly counted you almost carried the precinct this time? A.—No, but once the Republicans came close to winning the precinct and Rasmussen was called in on the carpet by his ward organization.

Last Wednesday Judge Jarecki ordered the arrest of Rasmussen for questioning in the vote fraud inquiry. Yesterday the court asked Special Prosecutor John F. Cashen Jr. whether Rasmussen had been found. When told that the deputy coroner was missing, the court sent for Chief Deputy Coroner A. C. Prusinski.

"Where is Rasmussen?" Judge Jarecki asked the chief deputy.

"As far as I know he is home," Prusinski replied. "He worked last Wednesday. Thursday morning Coroner Walsh and I asked him about the newspaper story saying he was wanted in this court. He said he didn't know anything about it. Coroner Walsh told him to come up here and see whether he was wanted."

"Try to have him here tomorrow," Judge Jarecki directed.

Judge Jarecki also sought the whereabouts of a man who wielded a short pencil and put his mark on 103 ballots in the 15th precinct of the 1st ward that election day, Nov. 8, 1938.

Pencil Wielder Named.

Peter Selanti, one of the judges who testified, said the man's name is Tom Hayes. Parvis added that Hayes lived on the north side, but voted in the south side precinct. The two witnesses said Hayes' brother, Jack, has a city job, and one of them said he thought Tom Hayes also worked for the city. The court directed Prosecutor Cashen to seek Hayes and Emmett Carey, whose name was given as one who had helped in the ballot counting, altho Carey was not an election judge or clerk.

Parvis was called to the witness stand during the trial of five vote officials in the 15th precinct of the 1st ward who are charged with contempt of court because of false counting of votes. Judge Jarecki earlier had heard and continued vote fraud charges against five officials of the 18th precinct of the 28th ward.

Judge Jarecki made his observation about the need for a good Republican organization just before adjourning the hearing until today. He said that such vote stealing as had been discussed in open court could not happen had the Republican precinct captains and watchers been alert and insisted on their rights.

Back on Bench

Judge Eugene McGarry (left) with Clerk Edward Bradley as he went back on bench following dismissal of malfeasance charges.

Judge Eugene L. McGarry of the Municipal court, idle for two months while under indictment on charges of malfeasance and conspiracy to accept insufficient bail bonds, returned to the bench yesterday. He presided in the small claims court in room 1106 of the city hall.

"Is there anybody here who feels he cannot get a fair trial in this court?" Judge McGarry asked as he entered the crowded courtroom. There was no response, and the clerk proceeded with the call.

Indictments against Judge McGarry were dismissed recently by Judge Joseph A. Graber in Criminal court.

Judge Eugene J. Holland, who was off the bench while investigators sought to question him in connection with his business deals with E. J. O'Hare, slain head of the Sportsman's Park race track, resumed hearing personal property tax suits last week.

STEALS 2 COATS; GETS 6 MONTHS.

Murrell J. O'Connor, 50 years old, 347 North Clark street, yesterday was sentenced by Municipal Judge Michael Tremko to six months in the county jail for stealing two overcoats from a restaurant at 590 Diversey parkway.

SITE PURCHASED FOR NEW STATE REFORM SCHOOL

Will House Incorrigibles from St. Charles.

Incorrigibles from St. Charles School for Boys will be housed in a new security school on the Fox river near Sheridan in La Salle county, 65 miles from Chicago. This was decided yesterday when the state commission charged with erecting the institution voted to purchase a 237½ acre site for $21,880.

Work on the dormitory to house 60 youths will begin in the spring. State Architect C. Herrick Hammond said the initial appropriation of $250,000 would be exhausted by the purchase of the site and a unit of this size. He was authorized to advertise for bids for the construction at once.

Plan to House 1,500.

State Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton], chairman of the commission, said that eventually the security institution should be expanded to house 1,500 inmates. Hammond presented a draft of plans to enlarge the school to handle 500 boys within ten years.

"Our problem right now is only to take about 50 of the so-called incorrigibles from St. Charles," Senator Gunning said. "Seventy-six inmates have escaped from St. Charles this year. In the new dormitory there will be individual cells in which each boy will sleep at night."

Industrial rather than agricultural training, as at St. Charles, will be provided for inmates of the new school.

Pay $80 an Acre.

Meeting in Springfield, the commission acted before its option of $80 an acre expired at midnight. A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, wanted to await an analysis of the soil, but Gunning said this was unimportant because the land would not be used for agriculture.

Bowen said he would never approve any site not adjacent to a river, which would provide both a water supply and a means of disposing of sewage. His position was taken, he said, because of the experience at the Manteno state hospital, where 53 inmates died in a typhoid epidemic blamed on polluted water.

"The Sheridan site is ideal," Senator Gunning said. "There is ample water supply, and it is within 50 miles of twenty counties. It is only 48 miles from the St. Charles school and about the same distance from Pontiac reformatory."

D. L. LAWRENCE DENIES CHARGE OF $5,000 GRAFT

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 4 (AP).—David L. Lawrence, chairman of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania, today told a jury hearing blackmail and conspiracy charges against him that he was innocent of any wrongdoing. He said he was "framed."

Lawrence denied he ever received $5,000 from Spurgeon Bowser, former president of the Pioneer Materials company, the firm Lawrence is accused of conspiring to favor in state gravel contracts.

Lawrence corroborated Bowser's testimony that he approached Bowser to learn what he told the Dauphin county grand jury investigating the charges.

Before Lawrence took the stand, United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey denied earlier testimony that party heads discussed state gravel contracts during the 1936 Democratic national convention in Philadelphia.

Note to Suburb: No Doubt This Escaped Your Attention

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois wants the village of Evergreen Park to pay its electric bill. The utility company filed a petition in Circuit court yesterday asking for a judgment of $6,204.92 against the village and charging that the sum is owed for electric current supplied at various times from Dec. 31, 1933, to Oct. 31 of this year.

SEARCH IN VAIN FOR RUTH JUDD, ESCAPED KILLER

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 4 (AP).—Fears that Winnie Ruth Judd might commit suicide to free herself of fancied persecution spurred the search tonight for the frail, mad trunk murderess. She is at large for the second time in six weeks, having fled a ward of the state hospital for the insane here last night.

The thought of suicide was injected by Mrs. Judd's mother, Mrs. H. J. McKinnell. She recalled that Mrs. Judd threatened suicide when at large six weeks ago, and said she feared that the mad killer might end her life rather than return to the hospital, to which she was committed in 1933 two years after slaying two women.

Leaves a Trail.

Mrs. Judd left a trail, but so far she had eluded officers, who used bloodhounds in their search. Sheriff's deputies, highway patrol men and state officials admitted they were baffled. Several times they crossed the trail, only to lose it.

Of these factors they were reasonably sure: Mrs. Judd, who is 34 years old, slipped out of a door to the hospital ward early last night in much the same manner she escaped Oct. 24. She probably had inside help. That opinion was advanced by Gov. Bob Jones and was substantiated by Mrs. Judd's parents.

The fugitive broke into the home of a friend, the Rev. Robert A. Warren, shortly after escaping. She left notes to the minister and Gov. Jones, and took two coats, some oranges, and a box of crackers.

The note to the governor, considered a possible major clew, was delivered to Mrs. Judd's parents by Mr. Warren before he reported Mrs. Judd's intrusion to the sheriff, but it has vanished. The Rev. and Mrs. McKinnell said it could not be found.

The aged parents of the fugitive slayer blamed "persecution" for their daughter's flight.

Mrs. Judd shot and killed Agnes Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson in their home here in 1931, and shipped the bodies, one dismembered, in trunks to Los Angeles. She was convicted and sentenced to be hanged, but a sanity hearing saved her from the gallows.

ENDS LIFE IN HIS ROOM.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:
"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

THE SHAKEDOWN ARTISTS GET A PASS.

The action of the state civil service commission on the political shakedowns of state employés for Gov. Horner's campaign fund is just what might have been expected. A political commission receives and admits proof of unquestioned violations of the state civil service law, but lets off its fellow politicians who broke the law with a mere admonition to go and sin no more.

At least one of the solicitors who were shaking down civil service employés was a civil service employé himself. The commission admits he was guilty of the offense charged, but does not bring him to trial.

The state director of public works and the heads of various state institutions also violated the law by arranging for the use of state offices as the shakedown headquarters. They also are to go scot free if the commission has its way.

Fortunately, there are other and, it is hoped, more conscientious public officials in Illinois. There is a cause for criminal action in every county in the state where the extortion was practiced. The state's attorneys in those counties should present the facts to grand juries, supplementing the evidence already given at Springfield with investigations of their own. In view of the lenient attitude taken by the civil service commission, it will not be surprising if the state's attorneys find the lawbreaking still going on.

THEY'RE SHOCKED.

Mr. Roosevelt says that Stalin's attack on Finland is a profound shock to him and to the American people.

The abominations of the U. S. S. R. and its head hunter when they spread to Finland came as a shock of the unexpected to no one except the New Dealers who have been changing diapers on the American communist baby for six years.

ROB THY NEIGHBOR.

An Associated Press dispatch from Mexico City the other day said that an unnamed American company had agreed to market Mexico's surplus oil. The terms of the arrangement have been reached, it was said, and about all that remains to be done is to sign the papers.

Mexico robbed American, British and Dutch owners of their oil properties. The Mexican Supreme court has just given its sanction, by unanimous vote, to the so-called expropriation but has declared that the companies must be compensated for their actual losses within 10 years. The payments are to be obtained from the sale of oil from the properties themselves. How the values are to be determined and how the Mexican government is to get the money if it doesn't know how to operate the plants efficiently are questions which any one may ask but no one can answer with much assurance.

Our state department has gone thru the motions of making protests against the injury done our citizens but nothing has come of them, perhaps because our government's sincerity was questionable. Villainous as has been the conduct of the Mexican government, it is scarcely distinguishable from the conduct of our own government's TVA. Each in its own way has had no regard for the rights of Americans who made the mistake of venturing their money on the good faith of the government concerned.

At any rate, our administration has continued to subsidize Mexican silver producers. We allowed Mexico to reach agreements with Germany, Italy, and other countries to barter the oil stolen from our citizens for goods which until then our farmers and manufacturers had supplied to Mexico. Now that the war has closed most of Mexico's foreign outlets for oil, our government, it appears, is permitting American citizens to act as agents in the disposal of goods stolen from American citizens.

That also comes under the head of good neighborliness, no doubt. It certainly does not come under the head of common sense. Mexico's economic difficulties were largely of her own making, and if she has been suffering of late for lack of a market for the stolen oil she has only herself to blame. The experience might have taught her to respect her engagements and the rights of those who have invested their money in Mexico. Mexico's oil exports have declined more than 50 per cent since July, a wholesome lesson that commercial treachery and thievery do not pay.

The failure of our government to veto the new plan for the sale of the oil suggests all too plainly that our administration wishes to encourage our good neighbors to rob our citizens.

PEACE NOW OR AFTER EXHAUSTION?

Altho the German comment on Finland, both official and journalistic, follows the inspired line that the Finns brought this on themselves, it isn't at all probable that the invasion by Stalin gives gratification to any Germans except the communists who were driven out or driven underground by the Nazis.

Hitler came to power fighting the Reds. The Germans were taught to sing the Nazi anthem, "Horst Wessel," commemorating a strange martyr of the party who had met his death, supposedly at the hands of the Reds, in a vice district. In the early struggles of the Nazi party its guerrilla bands fought the communist gangs and later Hitler made the war against communist doctrine, its dictatorship, and world revolution a holy war for the defense of Europe.

Der Fuehrer can change his mind as he pleases, and does, and the Germans will be obliged to acquiesce, but many of them must have their doubts. If there were any truth in the first principles of Nazilism the present situation would bear out the arguments Hitler once shouted to the skies. If he was right then, he has proved himself wrong now. Many Germans must privately doubt the wisdom of making an alliance with Stalin—a very profitable alliance for him—just to get a war with Great Britain and France, throwing a new Red fear into many small countries. These same Germans must also wonder whether it will profit them to spend a million lives and all their resources to give the Reds still further advantages and allow them a free hand in the Baltic and in the Balkans. Stalin is protected by Hitler so long as the war in the west continues.

Western Europe can find new reasons, if any new ones were needed, to examine all present possibilities of making peace before the nations have expended themselves. The victory may not be worth having if with it comes the exhaustion which exposes people to internal disorder they despair of handling. Is a just peace less possible of achievement now than it would be after two, three, or four years of unrestricted war? The documentary evidence covering the late August days during which peace seemed to hang in the balance reveals that proposals were made which might have averted the war if they could have been considered in different circumstances, if they had been made in good faith and not deceptively, and if the temper of some of the negotiators had been different.

It may have been that in late August Herr Hitler was still speculating upon British and French acceptance of the Polish conquest if it could be accomplished rapidly, and that he did not believe a general war would follow. He may not have correctly perceived what would be the tactics of his new friend Stalin. Now he knows more of the things which may then have been speculative in his mind. He has the war he may have thought he could avoid and he has a new ally whose movements are alarming.

Altho Hitler did so in bad faith, he did propose that upon the return of Danzig to the reich he would submit the remainder of the Polish question to a plebiscite, conducted as it had been in the Saar, under the direction of the international commission representing the great powers of Europe. He was willing to consider the British proposal that populations be regrouped where it was advisable to do so to remove causes of friction.

By the time the British and the Germans arrived at a discussion of these proposals the German and Polish armies were facing each other and Hitler took the big chance, closing the negotiations with his invasion of Poland. Nevertheless, if negotiation could revert to the discussion as it was when the war broke it off, the belligerents would have a starting point from which they might reconstruct a peace before it is too late. Herr Hitler can go back to his war against communism with a better saving of face than he can continue in an alliance which is permitting the Reds to attack European civilization for the purpose of setting up Stalin's dictatorship.

Hitler's governing thesis for Germany has been the reincorporation of the German peoples within the German state. Consistently, then, he would not want numbers of Poles, Bohemians, Moravians, or of other peoples inside that state and it would be consistent with his program if he accepted the terms which thruout Europe might be regarded as just and considerate of national rights. Such a peace should not be regarded as impossible and it certainly could not be regarded as undesirable. The alternative is a war of unpredictable consequences.

AIRPORT SITES.

The plan to convert the north end of Lake Calumet into a second municipal airport may have much to commend it but there can be no doubt that a far more useful site would be on an island close to the center of the city. Lake Calumet is forty blocks farther south than the present landing field. What Chicago needs, if it is to hold its place as the center of the nation's air lines, is a field close to the postoffice and close to the business center of the city. There is only one practical way of obtaining such a site, and that is by constructing a suitable island not farther south than Cermak road and connected to the Outer drive by a bridge or causeway. If we had an island airport we would have facilities comparable to those which New York now has with its North Beach development. New York got federal money for its field and Chicago has at least an equal claim to consideration. If our senators and representatives in Washington had the requisite gumption we would get our share of public improvements.

Editorial of the Day

[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

The suggestion that this nation needs special defense taxes is ridiculous. If more money is needed for national defense—and it probably is—some of the money now being spent on frill and follies can properly be diverted to the buying of arms and defense mechanisms. In some ways, such diversion might be worth more in relief than money spent directly on waterworks systems that are not needed, sewerage systems that carry only a trickle of sewage, and courthouses of imposing marble.

What the nation needs is airports, airplanes, guns, and defense gadgets. They can be bought with money now going into WPA projects, experiments in power rate control, and similar devices for the more abundant life.

What's the use of an abundant life that is without protection and armor plate?

TO END THE "ALL-AMERICANS."

Since the epidemic of All-American football teams is at its height, we decided to select one of our very own. Our scouting was done on the editorial floor of the Tribune Tower, which is peopled with giants, physical as well as mental. We limited our selections to the physical supermen, and have assembled a team to end the "All-Americans" of the sports pages and magazines. Read the statistics of the lofty and massive ink stained athletes in the following list, and then admit that Walter Camp never did anything better:

SUNG INTO A HANDKERCHIEF.

Of all the evils loosed by sweet Pandora
Against a world of innocence and mirth,
Not one as yet discovered ranks before a
Good common cold, among the ills of earth.
So here's a sneeze for pretty young Pandora:
May she accept the toast for what it's worth!

Of wars, blockades, embargoes and like scuffles
I've read a deal, but these do not impose
Such anguish as my own peculiar snuffles
Assert upon the knob that was my nose.
An aspirin for her who freed the snuffles!
'Tis written she was fairer than the rose.

A pity that inquisitive Pandora
Could not pursue this evil several blocks,
Recapture it and breathlessly restore a
Blow hard again for lissom young Pandora,

A Banquet in Scotch Dialect.

If you're tired of seeing menus in French you may like this one in Scotch dialect:

A Few Remarks on Oyster Eating.

The "all-American" banquet suggested by the late W. E. Safford [Nov. 24] is something to arouse the patriotic—and gustatory—fervor of any American, besides titillating his palate most pleasantly. But "Virginia oysters with sauce of tomato and red pepper"! Horrible thought! Fancy overlaying the delectable salty ocean savor of Chincoteague Bays or Tangier Sounds with a pungent, fiery sauce that destroys the epicurean quality of this most delicately flavored gift of the sea. A gastronomic crime, no less. All the true oyster lover wants is a few drops of lemon juice, squeezed by his own hand, on the oyster. W. G. C.

TO A GRIEVING FRIEND.

I know you find it hard to face this season,
That loss as great as yours brings much to bear,
And yet, O, think of all that he has left you—
The pattern that he drew was clear and fair.
He faced life gallantly, take up his courage,
He found time to be gay, teach your lips mirth;
He loved the quiet things, trees, books, and people,
All this he left to you to share their worth.
His banner that blew bravely, sun and shadow,
Has fallen to your hands, now yours the right
To carry it aloft, to hold it proudly
Although the road seems long and dark the night.
How thankful you must be that you have known him,
How glad you have such richness to recall,
Clear now and true must come to you the reason
You cannot see him now—he has grown tall.

Ici on Parle Americain.

Carl Sandburg says that President Abraham Lincoln, U. S. A., and President Jefferson Davis, C. S. A., were in agreement on one point at least: They both pronounced America as "Amerikay."

DRUGS AND THE WHITE BLOOD CELLS.

NO ONE—except under unusual circumstances—should take a drug continuously. This applies particularly to coal tar derivatives—organic compounds which are manufactured from benzol. [The term "coal" is used because the basic chemical is a by-product of the manufacture of coke.] Why? Because with some persons the production of white blood cells may be so interfered with that their number may be decreased to dangerous levels. The ensuing malady is called agranulocytosis, which means that the circulation lacks certain white corpuscles known as granulocytes.

We employ many useful remedies routinely, altho we do not all respond alike to their influence. For example, amidopyrine is probably the most common offender. Under normal conditions this is a valuable substance, but when imbibed over a long period of time—or should the patient be unduly sensitive to its effects—trouble may follow. The manifestations may develop suddenly with ulcerations within the mouth which at first are thought to be quite insignificant—a mere sore throat. The red cells likewise drop. The main characteristic, however, is the low ratio of white blood constituents.

As a rule these patients are quite ill and prompt action is needed if a serious situation is to be avoided. First, all medicines are stopped. Then come supportive measures designed to build the blood back to normal. A typical case illustrates the depressing character of this disorder.

A woman 34 years of age complained of a sore throat and of extreme weakness. Two or three days later she was obviously seriously indisposed. Examination disclosed marked swelling of the mucous lining of the mouth and throat with dirty looking patches of membrane, scattered over various areas. Diphtheria was suspected but no organisms were found. On the second day her temperature rose to 104 degrees Fahrenheit with rapid pulse and breathing. By this time some sloughing was observed near the tonsils. Swallowing was almost impossible because of pain and edema.

A blood count pointed clearly to the nature of the ailment. The red cells had depreciated 25 per cent and the leucocytes [white] to about 10 per cent of their average total. Pentnucleotide was then administered, as this appears to have the power to reactivate the blood cell factories. Within a week the corpuscles had risen to their aforetime ratio. A few days thereafter she was discharged from the hospital with the warning that she must not take coal tar chemicals.

This patient gave a history of having employed a particular sleeping tablet off and on for several years. She had suffered no symptoms prior to this attack, but eight months after convalescence she attempted to utilize the same preparation while on a visit away from home. A dose was used each night for several days without the slightest harmful reaction. This encouraged her to believe that the idiosyncrasy had passed and that she could now take the sedative with impunity. She then experienced a second episode in which the white cells dropped below 500 [normal 5,000]. At this time the pentnucleotide worked less promptly altho she made an excellent but delayed recovery.

Cases of this kind could be multiplied extensively. Not infrequently chills will typify the onset and it should be borne in mind that these sieges may come on quickly. Furthermore, the prostration and lack of resistance permits organisms to grow which otherwise would be held in check. Thus streptococci and other germs within the mouth may multiply in great profusion, loading their toxins on an already weakened constitution.

Fortunately, only a small proportion of the widespread users of these drugs will be affected, but once the tendency has been recognized all such therapeutic agents should be shunned as one would avoid the bite of a cobra. We all know individuals who have used aspirin, for example, well nigh daily for years without mishap, but every one cannot indulge with equal freedom. It should be pointed out that an occasional dose—even tho the patient is susceptible—will rarely be harmful. It is the habitual, persistent administration that is risky.

ALL "DON'TS" AND NO "DO'S."

A. H. writes: Your article on arthritis was quite clear on the don'ts but not on the do's. I would like to know what to eat.

REPLY.

In general, carbohydrates [sugars and starches] should be reduced in quantity. It may be that you can eat everything else. Try out all the foods you like and see if any one in particular increases your symptoms. Then eliminate this item and watch results. If you do not wish to spend the time you can have skin tests made in an attempt to discover the edibles to which you are sensitive.

ONLY IN CASE OF DISEASE.

D. L. writes: I am told that if one drinks water before exercising strenuously, it causes the legs to swell. Is this true?

REPLY.

Not unless there is heart or kidney trouble. The symptoms may not be observed when one is at rest—even tho the disease is present.

LOOKING FOR PERFECT BOSS.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—We believe this should be given a place in your paper equally as prominent as the article pertaining to the appearance, manners, etc., of a perfect secretary. Now we are looking for the perfect boss—one who would not:

1. Call on us when we are at home ill, and catch us in curlers and greased all up with home remedies.

2. Dictate with a pipe or cigar clinched tightly between his teeth, or worst of all, continually pace up and down.

3. Attend two and three hour lunch sessions; spend most of the day chatting and story swapping with fellow executives and then at 4 o'clock finish up the day in a blaze of glory, dash off to catch his train and leave us to tear away until all hours.

4. Expect us to take home reading matter pertaining to the job for study when we should be out getting fresh air or much needed relaxation.

5. Dig out mildewed jobs to be finished up before a holiday or vacation; leave two or three days' work lay over to be suddenly rushed out on Saturday morning.

6. Attend employé parties, if he can't enter into the fun or if he disapproves various forms of hilarity. We never forget our ladylike training, anyhow.

Maybe we should give medals, for verily the perfect boss is a rarity.

STATE STREET WIDENING NEED.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—I noticed in last SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE the article by Hal Foust regarding widening of State street north of the river. No doubt this publicity will have a desirable effect.

Many business leaders today realize the extreme importance of stopping the spread of slum areas close to the downtown section. Therefore, any constructive news items in THE TRIBUNE which will make the people conscious of that need are bound to be beneficial to the city as a whole.

I believe it is advisable to have the widening of State street north of the river included in the Northwest highway plan, and hope the mayor and his organization will see the importance of that project.

BULL AND LOCOMOTIVE.

When the bull was tossed clear off the track the Irishman remarked, 'I admire your pluck but damn your judgment.'"

HITLER ANOTHER NAPOLEON.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—It is rather surprising that William Schnelle should write in your column quoting remarks by Napoleon and Victor Hugo derogatory to the British. It was but natural for Napoleon, the world's greatest despot prior to Hitler, to write in this manner against the British who fought him continuously after he had conquered and placed a king of his own choosing on the thrones of most of the important European states. Had it not been for Wellington's final victory at Waterloo in which the Germans helped, the peoples of Spain, Portugal, Holland, Belgium, the various Italian states, most of the German states, Russia, and even France herself might still be under this despotic rule, and the only thanks the British people got out of this was a tremendous tax bill which was only finally wiped out about the time the last world war started.

What the civilized world needs today is the help of the German people to create another Waterloo for Fuehrer Hitler, for I am sure Mr. Schnelle, in the name of German justice and decency, cannot believe in the subjugation of Austria and confiscation of its gold reserve, the institution of the horrors of the gestapo who have imprisoned the president and government of that republic, and later the brutal rape of that brightest gem of Slavic culture, the people of Bohemia, and the latest awful butchery of the Polish people.

Most great writers have condemned all countries, including their own, and Victor Hugo was no exception, for he was banished from France and was given the refuge he needed under the British flag, in spite of Mr. Schnelle's statement that he wrote against the British people.

PUBLIC DUPED BY SALES TAX.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—The diversion of two-thirds of the sales tax for other than relief purposes was the Democratic party's coup d'état here in Illinois. The public was duped into thinking the whole sum would go to take care of an urgent situation. But our relief agencies find insufficient funds to carry on their work.

It seems to me that in this situation the Illinois Republicans have the choicest kind of plank to nail into their platform. A declaration for a more equitable distribution, or a pruning of the present sales tax rate, would certainly bring many voters to its side.

Why has the Republican party remained silent on this subject?

S. E. IRMICK.

A REPLY ON DEMOCRACY.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—About the subject raised by Miss Marnell about our country being a republic and not a democracy—may I submit my reply?

A democracy is a form of government by which the power of the state is exercised by the majority of the people or by the masses. A republic is a form of government by which the people rule thru their representatives. It may be more or less democratic.

While it is true that the United States is a republic it became more and more democratic as time went on. When the constitution was first made only free white men who measured up to qualifications of age, education, religion, and property were allowed to vote. It became more democratic when Negroes were given the right to vote in 1870 [15th amendment]. It became still more democratic when women were given the right to vote in 1920 [19th amendment].

Thus it can be seen that it is safe to call the United States a democracy even tho the constitution establishes the requisites of our representative government, and further guarantees to each state a republican form of government.

TEACHERS GLAD TO HELP.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Answering "Teacher's Sister," it is true, indeed, that the teachers were asked to give to the mayor's Christmas fund. What a catastrophe! We were not asked to contribute any specific amount, but what we could afford to give. Employés of companies give a certain percentage of their pay checks to the community fund. Why should teachers complain, with their five day week and substantial salaries?

Being a teacher I appreciate the fact that the city under Mayor Kelly is giving me my pay check regularly, and I am glad to help those less fortunate whenever called upon. The majority of teachers are generous.

ALL NIGHT SALOONS.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—The recent drive on the slot machines and bookies seems convincing, but if the police are sincere in their efforts to uphold the law, why isn't something done about the taverns that are remaining open all night?

Whether these places are paying off to insure against raids or not is a matter of speculation, but it certainly would take no Sherlock Holmes to discover these all night spots.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Dec. 5, 1914.

[130th day of world war; 96th day of present war.]

PARIS.—Computing the German aerial losses as nearly as possible, it is figured that the Germans have lost 7 Zeppelins and 52 aeroplanes with 86 officers, and at present the Germans do not possess more than 25 airships and 287 aeroplanes all told.

LONDON.—The Germans in Belgium are continuing their efforts to demoralize the allies' lines in the vicinity of Ypres, but the attempt today was added to previous failures. The kaiser's army bombarded the allies all day, but no great damage was done.

BORDEAUX.—The 300,000 youths of 18 years in France who normally would begin army service in October, 1916, are by government decree to be called to present themselves for examination beginning Dec. 20. These youths probably will be sent to the fighting line next July.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Austro-Hungarian successes along the entire line in Servia, which have driven the Serbs from the banks of the Colubara river, were reported in Vienna, according to official dispatches to the Austro-Hungarian embassy. In the last offensive 19,000 Serbs were reported captured.

BERLIN.—The French troops in Flanders are repeatedly attacking the German line, but have been repulsed.

MISSING HEIR.

Chicago, Dec. 1 [Legal Friend of the People].—An uncle that lived in the state of Montana passed away Dec. 3, 1938, left an estate and a will which leaves the estate to two sisters and two brothers, the sisters a small portion each, the balance to the brothers equally. One of the brothers, my father, cannot be located, nor his whereabouts known since 1924.

1. Does the law declare him dead after such a missing period? As I am his only child [2] does that make me his legal heir?

3. Does his share go to my stepmother, whom he separated from in 1922? The other brother passed away Oct. 9, 1939. The will comes up for probate Nov. 1.

4. Does his passing away prevent the courts from closing the affair at that time? All parties mentioned in said will live or lived in Newfoundland.

5. How can I get a copy of said will or find the value of such estate?

C. R. L.

1. He would be presumed to be dead. It seems probable that his estate could be probated in reliance on this presumption.

2. Yes.

3. Probably not, but if there is a will your rights would depend on its wording.

4. We see no reason why it should prevent distribution to the other beneficiaries.

5. Write to the clerk of the Probate court there. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CARNIVAL CRY OF 'HEY, RUBE!' GONE TO LIMBO

Suckers? They're Gone, Too, Says Showman.

It has been at least 10 years since Cliff Wilson of Peru, Ind., saw a real brawl at a carnival, and even longer since he last heard the time honored war cry of "Hey, Rube!"

The shills, cappers, and boosters who used to persuade the customer to pit his dime against a crooked wheel are gone. Most carnivals, Wilson said, are honest now.

Wilson, in town to attend the meeting of the Showmen's International Association of Fairs and Expositions, in the Hotel Sherman, says there aren't any more suckers. The radio and other things have educated them. That's what they used to call a carnival customer—sucker, monkey, ape, or sap. The progress of the carnival in the realm of business has caused the change, Wilson said, and the old slang also has disappeared.

No Fleas in Drum Any More.

The barker, talker, or grinder now is an announcer or a master of ceremonies, and the "bally" has become an outside announcement. A group of potential customers still is "the tip," and those lured inside are "the turn," but no one today would think of calling a policeman "a fluff" or saying "there's a flea in the drum" when he meant there was a policeman looking for trouble.

Showmen still refer to paper money as "loose lettuce," but only a first-of-May showman, on the road for the first time, would think of shouting "Hey Rube" [the rallying cry of carnival workers], if a quarrel started.

"Carnivals used to go out hunting for trouble and hoping they'd find it," said Wilson. "Now they've seen that shoving people around doesn't pay. But let's not hang any beautiful cloaks on them. They had to change to live."

Reptiles Are Resting Up.

Wilson, who has run reptile shows for 23 years, was last at the New York World Fair with 17 of the largest snakes in the world.

He isn't showing them this winter, as he usually would, for fear that the war would make it impossible to replace any which might die. He's keeping them in Tampa, Fla., in a room where the temperature is at a constant 70 degrees. Every four weeks they eat.

Approximately 1,500 showmen are in Chicago for the convention. Frank Duffield, whose firm sells fireworks, was named president of the Showmen's League of America. He succeeds J. C. McCaffrey, general manager of the Amusement Corporation of America, recently formed, which will put five large shows on the road next season. Wilson and his snakes will be with one of them.

BLIND MAN HIT BY CAR; HIS DOG SUMMONS HELP

Erna, an alert German shepherd, trained in the Seeing Eye school for the blind, was hailed as a heroine by Englewood police last night. This is why:

Sunday night Erna accompanied her blind master, Robert Freemole, 23 years old, 111 West 118th street, to the Christian Missionary Alliance tabernacle, 70th and Union streets. After the meeting they started home.

At Halsted and 70th streets, Erna started leading her master across the street, but an automobile suddenly knocked him down. The driver, Peter Horath, 7135 South Halsted street, stopped. But Erna was gone. She dashed back to the tabernacle, barked excitedly, and within two minutes was leading a group of Freemole's tabernacle friends back to the scene of the accident. Freemole suffered only minor bruises. Last night he and Erna were out again, Freemole more certain than ever that Erna's a mighty smart and resourceful dog.

SOLDIERS, BACK FROM TRAINING, WILL GO AGAIN

Army troops from Fort Sheridan, who have been in the field for six weeks undergoing intensive training, returned to the post over the weekend, but they will not stay there long. Lieut. Col. John L. Homer, acting commandant, said yesterday that both units that have returned will leave late in the week for Camp Robinson, Ark., for further training.

The two units are the 2d battalion, 3d field artillery, 440 men and 14 officers, and the 1st squadron of the 14th cavalry, 225 men and 12 officers. The 2d battalion, commanded by Lieut. Col. Charles B. Hazeltine, was at Camp McCoy, Wis., and returned by train. The cavalry unit, commanded by Lieut. Col. George A. Pollin, was at Camp Custer, Mich., and returned by motorcade.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—KING'S PARDON

HIT-RUN DRIVER CAUGHT; VICTIM DIES IN HOSPITAL

Anonymous Phone Call Leads to Arrest.

A hit and run car struck Mrs. Theresa Piencak, 53 years old, 2631 Luther street, Sunday night at 25th street and Washtenaw avenue. At 10 o'clock last night Thomas Stebinski, 29, a stockyards butcher, confessed he drove the death car. Less than an hour later Mrs. Piencak died in St. Anthony hospital.

Stebinski was found by Marquette police as the result of an anonymous phone call giving his license number. Fragments of broken headlight glass and radiator grill found at the scene of the accident matched damaged parts of his car, police said. For hours he denied he was the driver. He finally confessed to Lieut. Thomas Connors. Stebinski, who lives at 2728 South Keeler avenue, told Lieut. Connors he became panicky after the accident. He admitted he had had four glasses of beer a short time earlier, the lieutenant said.

Two Saved from Blazing Cars.

Policemen saved two motorists who were trapped in their flaming automobiles after a collision yesterday at Lake Shore drive and Addison street.

Andrew Cichon, 24 years old, 2046 Orleans street, was tugging at a jammed door of his car when Park Policemen Walter Brown and Erwin Knuth pulled him out and extinguished the fire. Patrick Murphy, 45, of 5834 Winthrop avenue, the other driver, was lifted out unconscious and taken to the Columbus hospital with serious injuries.

Harry White, head of a printing company at 727 Blue Island avenue, died in a hospital at Cincinnati, O., of injuries suffered last Friday when his automobile overturned at Brookville, Ind. He was 62 years old, and lived at the Hotel Sherry, 1725 East 53d street.

Pedestrian Fatally Hurt.

James Sullivan, 63 years old, was killed by an automobile at 15th street and Cicero avenue, Cicero. He formerly lived at 628 Madison street. The driver was John A. Northup, 1619 South Austin boulevard, Cicero.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 823 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 637 were killed in Chicago where 20,740 were injured in the same period.

STATE ASSUMES CONTROL OF POOR WIDOW'S WEALTH

Authority to take over cash and securities in the estate of Mrs. Janet Lincoln on the ground that she failed to file her husband's will was granted yesterday to Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien. Mrs. Lincoln, supposedly in modest circumstances, was found to have left nearly half a million dollars following her death Nov. 15.

It also was announced last night that Willis H. Lincoln, son of Mrs. Lincoln's husband, Willis L. Lincoln, by a former marriage, had retained Attorney Herbert M. Lautman to represent him in connection with the estate. Lincoln's will, found in one of the safe deposit boxes with large quantities of cash, made his wife full heir with the exception of $1 left to the son.

Mrs. Lincoln's nearest relatives are a brother, William Krullaars, 6637 Maryland avenue, and a sister, Mrs. Reika Stedman of Laguna Beach, Cal. Krullaars had been granted letters of administration, but the action of the public administrator takes precedence over these. Representatives of the public administrator said no inheritance taxes had been paid on the estate and it was necessary to probate the husband's estate first. Mrs. Lincoln died at 1221 North Springfield avenue, where she had been paying $5 weekly for board and room. Her husband died in 1938.

JUDGE DONOGHUE SITS IN SAFETY COURT 1ST TIME

James Scott, 34 years old, colored, 4347 Vincennes avenue, yesterday was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail by Judge Frank E. Donoghue of Safety court. Scott was convicted of driving while intoxicated. Yesterday was Judge Donoghue's first day in the Safety court. It was also his first appearance in the Criminal court building since a year ago, when he was assistant state's attorney before his election to the bench. Judge Donoghue replaces Judge Joseph B. Hermes.

Picture Leads to Owner's Recovery of Rare Pigeon

A Danzig high flyer pigeon, which was found exhausted on the north side last week, was returned yesterday to its owner, Peter J. Popinski, 2856 North Rockwell street, by Ray Kesteloot, Chicago agent for the Chicago concourse of the American Racing Pigeon association. Popinski recovered the bird thru a story and picture in THE TRIBUNE. He said he obtained the bird from Poland three months ago. Danzig high flyers, which can fly 24 hours at a stretch, are said to be uncommon in the United States.

ASK SHERIFF TO SEARCH O'HARE'S WISCONSIN HOME

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of state's attorney's police yesterday asked Sheriff George Seehutter of Sawyer county, Wis., to search the 800 acre estate of E. J. O'Hare in Couderay for papers which might aid in solving O'Hare's murder.

O'Hare, millionaire front man for the Capone gang, was shot to death on Nov. 8. Capt. Gilbert learned of the Couderay home from Fred J. Loyda, Cicero town attorney and former counsel for O'Hare.

FIGHT TO DIVORCE TROLLEY FARES FROM FRANCHISE

Attorneys for Bondholders Oppose Program.

Attorneys for bondholders of the city's transit lines objected yesterday to including a provision for street car rates of fare in a unified franchise. They asserted that the regulation of rates is beyond the province of negotiators for the new transit company or the city and is a function of the Illinois commerce commission.

The transit lines are demanding an 8 cent fare, an increase of 1 cent over the present rate, maintaining that this fare is necessary to support a 100 million dollar improvement program. Mayor Kelly, in his proposal for the unification ordinance, had suggested that the new transit company pledge itself to maintain the 7 cent fare for three years, after which the city would join the unified system in a petition for a higher fare if insufficient earnings justified the request.

Master Hears Objections.

The bondholders' objections were heard by Walter A. Shaw, special master and adviser to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson in the transit litigation. Last week Judge Wilkerson set yesterday for hearing on the chief points of controversy between the city and the lines, but he is confined to his home with a cold and transferred the session to Shaw's office at 30 North La Salle street.

Shaw also is one of the negotiators appointed by the court to confer with city representatives on framing the ordinance. The other negotiators are Guy A. Richardson, president of the surface lines, and Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the elevated lines.

Replying to Judge Wilkerson's request for clarification of the issues, Attorney Henry F. Tenney, representing the largest bondholders' group of the surface lines, presented their viewpoint and a set of instructions which he desired the court to give to the negotiators.

Willing to Transfer 19 Millions.

In addition to street car fare question, Tenney discussed these points:

1. The mayor proposed that the new unified company use $20,000,000 of the $30,000,000 in cash now held by the lines to finance partly the improvement program. Tenney said that of the $30,000,000, a total of $19,000,000 is in a renewal reserve fund and that the bondholders are willing to have the latter amount transferred to the new transit company. They insist, however, that the precise manner of spending this money should be decided by directors of the new company and should not be allocated by the ordinance.

2. The mayor suggested that the ordinance contain provision for cash compensation for use of the streets, and that for a three year period the company should pay 1½ per cent of its gross revenues to the city, with another 1½ per cent accruing as a future obligation.

Seeks to Safeguard Debts.

Tenney's position was that if any compensation is to be paid to the city, such payment must be an obligation which is subordinate to a minimum return on the company's investment, and that this minimum return must service at least the mortgage indebtedness and dividends on the preferred stock.

3. The mayor requested that the company have two years to establish a permanent pension plan for employés and, in the interim, a temporary plan for payments to employés who are eligible to retire and request retirement. The bondholders maintained that such a pension plan was a matter for agreement between the company and its employés and that there is serious doubt whether the city has authority to insist on its own plan.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Do you think young people should be permitted to pet in the parks and forest preserves?

Where Answered.

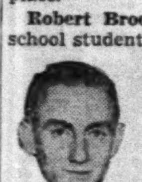
In the Randolph street station of the Illinois Central.

The Answers.

C. R. Van Gorder, 5455 Washington boulevard, fire protection engineer—No. The younger generation certainly ought to be able to make better use of its time. With all the better things the world has to offer I don't think petting should become such a national amusement.

Claus Marcus, 1449 North Talman avenue, millinery factory owner—If young people are to be allowed to pet at all they should be allowed to do it wherever they want. However, I feel that such a show of affection in public places is not proper.

Elmo Paff, 5757 University avenue, University of Chicago student—Forest preserves and parks offer the only opportunity for many young people to pet. I don't think there is any serious objection to it. If it is forbidden in parks and preserves they'll just find another place.



Robert Brooks, Goshen, Ind., high school student—That question is hard to answer. I don't know just what is meant by the term "pet." But I don't believe that young people should be permitted to misuse the parks and forest preserves in any manner.

Franklin Paff, Goshen Ind., factory worker—I don't think so. Parks and forest preserves are not the places for petting. A little petting is all right, but it seems to me that young people should find a less public place in which to do their love making.

IDEAL EMPLOYER IS AS SCARCE AS IDEAL SECRETARY

Business Girl Describes 5 Imperfect Types.

Why are girls hired or fired? This is the fifth of a series of articles intended as a guide for the young girl seeking work.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Business men say that the ideal secretary is scarce—and so, say business girls, is the ideal employer.

Business men contend that many girls lose their jobs before they have them. But not all. Some girls get a job and leave of their own volition. They do the incredible and resign.

This is the case with an attractive, well groomed business girl who has held nine jobs in the last five years. She is 26 years old, alert, bright, and neat as a paper of pins. She was dismissed from two of the jobs and quit the other seven.

Five Imperfect Types.

Yesterday she sat down to analyze the rapidity with which she shifts positions.

"Maybe I'm a fool," she said, "but not all employers are perfect. I know of five imperfect types.

"There was the man who was completely inconsiderate of me. There was the man with unpleasant physical habits. There was the one who never looked at my face when he talked to me, but at my chest. There was the matinée idol, who would lean back in his chair to exhibit his profile. Then there was the man who came in and dictated like mad in late afternoon after having played golf all day while you twiddled your thumbs.

"I've worked for all five, but only one fired me. He was such a difficult person that after I'd worked for him a while I couldn't do anything right and I thought something was wrong with me.

A Morning Greeting.

"He never spoke to me. He'd come in every morning that winter when it was 26 below. I'd say 'Good morning!' with a merry lilt, and he'd say: 'What in the hell do you see good about it? I can't see a damn thing that's pleasant.'

"His desk was next to mine, and one day he came in and sniffled and sniffled. When he went to the telephone I put a handkerchief down before him. He cut off the conversation right there. O, dear! How I ever had the nerve to do it!

"But I didn't lose my job then. I lost it because I spoiled his Thanksgiving. He had invited some relatives, but I sent the letters to them to the wrong places. He had broken down my morale so that I couldn't do anything right. The letters all were returned after the first of December."

"And when were you fired?" she was asked.

"Just about that time," she said.

[Another article in the series on girls and their job hunting will appear in an early issue.]

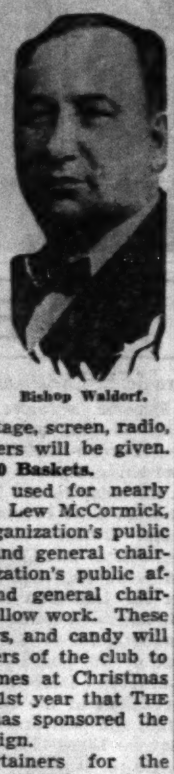
1,100 TO ATTEND GOOD FELLOWS LUNCHEON TODAY

Traffic Club Sponsor of Big Event.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.



Bishop Waldorf.

Today at noon, in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House, the biggest Good Fellow luncheon of the season will be held. More than 1,100 members of the Traffic Club of Chicago, their wives and friends, will attend the fourth annual affair sponsored by this club. The principal address will be made by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago area of the Methodist church. A two hour entertainment program by stage, screen, radio, and opera performers will be given.

Used for 400 Baskets.

Proceeds will be used for nearly 400 baskets, reports Lew McCormick, chairman of the organization's public affairs committee and general chairman of the organization's public affairs committee, and general chairman of the Good Fellow work. These baskets of food, toys, and candy will be taken by members of the club to underprivileged homes at Christmas time. This is the 31st year that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has sponsored the Good Fellow campaign.

Additional entertainers for the show today are Howard Roberts, baritone of the Chicago City Opera company; Dare and Yates, comedy acrobats from the Chicago theater, and the Frank and Cathryne Bennett Heidelberg Singers.

On Bob Elson's Sports Review at 6:15 o'clock this evening on W-G-N George Halas, owner of the Bears, professional football team, will discuss the Good Fellow campaign.

150 of Carriers Join.

One hundred and fifty members of the Chicago Newspaper Carriers' association have joined the Good Fellows. A check for $150 has been received at the Good Fellow headquarters at 1 South Dearborn street. This money will be used for purchase of baskets to be distributed by that association on Saturday morning, Dec. 23. Joseph Epstein is president of the carriers' group.

Those wishing to enroll may do so by filling out the Good Fellow coupon which accompanies this story. All checks or money orders should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Good Fellow Fund.

Woodsheds Filled.

Dec. 4, 1939.

WOODSHEDS at the Du Page county farm are being filled with firewood to be burned this winter in fireplaces and stoves. Workers recently have been going thru the wood lots and cutting up piles of old logs and tree tops in preparation for cold weather.

Wood cutting at the farm has become a soft job compared with the old method of swinging heavy axes and pulling crosscut saws. Much of the work is done with a buzz saw mounted on the front of a rubber tired tractor.

The "wood choppers" drive the portable saw from one pile of logs to another and the saw whacks off the toughest cuts as fast as the men feed the logs to it. The men use a crosscut saw on logs too big for the buzz saw to handle.

Rig Easy to Move.

The portable rig is easily moved about in the woods and there is little waste in time and labor in sawing up logs and tops and branches of trees. All extra handling of the wood is avoided. The workers clean up the wood lots and provide fuel at the same time.

Full use is made of tree tops for firewood, even down to the small branches. Some of the branches used are not more than 1½ inches in diameter. The men say round wood burns more slowly than split wood, and small branches last well in a stove.

Old stumps sometimes are cut up for firewood. They are more solid than the trunks of the trees and make more heat when burned.

There will be some apple tree wood in the wood boxes this winter. It is preferred to most other kinds. Burning apple logs give off a delightful aroma that is enjoyed by the farm families as they gather around firesides on winter evenings. Two large apple trees recently were cut down to make room for a new section of roadway and the logs and branches immediately were cut into convenient lengths for the fireplaces.

Fireplace Ashes Saved.

All the ashes from the fireplaces are saved. They are considered a valuable by-product of wood fires. The ashes are used for fertilizer in the flower gardens. They are rich in potassium, a plant food that lends strength to the stems of plants. Ashes from hardwood trees are preferred.

Carnations, dahlias, and other flowers that produce their blooms on long slender stems are especially benefited by applications of wood ashes. The added strength to the stems makes the blooms last longer when cut. Wood ashes are safe to use. They do not burn the plants.

The ashes are kept in a dry place during winter and put around the flowers in early spring. They leach rapidly when exposed to the weather.

Use of wood ashes for fertilizer and other purposes is an old custom in America. The Indians used them to fertilize corn fields. Early settlers leached out the lye for use in the making of soap.

Antirabies treatment was ordered yesterday for 22 crippled children in the orthopedic room at the Haven school, Evanston, after discovery that their classroom pet, a fox terrier, has rabies.

Dr. Winston H. Tucker, city health commissioner of Evanston, said none of the children had been bitten, but most of them had come into contact with the dog almost daily. Rabies is transmitted thru the animal saliva. A dog bite is not necessary for infection. If the saliva gets into any open cut or wound infection may follow.

The terrier is owned by Miss Yerda Johnson, teacher of the class.

Writer Once Controled Five Provinces.

PEKING, Dec. 4 (AP).—Marshal Wu Pei-fu, 61 years old, poet-soldier of republican China, died today following an operation for an infected tooth, the Japanese news agency, Domei, reported.

Marshal Wu Pei-fu. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Wu had lived in obscurity since his armies were routed by Chiang Kai-shek, now generalissimo of the Nationalist government, in 1926. The Japanese had tried vainly to enlist his aid. Last year Wu refused Japanese offers to make him president of all China under Japanese military occupancy. When Japanese leaders called on him with the offer, he said, "I'll climb into my coffin first" to stump their efforts and showed them a massive casket packed away at his Peking home awaiting his death.

ONCE HELD FIVE PROVINCES.

Wu Pei-fu was a better poet than soldier, and a more successful diplomat than a fighter. His prestige survived defeat and he once controlled five huge provinces without enriching himself beyond modest comfort.

Five years after Chiang Kai-shek had annihilated Wu's army, the latter emerged from a Buddhist monastery to help his old time nemesis unify China against Japan when the latter occupied Manchuria and attacked Shanghai. He reappeared at Peking in January, 1932, and became a rallying center for resistance to Japan.

In his youth Wu gave great promise as a scholar and became licentiate with the degree of Hsiu-Tsai, won by competitive examination. But relatives persuaded him to adopt a military career and in 1898 he graduated from the Peiyang Military academy at Tientsin.

Establishment of the Chinese republic under Yuan Shih-kai in 1912 brought him a post as regimental commander. The Yunnan revolt of 1914-'15 against President Yuan's attempt to make himself monarch of China, brought Wu his first batch of widespread fame. On Yuan's orders the youthful colonel crushed the rebellion. In 1916 he was promoted by being instrumental in the defeat of Gen. Chang Hsun, who sought to restore the old Chinese monarchy.

Wu Turns Pacifist.

Then Canton, under the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, father of the republic, began to menace the vaulting ambitions of Yuan Shih-kai. Wu was picked to crush the movement and was given command of all the forces sent south in the campaign. But he turned pacifist and stopped the Cantonese by negotiating a truce. Wu was named commissioner for Chihli, Shantung, and Honan provinces in 1920 and a year later Hunan and Hupeh were added to his control.

When Yuan Shih-kai died and the presidency fell to Tsao Kun, the Canton nationalists resumed their move for power. But Wu retained control of his five provinces and the powerful third division of the Peking army. This force became embroiled with Chang Tso-lin, late war lord of Manchuria, in 1924. Wu was waging a successful campaign until Feng Yuhsiang, China's "Christian general" and Wu's trusted subordinate, went over to the enemy. Although Wu was beaten by this, he organized his army and helped defeat Feng.

EMERY S. HALL, ARCHITECT, DIES AT AGE OF 70

Emery Stanford Hall, widely known Chicago architect, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital. He was chairman of the state board for examining architects, past president of the Illinois Society of Architects, and a fellow and past president of the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects. Since 1906 he had edited the Handbook for Architects and Builders. He was 70 years old.

Emery S. Hall.

Mr. Hall is survived by his widow, the former Clara Louise Adams, with whom he lived at 1354 West Berwyn street; a son, Halbert Hugo, and three daughters, Mrs. Bruce H. Larson, Mrs. Josephine Tejada, and Mrs. Eunice Diachun.

Miss Ella E. Bell's Estate Set by Court at $890,975

County Judge Perry L. Persons of Lake county yesterday approved an order finding that Miss Ella E. Bell, who died last Dec. 29 in Highland Park, left a gross estate of $890,975. This was subject to $241,608 in debts and expenses of administration, including a federal estate tax of $190,727 and a state inheritance tax of $68,273. Miss Bell, who was 83 years old, had been adjudged incompetent in 1931. Her estate was left to nieces and nephews.

HENRY STEVENS DIES; FIGURE IN HALL-MILLS CASE

Lavallette, N. J., Dec. 4 (AP).—Henry H. Stevens, 70 years old, who, with his sister and brother, was acquitted of murder in the Hall-Mills case, sensational double slaying of 17 years ago, died yesterday.

Stevens, a noted sportsman; his brother, Willie, and their sister, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, were indicted in 1926 for the murder of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, a choir singer slain on Sept. 14, 1922, with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of a fashionable New Brunswick church. Mrs. Mills and the rector were found shot to death under a crab tree near New Brunswick.

Mrs. Hall, widow of the rector, was arrested on July 28, 1926, for the four year old murder of Mrs. Mills. Mrs. Hall's brothers were taken into custody the following month. The trial began on Nov. 3, 1926, and ended Dec. 3 with the acquittal of all three.

ALSCHULER WILL FILED; WIDOW TO GET $25,000

The late Samuel Alschuler, for 21 years a judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, left an estate of $60,000 it was disclosed yesterday when his will was admitted to probate by John F. Keeley, assistant to the probate judge. Judge Alschuler was 79 years old when he died last Nov. 9.

The will directs the immediate payment of $25,000 to the widow, Mrs. Ella Alschuler, 5421 Cornell avenue. This is in execution of an agreement the couple reached prior to their marriage on March 5, 1923. The residual estate, save for a $3,000 bequest to Mrs. Alschuler and another $3,000 to charity, will be shared by two nephews and a niece.

They are Mrs. Corinne Weil and Jacob and Samuel Alschuler, all of Aurora. Mrs. Alschuler and Jacob Alschuler were named coexecutors. The will suggested that Mrs. Alschuler distribute the charitable bequest.

Colorful Show Has American Art at Its Best

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The most brilliant exhibition ever hung at the Chicago galleries, 215 North Michigan avenue, is there now to remain on view to Dec. 30.

The show is superb. Here is seen contemporary American art at its best, minus isms and fads. Honest painting, brilliant color, gorgeous composition and a fresh approach in the handling of each subject whether it be portrait, still life or landscape, make this exhibition outstanding.

Charles P. Killgore shows "'Mexican Market." Note the masses of color he has used, the definite design he gives without losing one jot of pictorial quality. "Old Spokes at Home," by Adolph Heinze, with its simple message, American every inch of it, old wheels and a fat squirrel that might have been in any farm's back yard, is very fine.

"Tying Up," by Mattie Lietz, is a novel and intriguing account of the well-worn theme of boats and a dock. You will like the swirl and sweep of her water—and the color scheme.

Anna Lee Stacey, Richard Chase, Oskar Gross, Frederic Tellander, Frank I. Johnson [a new member with a stunning self-portrait], Louise Kelly, Jessie Arms Botke, Karl Plath, Macena Barton, Nina K. Griffin, and Gerald Frank are among those who contribute to the unique success of this show.

Gay water colors of flower subjects by Edith Montlack are on view at the Club Woman's bureau, Mandel Brothers, thru December. They are vivid and vigorous in technique, beautifully handled.

Another outstanding exhibition, which will be seen only to Dec. 15, is that of recent portraits and figure studies by Ruth Llewellyn Baird at the Findlay galleries, 424 South Michigan avenue. This is a charming exhibit. The portraits are good likenesses and interesting as well in themselves.

Paul Klee is the artist of the month at the Katharine Kuh gallery, 540 North Michigan avenue. He tops the group of nonrealist painters. His work appeals to the intellect rather than the emotions. You catch yourself "figuring it out."

Ardent modernists will find grounds for enthusiasm here; the others must confess to a baffled feeling. Klee baffles beautifully.

The Christmas Seal Is Story of a Kind Thought

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Einar Holboell, a grayed, bent postal clerk in Denmark, working late one night before Christmas, thought pityingly of the poor and ill. In need and without friends, he knew they would be forgotten.

"Millions of packages," he muttered, his eyes numbed with the gayety of holiday wrappings, "and millions of stamps on them. Why couldn't we help the sick by selling stamps for them?"

That was in 1904. His idea touched the imagination of the royal family of Denmark and the money was provided to print the first Christmas seals. The double bar cross of the charity seals began to appear on letters and packages.

In the years that have followed the kindly thought of the postal clerk has helped save the lives of millions of tuberculosis sufferers. The idea spread to 41 nations, and last year brought $5,170,892 to fight the disease.

Holboell's Christmas seals were introduced to America on a letter received by Jacob Riis, philanthropist, who was a native of Denmark. He was so impressed with its usefulness that he wrote an article about its possibility in America.

In Wilmington, Del., Emily Bissell was struggling to keep open a little hospital for tubercular patients. She seized the stamp idea as a means to rouse her neighbors and friends. With $40 she had 50,000 stamps printed. The stamp has since become the emblem of a campaign that has saved more than 2 million lives in America.

The death rate of the disease for the entire population has been cut more than two-thirds. In 1907, the first year of the seal sales here, there were 179 deaths per 100,000 population. Now the rate has been lowered to 49 per 100,000.

Last week 400,000 Chicagoans opened letters bulging with stamps bearing the symbolic angel of mercy. There were 80,000,000 stamps in those letters, which, if paid for, will bring in $800,000 to carry on and expand the work of education, health services, and home nursing shouldered by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook county.

On the House

How about bringing Christmas into the kitchen or the bath this year with some gift that is practical and enduring as well as comfort affording? A new swinging spout faucet for that sink would make myriad holiday tasks simpler. A new bathroom shelf of crystal glass with vitreous china brackets in white or pastel colors would add glamorous beauty to the bath [and always welcome extra shelf space].

AW, MOM! YOU FORGOT KOSTO AND WHAT I COULD DO TO A SWELL CHOCOLATE PUDDING

It isn't natural coloring that counts in the selection of makeup shades. It's costume color that should be made up—or down—to. It may be that such a trifle as eye shadow, in exactly the right contrasting or harmonizing shade, makes the difference between colors that you can or can't wear.

"I'm a brunette, with blue eyes. What shades of powder, rouge, lipstick and eye shadow should I wear?"

It's a question we receive often. Each time we reply that long distance color prescribing is beyond us we feel that we're letting the writer down hard and that she'll probably resent it. But it's the truth. It would be wonderful to be able to answer a question such as that flatly, but we're morally certain that it can't be done.

You just can't know much about your colors—especially the beautiful, subtly blended modern colors in fabric and makeup—until you try them. This is an age when the red head can wear pink, or purple, or anything she chooses—provided that the pink, the purple, AND the makeup tones are right. There are no hard and fast rules these days. All the old rules such as that blue shadow was for the blue eyed, brown shadow for the brown eyed, and orange lipsticks for the red haired have been smashed to smithereens.

The thing to do if your costume colors and your makeup colors are either fading you or making you look like a circus poster is to sit down to serious experimenting. Try any and every color both in makeup and in clothes. Forget the old theories you may have learned years ago. Remember that your natural coloring counts for little. It's the costume color that must be made up—or down—to.

If you like gray, for example, but have an old fashioned idea that it makes you so dim that the onlookers mistake you for part of the wallpaper pattern, remember that the right rouge, lipstick, shadow, powder, and foundation can change all that. What the exact shades are you can't know until you try them, but they're to be found!

The Number of the Beast.

If you will open your Bibles and turn to Revelation, chapter 13, verse 18, you will read: Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast; for it is the number of a man and his number is six hundred, three score and six.

Starting with A as 100 and progressing thru the alphabet spelling the name Hitler, you will find that H is 107, I is 108, T is 119, L is 111, E is 104, and R is 117. The sum of these figures is 666—the six hundred three score and six of the biblical prophecy.

Oddentia.

Oscar Serlin was in town last week-end to see if Chicago's little theatrical boom is real enough to warrant his organizing a first line company of his New York smash hit, Life with Father. Tentatively, after what is referred to as "casing the joint," he thinks it is. Serlin, watching Fats Waller bow at the Panther room Friday evening, commented succinctly on the two gilded and feathered dancing girls: "H-m, fugitives from a proscenium arch." . . . Irene Koenig advised a friend who was complaining about her inability to get ahead financially to take up manicuring and she would make money hand over fist.

Jascha Heifetz has exclusive rights for two years to a new symphony by English Composer William Walton. While he was in town Heifetz visited with musical friends in Winnetka, supped at Normandie House, did some of his favorite tricks. He likes tricks. . . . Which brings to mind the little girl Betty Strobin tells about who approached a woman at a recent gathering. The woman was wearing a turban of metal cloth and jewels from a famous hat designer and a gown to match, and the child said to her, "Do you know many tricks?"

The House of Magic, which you may remember from A Century of Progress and which was a feature of the San Francisco fair, has gone into winter quarters at the Museum of Science and Industry. . . . Herb Olsen, young Diana court artist whose paintings are on exhibition at O'Brien's galleries, has among his sales a patron who bought two for the walls of a power barge that plies the Mississippi. . . . Overheard: "Poor Finland . . . and all they wanted was to be let alone and take a steam bath every night."

Two New Leads Are Well Liked in 'Butterfly'

BY CECIL SMITH.

With changed personnel in the leading soprano and tenor rôles, Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" was repeated by the Chicago City Opera company last evening. Hilda Burke sang the title part for the first time in two years, and James Melton made his reëntry for the season as Lieut. Pinkerton.

It was just a year ago that Mr. Melton made his operatic debut here in the same rôle. Since that time he has improved his performance phenomenally. A sensitive appreciation of the grateful contours of Puccini's melodies and a gift for urging the music on with good accent and impulsive phrasing combine to place his singing on a high musical level. He makes the words mean more and carry more feeling than most tenors do. At the same time he is the best looking and the best dressed Pinkerton an opera company could expect to find.

Hilda Burke contributed some of her best singing, with the middle voice especially warm and inviting in color. Dramatically, however, her interpretation of the part remains too static and lacking in well devised movement.

George Czaplicki, one of the company's most noteworthy assets and a mature artist in every phase of operatic technique, added stature to the performance every time he came on the stage. Ada Paggi was a dependable Suzuki. Angelo Canarutto conducted with excellent musical awareness.

New Illinois Symphony Has a Good Start

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Izler Solomon is a conductor who could take Louie's Hungry Five and in two weeks have it sounding something like the Vienna Philharmonic. It was not surprising, then, to find that the reorganized Illinois Symphony orchestra, which played the first concert of its new popular priced series in the Blackstone theater last night, gave very few evidences of the convulsions thru which it has recently passed.

Mr. Solomon had to break in a new concertmaster [Herman Clebanoff] and to absorb many other new people. The orchestra has been out of the local limelight since last June, and has sought out dark corners in which to suffer during the months when it was busy complying with new federal legislation regarding WPA furloughs and personnel changes.

Last night's offerings were two—the Brahms Fourth symphony and the Shostakovich First. Under Mr. Solomon's batonless hands the former took on wonderful life and meaning. Those great rueful phrases, where austerity and nobility are blended in a way which no other late nineteenth century composer ever quite duplicated, profited by a splendor of coloring which one hardly looks for in a reorganized orchestra. The beauty of the strings, especially in the second movement, was often enough to make a listener's hair stand on end.

The Shostakovich symphony, with its little melodies and its brash color effects, was pat, humorous, and effective. The new concertmaster did a nice throbby solo in the slow movement.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 4.—It's getting nigh on to the holidays. Probably you'll be having folks drop in at the house, and the problem of entertaining them inexpensively will occur. So I'm going to tell you the game which the stars of Hollywood are playing at the moment, and in addition to its positive entertainment value, the only expense involved is the cost of some pencils and paper.

Say, for instance, there are eleven persons. You divide them into two teams of five, with the odd person as the referee. The two teams then retire to different rooms, and the referee writes out five questions, or famous sayings, song titles, movie titles, or proverbs. When the referee has completed his job, he calls to him the captain of each team. The captains simultaneously read the first slip he's written.

With pencil and paper, each captain then rushes back to his team and draws, as best he or she can the question. If, for instance, the referee's first slip reads "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain," you'd draw a moon and try to show it rising over a mountain. Once the first slip has been solved by the team, player No. 2 rushes to the referee, reads the second slip and returns to interpret it in a drawing, and then the third, fourth, and fifth players get their chances to show how much Rembrandt is in 'em. The game is decided when either team completes deciphering the five questions.

At no time can the drawer tip off his teammates by illegal signals, or printing words, or talking. He must stick to drawing, but if a teammate shouts out a phrase that indicates he or she is close to the solution, the person drawing can wave him or her on, to indicate he or she is on the right track. Beyond that, the drawer must be mute.

We played it the other night with Tyrone Power and Annabella, Robert Taylor and Jack Benny, Barbara Stanwyck and Mary Livingstone, Carmel Myers, Sally Eilers, Harry Joe Brown, Ralph Blum, Joan Blondell, and a crowd of other flicker people and they had an uproarious evening. The drawing turns it into a terrific game because there are few who can draw expertly or even remotely well. A quotation such as "how sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child" has tremendous possibilities in the hands of an amateur artist. Even the snake emerges as a bewildering figure, and when you have to draw a snake with one tooth showing to drive home the point, boy, you're really in a dilemma.

The fact that you're working mentally against time, and against the team in the other room, doesn't improve your composure either. Clark Gable gets so jittery that his hand shakes when he attempts to make his drawing. . . . Harry Joe Brown, Zanuck's white haired boy, gets so nervous that he draws only tiny circles, one after another. "But dear," protests Sally Eilers, "those circles don't mean anything at all." Harry Joe stares at her reprovingly and, as if to indicate how obvious is the answer, he jots down another small circle. . . . I mean to say it's the sort of a game in which you check your intellect the minute you pick up a pencil and try to interpret something in drawing. What you draw is perfectly clear to you even while it completely bewilders your team.

BY JUDITH CASS.

DEPEND upon the clever young women who are on the board of directors of Emerson House, a settlement on West Grand avenue, to plan something different in the way of a benefit. They give one every year and never have there been two alike.

The chairman, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr., yesterday told us about the one they are going to give this winter and we predict that the 1940 one will be the most successful ever. Successful from the standpoint of the guests, we mean, for the amount that the directors plan to raise each year is not a large one and there never is any doubt but that the party will be successful financially.

The benefit is to be a dinner-dance on Saturday, Jan. 27, in the cafeteria of the Union station. We've never seen the cafeteria and probably none of the 400 [except the committee] who will dine and dance there at the party ever will have been there before. The cafeteria is in the basement and is used mainly by people who work in the station. Mrs. Harvey says it is a charmingly decorated place consisting of several rooms.

Guests Will Wear Railroad Costumes.

Dinner will be served in cafeteria style and the guests will be requested to wear costumes connected with railroading. Which gives plenty of leeway, for the men can be engineers, porters, conductors, or just passengers in just ordinary business clothes.

And the women can be passengers in smart traveling ensembles or—well, what do women have to do with railroading? Hostesses and maids are the only feminine positions of which we can think. But all sorts and kinds of persons travel, so probably an East Indian lady, a Hottentot maiden, or any sort of fancifully attired person would be appropriately clad for the party.

Invitations to the benefit are to be in the form of little newspapers, interesting little six page tabloids with pictures of the board members, articles about previous Emerson House benefits, and some snappy bits that are being written especially for the invitation.

Miss Jane Brooks to Be Bride Dec. 29.

A small family wedding has been planned by Miss Jane Brooks and A. Alexander Baldwin of White Post, Va., whose engagement was announced yesterday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps of Lake Forest. The ceremony will take place in the home of the bride's parents on Dec. 29.

Mr. Baldwin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Baldwin of Cleveland, O. Miss Brooks plans to return from Virginia shortly before Christmas. She has been in the east and south most of the fall. Being an ardent horsewoman, Miss Brooks will enjoy living in Virginia where some of the finest fox hunting is to be found.

Antiquarians Will Hold Party Today.

This afternoon from 3:30 until 5 o'clock the ladies of the Antiquarian society will be at home in Gallery H-16 of the Art institute. The party is for a double purpose, to open the new Allerton wing and to introduce the new curator of decorative arts and of industrial arts, Meyric R. Rogers, and Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. Rogers,

EURASIAN TURBANS by Lilly Dache

The mystery of that femme fatale, the lady spy, and the languorous beauty of a Javanese, inspired Dache's new chignon turbans. They're made of loosely braided straw or silvershot gauze with the huge chou knotted surprisingly at the nape of the neck instead of over the forehead. And when worn at her midseason opening without one sprig of hair showing, and with quantities of heavy Oriental jewelry, they created a small furore. In our French Room, and nowhere else in Chicago, will you find the brilliant hats of Lilly Dache.

Danger on the Border

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

[Copyright: 1939: By Frederick R. Bechdolt]

SYNOPSIS.

Leonard speeds west by car after finding that the sample of ore sent to him by his sick friend, Dillon, is rich in gold. He picks up two strange companions, Mrs. Sebastian, who owns a Mexican roadhouse, and Louis Mestres, who claims to be a line jumper. In a lonely spot they come upon the pay car of the Golconda mine—all occupants murdered, and three holdup men still on the scene. They chase Leonard's car with a machine gun. Mestres drops tacks in the road and stops their pursuit. He recognizes one bandit as the mine's paymaster. Paul Collins, a crooked local assayer, tests Dillon's ore and gives him a false report. He enlists the aid of another rascal, Kent, to cheat Dillon. Dillon breaks the sad news to Pat, an orphaned girl who owns an old hotel, and who had staked him, then goes off to collect his tools. At Pat's hotel Leonard sees the girl slip out in the night with a gun. Distrusting Kent, Collins sends two hirelings to follow Dillon and locate his claim. Kent, suspicious, puts Papago, an old watchman, on the trail. Taylor, the Golconda's paymaster, arranges with Kent to have Leonard blamed for his crime. In Collins' office Pat finds the correct report on Dillon's ore, but Kent and Collins discover her there. Kent kidnaps the girl in his car—her old Chinese servant clings to the spare tire. Leonard goes to see Mrs. Sebastian and walks into a trap set to capture him. Mestres is hobnobbing with one of the bandits and Mrs. Sebastian pretends not to know him. Leonard escapes only to accept a lift from Kent and be turned over to the Mexican police, but Mestres rescues him. Mestres gets a trusted guide, Plutarcho, to sneak Leonard across the line. As they pass the building where Kent had placed Pat they are hailed by the Chinese servant. It is a marijuana den, run by an outlawed doctor and his wife, Anna. Fearing exposure they plan to kill the girl.

INSTALMENT XX.

AN AGONIZED CRY.

It was as if the hoarse scream that penetrated to every part of the building and went beyond the thick walls were a signal for other sounds to burst out: voices of men, the pounding of feet on the floors. Pat was conscious of the noises, but they were as a blurred background: All her senses were centered on the door into the corridor. She was reaching for the knob, she saw it turn. The doctor stood before her on the threshold.

She felt the metallic hardness of his arm as it enfolded her, the pressure of his big fingers upon her throat.

. . . .

The old Chinese flung out his arms in a wide gesture. His withered face showed in the starlight, it was crevassed with deep lines. He looked like a living image of despair. The three men stood before him as motionless as three shadows. Behind them the long adobe building made a black blot against the skyline, no sound came from it. Leonard cried.

"This is the Chinaman from the hotel!" But Mestres broke in impatiently.

"He's been playing fan-tan in that deadfall over there, and they've thrown him out after they got his money. Come on. We can't listen to his troubles."

"His name," Plutarcho volunteered, "is Sang."

As he spoke the name its owner seized Leonard by the arm and burst into a flood of pidgin English, the words tumbled over one another from his lips in a rapid sing-song which was beyond understanding. The three men were about to turn away when Leonard caught a name that made him stiffen to sudden attention.

"Who's that?" he demanded. "Say it again, Sang."

"Missy!" The old man was pointing to the long building which stood like a huge black lump under the stars. His voice rose to a shrill high note. "Missy Pat!"

"You mean she's here?" Leonard demanded. There was another outburst of the pidgin English: Sang was nodding rapidly. Leonard stemmed the flood with an abrupt gesture.

"They brought her in a car and you were riding on the back?"

"Long time now, they bling um." The old voice quavered. "Me ketchum lide an' see."

"It's the girl who keeps the hotel in Old Town," Leonard explained to the two others. "And she's in some sort of trouble." He told them the story as he had witnessed it. "Some one has brought her here, and the Chinaman's been hanging around ever since, hoping to find a way to help her."

"You seem to bring trouble where you go," Mestres commented dryly. "It is not nice, this business, it has the bad smell." He spoke to Plutarcho in Spanish, and the big man answered in the same tongue.

"These people in there," Mestres went on when the brief conference was finished, "are a dangerous crowd: Marijuana smokers, crooked gamblers, they smuggle drugs across the line. There are men in that place who would cut your throat and mine for 10 centavos."

"That being the case," Leonard replied, "it seems to me we're wasting time standing here talking about it. We ought to be kicking the door in right now."

"Patience, my friend," Mestres bade him. "It will be done more quickly if we hold the council of war before we start this kicking in of doors. You are a pious man, Plutarcho. It could be that you would say a little prayer to these saints of yours, asking them to give us help. We may need it after we get into that building."

"The good saints will look out for us," Plutarcho told him quietly. "And you carry a gun under your coat. I have a knife. Some one will open the door when you knock three times, and very slowly. Then we will go in." Mestres chuckled.

"That is simple. You think in the straight line. I do not know how we can do better than this which you propose. So, then, we will go to the door and you two will stay behind where they do not see you from within. I will knock very slowly. When some one opens, we will enter. But first, tell us what it is like in there, what do we find when we have made this entrance, Plutarcho?"

They listened to the description which he gave them, and when he had finished:

"If there is fighting," Leonard said, "the chances are it will start in the first room where they are smoking, or in the hallway. It sounds as if she would be somewhere in the rear."

"It is your task to find her," Mestres told him. "Plutarcho and I will try to hold the others off. That is the plan. The rest will be as it will be. So now, we start. You will wait here, Sang. We will return if the good luck is with us."

There were two wide steps before it—huge slabs of dark lava laid upon the earth. Leonard and Plutarcho stood at one side while Mestres mounted, and knocked three times.

There was a moment's wait, the door was swinging open when Anna screamed. It began on a high note, so shrill that it seemed to pierce their ear drums, then the voice broke, and the cry ended in a long hoarse yell, vibrant with agony. The three men stood motionless for an instant, the door closed with a bang.

Mestres seized the knob and he was swearing in Spanish, spitting like a cat, while he threw his weight against it. Plutarcho took a swift stride and stood before the steps. His huge bulk shrank toward the earth, it remained thus, a black, shapeless lump stirring within the shadow of the building, then it rose again to its full height.

And Leonard saw that the giant had plucked one of the lava slabs from its resting place. The rock must have weighed more than two hundred pounds. Plutarcho raised it above his head until his arms were stretched to their full length. He uttered a deep-throated shout and Mestres leaped aside as he flung the heavy slab. There was a crash that seemed to shake the building to its foundations, a crackling of rended wood, the splintered remnants of the door fell inward, and the three men leaped across the threshold.

They stood, for just about the time that it would take one to draw a deep breath, looking about them, and Leonard noticed that Mestres had slipped his right hand beneath his coat. Sounds came from beyond the wooden partition, the voices of men, the pounding of feet on the floor, but no sound rose in here, there was no movement.

who has not yet moved to Chicago from St. Louis, is coming to Chicago especially for the party.

The new wing consists of 10 galleries in which a good many of the Antiquarians' choice pieces are exhibited. The directors of the society are not making any effort to have a period tea table today, feeling that the new wing and the two guests of honor are of sufficient interest to make it unnecessary to have a table of unusual interest.

Mrs. Phillip Miller, president, and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will receive, and pouring will be several directors, including Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, Mrs. Robert H. McCormick, Mrs. Clive Runnells, Mrs. A. H. Patterson, Mrs. James W. Thorne, Mrs. Potter Palmer, and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson.

Junior George Masseys Arrive for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bragg Massey Jr. and their infant son arrived yesterday from Mexico City to be with his parents, the senior Mr. and Mrs. Massey, until after Christmas, the Masseys hope. The young Masseys and their son will not return to Mexico, for Mr. Massey's business will take him elsewhere—possibly he may be kept in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey Orr and Dr. and Mrs. John Dayhuff Ellis have issued invitations to a tea dance for their daughters, Miss Cherry Sue Orr and Miss Lela Baldwin Ellis, from 4 until 7 o'clock Friday, Dec. 23, at the Arts club. Miss Orr and Miss Ellis are debutantes of the season.

Suitor Is Wise to Make 'Hit' with Family

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Today we are pleased to give a few pointers to a man who loves a girl and wants to make a "hit" with her family. We wish more men realized the importance of this approach to a girl's heart. It IS important, believe us, so important that we're going to speak pretty strongly about it.

"S" has written: "I'm quite handsome, and have a beautiful girl, but don't know how to make a hit with her family. Will you please advise?" That's all the encouragement we need, so here goes!

Boy meets girl. They fall in love. Then boy gets to know girl better. Girl gets to know boy better. The first attraction leads to personal confidences. Girl tells boy about her family, her background. Boy tells girl about his family, his background. What happens? Often, there are family obstacles in the way of a carefree romance. From then on it's a headache, this love business. But usually, too, the boy and girl will sigh blissfully and say: "Where there's a will there's a way." But it often proves to be more of a problem than they bargained for. If one of the two doesn't have a sensible head on his or her shoulders, love flies out of the window after a good scrap.

So, to help "S" avoid romance complications, we strongly advise him, who is the one seeking advice, to 'get in' with the girl's family by making them like him via doing thoughtful little things for the mother, father, and brothers, and sisters, if any. We urge him to show them that he thinks the girl is pretty much of all right by treating her as tho she were something "special" in his life before them. He should keep in mind that, should he mistreat her, no matter how justified he should feel in being "miffed" at her attitude, he will have her entire family against him, should he give vent to his feelings. In brief, he's got to prove himself to be the sort of man who is kind, thoughtful, considerate, ambitious, and very much of a gentleman at all times.

For Gift List: Gala Slippers for Lounging

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Lounging slippers, even the cozy, comfortable bedroom slippers, are no longer anything to joke about or to sniff at when they arrive in a gift box. You can't beat the present collections for dash, glamor, design and decorative lure!

Boudoir affairs have the same flattering high heels of dancing slippers, the same or even lovelier materials. Sandals for lounging pajamas are equally feminine and colorful. Silver or gold kidskins are so handsome many recipients will wear them out of nights with party gowns.

In one outstanding collection you'll find fire red satin mules trimmed with black lace over the insteps, another pair of red flannel gone gala indeed with high heels, a Persian slipper outline and delicate silver laced edges. Gold kidskin mules jingle merrily with every move because of the tiny gold bells attached to the leather over the instep.

Beautiful striped moire also boasts high heels, the curved outline of the Persian slippers and the laced edges. Green satin, red satin, pastel shades and grand contrasts make the wedge soled pajama sandals effective and sometimes exotic.

Cross strap slippers with high heels come in plain shades of every imaginable color as well as subtle brocades, and some particularly stunning black models decorated with petit-point embroidery. Luscious velvet mules, with and without instep decorations of fluffy feathers, marabou, or lace, are obtainable in all colors and contrasts.

Smooth, luxurious suède makes other finds, especially attractive in jade green, ruby red, and blue. Low heels, medium and high heels offer a wide assortment.

Pullman slippers in a compact packet come in incredibly soft kidskins and less expensive affairs made of sturdy moires.

The Housewife

With holidays in the offing, when you'll be entertaining, more or less, you'll need a lot of trays. One of the best looking we've seen is a tray and table affair. Four legs fold neatly beneath it so when it is in the kitchen being filled with edibles and drinks it is just like a tray, but when you bring it into the living room you press a lever that makes the legs snap down and there is a small table, similar to a coffee or cocktail table. Neatest trick of the week.

This item comes in mahogany or walnut and is not expensive. It's sturdy and will give good service for a long time.

Now Amazing Proved Hygienic Protection for Married Women

Thousands upon thousands of women have now learned to use a sensational, scientific discovery for hygienic purposes. This boon to womankind is not a poison, yet actually kills germs at contact. It is called Zonite, and its action is amazing when used for feminine hygiene. It instantly kills germs and bacteria on contact, yet it is proved safe—will not harm delicate tissues. And Zonite deodorizes—insures daintiness. Helps keep one fresh, clean and pure. So successful has Zonite been that over 20,000,000 bottles have already been used. Get Zonite from your druggist today. It's surprisingly easy and economical to use. Ideal for feminine hygiene. Follow the simple directions and enjoy proved hygienic protection that you may never have known before.

Fashionable and Practical

MISS' TWO PIECE COSTUME.

Besides being smart looking, the two piece costume has the additional virtue of being practical. Its blouse and skirt may team up with other items in the wardrobe. Together they are a unified fashion. This pattern makes one that is pretty in either woolen or crêpe, and it may be either tailored or dressy. The neckline may have a detachable collar or one of the dress material. It also may be made collarless. Down the front may be a zipper or buttons, and the sleeves also allow for choice, either long or short. The skirt is without plaits, but it is cut for wide flare.

Style No. 2548 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 54 inch material for skirt and jacket, with ½ yard of contrasting, 1⅛ yards of 39 inch for short sleeved jacket, and 2 yards for skirt.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Beauty Is Poise and Good Manners, Says This Singer

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Show me the woman who, you think represents true beauty," the famous tenor, Jan Peerce, offers, "and I'll show you the woman who is well mannered, well poised.

"No woman is truly beautiful," he claims, "if she lacks grace of manner, and knowledge of the what-to-do and what-not-to-do in the best circles. The gracious word adds more charm and true prettiness to a feminine face than does the proper amount of lipstick, rouge, and mascara. It isn't so much the lines that appear in a woman's facial makeup that give her the beauty that bespeaks grace," says Jan, "as it is the lines that come out of her mouth.

"True beauty represents more than good looks. It is, in actuality, the impression of niceness that one person makes upon another, and that impression is made mainly by the person's actions, facial appearances becoming secondary. Actions are best polished to make a nice impression when they come from the heart to the heart. Manners are the laws of society which are made up so that others' feelings are not purposely hurt and that take into consideration the best move for one person to make in regard to the feelings of all others.

"Of all the women I have met, the only faces I remember are those which stood out because the people had charm, and because it was nice to be in their homes since they were masterful hostesses and knew how to make a person feel welcome. Bright makeup adds color to a face, but tact and consideration add warmth to a countenance.

"Nothing is so pretty as a pretty memory, and if you'd make that impression on the minds of others then don't concentrate less on your facial makeup, but more on your actions in order to gain that true title representative of beauty, which labels you 'a well mannered person'."

Modern, tender-cured, mild-flavored ham is the choice of most homemakers these days, because it is easy to cook and easy to eat. Some families still demand the older-fashioned, stronger-cured ham which takes more cooking and has a saltier, hammier flavor than the bland, super-tender hams. Both kinds of ham are available, together with intermediate types, so that each of us can have ham as he likes it.

"Country cured" and "southern" type hams still call for simmering in water to cover for several hours before baking with, perhaps, a change or two of water if the ham is extra salty. These hams aren't often found in city markets, because the demand is small.

The great majority of today's hams has been scientifically cured, and is not excessively salty. Therefore, there is no need for any soaking or parboiling. The ham goes to the oven as it is, placed fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. No cover is placed on the pan, and no water is added. A slow oven, 300 to 325 degrees, is used thruout the roasting period.

If the ham comes with the rind on, the rind may be removed, all but a "collar" around the shank, after several hours in the oven. Then the fat may be scored diagonally with a knife and the cooking may be completed with or without a glaze for the meat.

TIME FOR ROASTING HAM.

If you have a meat thermometer, insert it in the ham before roasting, so that the bulb reaches the center of the largest muscle. When the thermometer reaches 170-degrees, the ham is done.

Without a meat thermometer, allow 25 minutes per pound for a whole ham, 30 minutes per pound for a half, unless one of the new, very tender hams is used. These require less time, only 15 to 19 minutes to the pound. Instructions which come with these hams should be followed in cooking. Ninety per cent of the better quality hams marketed by leading packers cook in this shorter time.

GLAZES FOR HAM.

About 45 minutes before the ham is to come from the oven, a glaze may be applied, if desired. Usually the fat is scored first, then the ham is brushed with the glaze.

Strained honey makes an excellent glaze. So does currant jelly. Strained cranberry sauce, grape jelly, and apricot purée sweetened with sugar or honey also may be used.

Maple sirup or any fruit juice boiled to a thick sirup with sugar will do a beautiful job of glazing, too.

Some cooks baste ham during the last hour in the oven with fruit juice, cider, or wine. I don't think these basting liquids change the flavor of the meat itself, but they do flavor the drippings. Fruit or wine flavored sauce or gravy from ham drippings is delicious if the flavor isn't overdone.

Whenever there are alternative methods of playing a hand it is vital to watch the fall of cards on the early rounds. Note today's hand:

♦ A K 10 9
♣ 10 7 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

As may be seen, East and West were pretty well shut out by the course the bidding took, despite the fact that their combined resources would have made a three club contract undefeatable, assuming that the position of the spade queen were guessed. However, East could not safely enter the auction over North's two hearts and West never was in position for a safe bid.

West was rather hard pressed for an opening lead. He might have chosen the diamond queen, but was afraid that this would go into something like the K-10-x in dummy and the ace in declarer's hand, hence decided to make the unorthodox lead of a low club from the ace. Personally, I do not approve such a lead except when the about-to-be dummy has shown strength, in which case a lead away from an ace may go thru a K-J and give the declarer a hard guess. The fact remains that the low club was led and should have been instrumental in later giving declarer a "count" of the adverse distribution.

East took the first trick with the club jack and returned the club king, then shifted to the deuce of diamonds. Declarer's ace won and the club ten was led and ruffed. On this trick West's ace fell, which declarer should have accepted as proof that West now was void of clubs. A spade was led toward the closed hand, East ducked, and the queen lost to the king. West returned the diamond queen. Declarer won with the king and exited with his remaining spade. West's ten held and the spade jack was led back. Declarer ruffed East's ace and now had to make a choice between two lines of play. Dummy's spades had been established; if the trump suit broke 3-3 declarer could lay down the king and queen, then enter dummy with the heart ace and claim the balance. But if the heart suit failed to break, this plan could not succeed.

In order to decide which plan had the better chance of working out, declarer bethought himself of the adverse distribution as revealed up to that point. It was reasonable to assume that West had started with three clubs, and the fact that he had held three spades was established. The fall of the diamonds made it appear almost certain that he had also started with three of these. East had led what was almost surely a fourth best diamond; West had played the diamond eight on the first round and the diamond queen on his own later return. This made it likely that he now had the blank jack. If that were true he had originally started with four hearts and East therefore with only one. Obviously, there was a much greater chance that the jack lay with the four card length than that it was singleton in East's hand. On this sound reasoning declarer now led the diamond ten and, when West covered with the jack, ruffed in dummy. He then led a spade and ruffed with the heart queen, after which he led his last diamond and overruffed West's low heart with dummy's ten spot. When the ten held declarer could claim the balance.

Making an extra trick on this hand gave North-South an excellent match-point score.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Your Children May Not Know You Love Them

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

You may think this is a rather silly question:

Do your children know you love them? I don't mean the soft dependent little bundle that clasps your neck with a warm arm and plants moist kisses on your cheek or chin—your baby; there's no danger of your being reserved with him or with your cozy little runabout son or daughter. It's your older children I'm thinking of, your boisterous, trying 9 or 11 year old, or your 'teen age son or daughter. Do they know you love them?

That question isn't a silly one, because there are many parents who work and plan for their children, who sacrifice, if you like to use the word, for them, who try to build their characters and who correct them, who still do not make those children aware that they love them and approve of them. As an example, I know a man who said to me, "I never got the idea that my father loved me until, when I was about 17, I was in an automobile accident. He was so strict and so reserved that he never showed any of his softer feelings, until then."

Children crave this knowledge, yet because we're reserved or busy criticising them, or even because we think it may not be good for them, some of us let them go thru the years without being aware of our love for them and pleasure in them. Yet we don't adopt these tactics with other people we like.

If you love your husband, you may tell him so. It's no crime. In fact, it's considered rather nice to care for him. I don't believe any one would make fun of you.

To let your children know that they are dear to you is not being sentimental or maudlin, or emotional, or unwholesome. It is merely being human and warm and alive to beauty of feeling.

For what more beautiful knowledge can the world possess for us than to know we are beloved by those whom we love and need in our turn?

PRO FOOTBALL BACK WHERE IT WAS A YEAR AGO

Packers Get Another Shot at Giants.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Except for new records in attendance and 20 phases of individual and team offensive endeavor, the National Football league today is right back where it was a year ago. The New York Giants and Green Bay Packers are paired in the championship playoff, the Cardinals and Pittsburgh are mired in the division cellars, and the poor officials are in ill repute.

The championship game in Milwaukee Sunday will give the Packers an opportunity to take up unfinished business with the Giants, to whom they lost, 23 to 17, amid considerable confusion over Head Linesman Larry Conover's decision on pass play, in last year's playoff. The Packers qualified for the game by defeating the Lions, 12 to 7, in the mud in Detroit Sunday.

Have Precedent in Bears.

New York became the first team to retain a division title after appearing in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S All-Star game since the Bears turned the trick in 1935, by whipping the Washington Redskins, 9 to 7, amid even greater confusion over officiating in New York. Fights among fans and players followed Referee Bill Halloran's decision on Bo Russell's 18 yard place kick for the Redskins in the last 20 seconds of the game Sunday.

Halloran, a leading college official in the east and a veteran among referees, was the official who gave the Giants the ball several inches from their goal after the play on which the Bears insist Bill Osmanski went over for what would have been the winning touchdown in their game in the Polo Grounds on Oct. 22. The Giants won the game, 16 to 13, on three field goals by Ward Cuff.

Cuff will be one of the centers of attraction in the championship game Sunday, for it was in Milwaukee at Marquette university that he first gained acclaim as a football player of extraordinary ability, even tho several teammates were given the larger headlines.

Packers Get Down to Business.

Green Bay definitly established its right to a playoff berth in the second half of the Detroit game. After taking the entire first half to get their mind off the playoff a week hence, the Packers finally adjusted themselves to the mucky going and clearly demonstrated their superiority. New York stuck to its cautious, defensive tactics to whip the Redskins, who earlier in the season had held the Giants to a scoreless tie. The Redskins, however, were powerless against the artistry of Cuff and Ken Strong, the best pair of field goal kickers in the history of professional football.

Off their records for the season, during which they had six opponents in common, there is little to choose between the teams. The Packers lost two games, both by three points and both were free scoring affairs. The Bears conquered the new western division champions, 30 to 27, and Cleveland upset them, 27 to 24. New York's only defeat was an 18 to 14 trouncing by the Lions, whom the Packers defeated twice. Their season records follow:

GREEN BAY.		NEW YORK.
14—Cardinals	10	13—Philadelphia	3
21—Bears	16	0—Washington	0
24—Cleveland	27	14—Pittsburgh	7
27—Cardinals	20	27—Philadelphia	10
26—Detroit	7	16—Bears	13
24—Washington	14	7—Brooklyn	6
17—Bears	30	14—Detroit	18
23—Philadelphia	16	17—Cardinals	7
28—Brooklyn	0	23—Pittsburgh	7
7—Cleveland	6	28—Brooklyn	7
12—Detroit	7	9—Washington	7

The campaign that terminates in the only meeting of the season between these two rivals in Milwaukee Sunday has been the most successful in the National league's history. For the seventh consecutive season attendance has increased, due in a measure to the tendency of professional teams to concentrate on offensive football. Only New York among the ten National league clubs is known as a defensive team.

League Attendance Up.

League attendance will be up approximately 15 per cent over last year when official figures are released, ranging between 1,300,000 and 1,400,000 paid. The Giants-Redskins game set a new high for receipts and attendance for National league games when 62,404 paid approximately $118,000. This was about 2,000 fewer customers than Red Grange drew in an exhibition game between the Bears and Giants in the Polo Grounds in 1925, but is nearly $14,000 more in receipts. The Redskins broke all Washington records in their Detroit game two weeks ago and the Bears played to more fans than the former league record when they invaded the Polo Grounds in October.

Green Bay, four times league champion and winner of the western division title three out of seven times, will not quite reach its 1939 figures because it did not play in the Polo Grounds this year and was not scheduled in Washington. The Packers beat the Redskins in Milwaukee.

The record breaking will continue in the playoff Sunday if the 31,316

Yesterday I met some lads
Who were mostly shoulder pads
And one seemed to have an awful crush on me;
He's a substitute right guard
And he surely is a card
Tho he plays at football very sparingly.

One can certainly be cute
When he's just a substitute,
For he spends most of his days upon the bench;
In the center of his face
So that he is not repulsive to his wench.

This chap has light curly hair
And his countenance is fair.
And he surely can manipulate a wink;
But there's something makes me feel
He's a reconstructed heel
Even tho he's such a really handsome gink.

He's to take me out to lunch,
And I have a sneaking hunch
That he'll want me to eat spinach and boloney;
But I'll order mallard duck
Which will set him back a buck—

NORRIS-STEWART BOUT COMES UP AGAIN TOMORROW

Expect Owner to Talk in Governors' Meeting.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

James Norris Sr., multimillionaire owner-president of the Chicago Stadium and the Detroit Red Wings hockey team as well as a stockholder in other large sports enterprises thruout the United States, tomorrow will have the opportunity to amplify the screaming attack he made on Referee Bill Stewart from a rinkside box at the Toronto-Chicago game in his Stadium Sunday night.

The board of governors of the National Hockey league will meet in New York tomorrow afternoon and Mr. Norris, one of the governors, will be privileged to take the floor and explain his unprecedented action.

He Couldn't Say Much More.

The wealthy sports magnate yesterday was not available to interviewers. And if he had been, there was little he could add to his opinion of Stewart as expressed in his public tirade. Those who sought to question Mr. Norris were said to be curious as to his bitterness toward the Blackhawks, as revealed in his grievance against Stewart. The Hawks last year paid the Stadium in excess of $100,000 rental, altho they were not in the playoffs. It is expected a much larger rental will be paid, on the percentage basis, this season.

Mr. Norris "rode" Stewart thruout the overtime game, for "letting the Blackhawks get away with murder." The Hawks lost the game, 3 to 1, four Hawk players were so severely injured that no practice could be held yesterday and one of the casualties, Phil Hergesheimer, will go on the sidelines for two weeks. Stewart was fired last year in midseason as Hawk manager. These confusing factors, however, failed to cool off the rich sportsman, who reached the most pointed parts of his game-long tirade after the Leafs had gone ahead.

Hawk Officials Silent.

Blackhawk officials remained silent pending action at tomorrow's meeting of the board of governors. It is known, however, that boxholders in the vicinity of the Norris box said they had been annoyed by the Norris blasting and if they hadn't recognized Stewart's heckler as the owner of the building, they would have asked ushers to quiet the incensed hockey and arena magnate. It has been a matter of rather common knowledge that the Hawks hold no especial love for their landlord, but yesterday they accepted silence as the proper procedure until such time as the matter is thrashed out in league councils.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, principal owner of the Hawks, and President Bill Tobin, of the Chicago club, both members of the board of governors, will be present at tomorrow's meeting in New York.

Stewart, who is a National league baseball umpire, went to the winter baseball convention in Cincinnati, but had a chance to say his piece in rebuttal before Sunday night's hockey game was over. He took the riding, his neck very red, until well along in the overtime period.

To call an arbiter a "homer" is

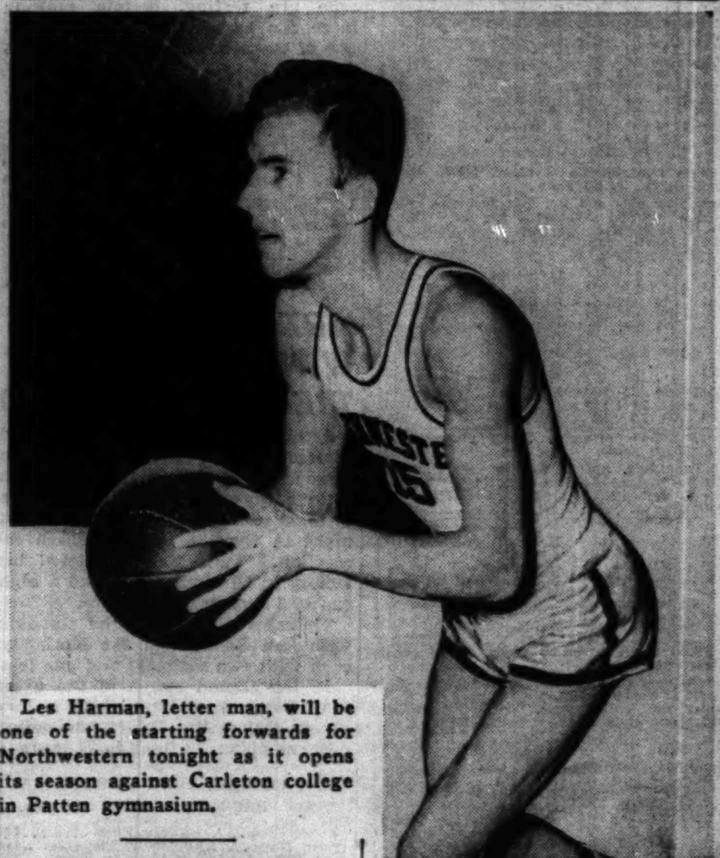
Veteran to Start as N. U. Forward



Les Harman, letter man, will be one of the starting forwards for Northwestern tonight as it opens its season against Carleton college in Patten gymnasium.

First of Season

NORTHWESTERN.		CARLETON.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Carleton college basketball team, which was the first opponent for Iowa Saturday night and for Wisconsin last night, meets Northwestern's Wildcats this evening in Patten gymnasium in the season's inaugural for the Purple. Carleton also opened Northwestern's campaign a year ago and was defeated, 45 to 23, thus becoming the first of the seven opponents the Wildcats whipped last winter.

Victory or defeat tonight is not particularly important to Northwestern except that the result will indicate just how much work Coach Dutch Lonborg must accomplish before Jan. 6 when the Wildcats open the Big Ten season with Purdue. Other nonconference games for Northwestern before Purdue comes to Patten gymnasium are Washington State, Pittsburgh, Princeton, and Notre Dame. All are scheduled for Evanston.

May Start Two Sophomores.

While five lettermen will be available tonight Lonborg is expected to start at least two sophomores with several others also slated for tryouts. The Wildcats won five conference games last year and lost seven. Inability to find forwards who could score consistently was the team weakness. While Northwestern finished sixth in the conference standings, only Chicago scored fewer points.

Bob Koble, last year's center, who has been graduated led the Wildcats in scoring with 90 points in 11 games, but Koble was 12th in the individual scoring. Ad Vance, Northwestern guard, who is captain of this year's quintet, was the next Wildcat to place and he finished 28th with only 57 points. The only Northwestern forward with a position in the first 44 was Chuck Melchoir, who scored 53 points in 11 games and tied for 30th position. This is the reason for Coach Lonborg's decision to give sophomores an opportunity to show their wares.

Harman and Clason to Start.

Fifteen members of the Wildcat squad are sophomores. Capt. Vance probably is the only player assured of steady employment between now and the opening Big Ten game.

Les Harman, a letter man, and Hank Clason, sophomore from Goshen, Ind., will be the starting forwards. Pairing with Vance will be Bob Shepard, a veteran. Dick Klein, a tall sophomore, is an excellent guard prospect.

District Golf Leaders Take Office Tonight

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Chicago District Golf association will be held tonight in the grand ballroom of the La Salle hotel. For many years Chicago fairway fans have been under the impression that the official nature of the gathering has made it a closed event, but officers of the organization this year are stressing a general invitation to everybody interested in the game to attend. The dinner preceding the election and reading of reports will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

Maynard G. [Scotty] Fessenden of Bob O' Link, long one of the most energetic men in local golf, heads the ticket of officers presented by the nominating committee on Oct. 30. This latter group consisted of Walter G. Leininger of Oak Park, chairman; Charles Evans Jr. of Edgewater, and A. D. Plamondon of Bob O' Link. Nomination is tantamount to election.

Supporting Fessenden, who has been nominated to succeed Allan W. Hale of Medinah as president [the latter served two terms], is a ticket consisting of E. A. [Barney] Dolan of Park Ridge, vice president; Lowell D. Rutherford of Medinah, treasurer, and Thomas G. McMahon of Skokie, secretary. Joseph G. Davis of Western Springs, executive secretary, and Charles E. McGuire, general counsel, will continue in their posts, and Hale will be accorded an ex-officio status.

Nominated for directors for the 1940 season are Lynn S. Broaddus of Elmhurst, Howard A. Brundage of Butterfield, R. D. Cameron of Evanston, Gordon G. Crowder of Midlothian, Elmer A. Eulass of Calumet, Dr. J. Earl Harris of Olympia Fields, Melville Keim of Northmoor, J. P. Kiely of South Shore, Charles MacFerran of North Shore, William Otter of Westmoreland, F. M. [Ted] Quinn of Riverside, and Robert F. Zeddies of Exmoor.

Wisconsin Whips Carleton in Opener, 37-19.

Valparaiso, Ind., Dec. 4 [Special].—The Notre Dame basketball team helped dedicate Valparaiso's new $125,000 gymnasium tonight with a 63 to 26 triumph over Valparaiso university. A crowd of 3,000 attended the contest.

George Keogan, Notre Dame coach who served Valparaiso in a similar capacity from 1919 thru 1921, was presented a traveling bag during ceremonies between the halves.

The Irish quintet had little trouble, as Eddie Riska, veteran forward, set a fast pace. Riska accounted for 19 points on nine field goals and a free throw, and had able support from Mark Ertel, center, who dropped four field goals and the same number of foul shots. Eleven of the 13 men Notre Dame used scored.

It was Notre Dame's second triumph of the season. Lineups:

BADGERS WIN, 37 TO 19

Madison, Wis., Dec. 4 [Special].—Wisconsin opened its intercollegiate basketball season with a 37 to 19 victory over Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., in the fieldhouse tonight.

After battling on even terms during the first half the Badgers rolled away to a 30 to 13 lead and reserves finished the game. Carleton was held to two field goals during the first 15 minutes of the second period.

Gene England, Kenosha senior, led the Badgers with six field goals and a free throw, all of them scored in the second half. Capt. Quintus Nelson and Dick Raiter topped Carleton's attack with three baskets each.

Wisconsin held a 12 to 9 lead at the half. Carleton, using the new rule permitting the choice of a free throw or taking the ball out of bounds, turned down 11 chances from the free throw line. Score:

LOYOLA PLAYS TOMORROW

Loyola university's basketball team opens its seventeenth season of play under Coach Lennie Sachs tomorrow night against Arkansas State college in the Alumni gymnasium. A new and inexperienced team faces one of the most ambitious schedules in the north side school's history.

The three veterans, Capt. George Wenskus, Vinny Graham, and Ed Schell, form the nucleus of the new Loyola team. Wenskus, a regular as a sophomore last season, remains at guard. Graham, a substitute forward in 1938-'39, has been shifted to center despite the fact he is only 6 feet tall, being topped by five of the less experienced candidates. Schell has moved up from the substitute to the regular class at forward.

Danny Cahill and Ed Lee probably will get the call for the remaining two starting positions, altho a last minute change would not be unexpected. Cahill, altho a junior, is on the squad for the first time, not having played since his graduation from St. Patrick. At 5 foot 11 inches, Cahill may be at guard, while Lee, a transfer student from the now extinct St. Viator college, will use his 6 feet 1½ inches in height to advantage at forward. Lee also is a junior.

OFFER BARTELL, MATTICK; REDS, PIRATES BALK

Meeting Opens with Lack of Deals.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 4.—Bids so low that they merely created harmless amusement, and at the same time embarrassment for the bidders, featured the opening of the annual big league trading market today. Every club of the sixteen with major rating had delegates on hand and the delegates, operating on the theory that once in a baseball lifetime you might run onto a bargain, weren't backward about what they'd like to get and what they're willing to give.

The only actual development of the first day of a week's market was the announcement that Leo Durocher would be retained for 1940 as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers who last season miraculously transformed themselves from seventh into third placers. But in the wholesale quantity of trade suggestions a flock of prominent athletes were involved and from these feelers there probably will be developments, either within a few days or before the 1940 races get under way.

Bartell, Mattick May Go.

The Cubs, always fairly liberal in their deals, were right in the thick of the whisperings. Clarence Rowland, whose job is to find out what the Chicago club can get in the shape of a tonic and what the price might be, was busier than a tailor seeking to recover a lost needle. It seems that the Cubs' first thought is to try to land a shortstop of reputation, indicating that they have no further use for Dick Bartell, the ex-Giant, and don't place a high value on Bob Mattick, the kid who, to all appearances, did fairly well last season after Bartell had been benched in time to prevent him from setting some kind of a record for errors.

In his haste to interview all the owners or managers of the seven other National league clubs, Rowland didn't have time to stop and reveal details of what was in his mind. But the grapevine route reported that Rowland had talked to Frankie Frisch, the new manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, on the possibilities of the Cubs taking over Arky Vaughan, the Pirates' shortstop. What Rowland offered isn't known but Frisch, who has a keen sense of humor, is supposed to have laughed and started talking about the fun he had as manager of the St. Louis Gas House gang.

McKechnie Admits Cub Offer.

Chicago's shortstop problem also was taken up with Bill McKechnie, who managed the local Reds into a pennant, but saw his boys fall apart before the Yankee onslaught in the world series last October. Bill, who despite his years and successes in baseball remains a sort of nice, honest fellow, admitted he had been approached. The Cubs would like to have Bill Myers, the shortstop, who was great all season but wabbled slightly in the game that ended the

MILKMEN, LOOK! MAYBE YOU HAVE A PRIZE HORSE

Riding Expert Says You Never Can Tell.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Lieut. Wallace Wakem, a slender young man with steady eyes and steady hands, last night told something about the International horse show from the point of view of the rider who settles himself into the saddle and sends his mount at the barriers with the hope that he'll make a well timed takeoff and a clean landing.

Wakem, whose skill has earned him so much prestige that he sometimes has as many as six engagements in an evening, threw some light on the points the judges look for in giving a blue ribbon to a hunter, as distinguished from a jumper. This distinction has puzzled many city folk who have been able to see little difference between the two classes.

It's a Natural Question.

Both are called upon to go high, wide, and handsome in the course of their evening's performances so the average Chicago fellow who has never seen a fox outside of a furrier's establishment may be pardoned for asking what's the difference between a hunter and a jumper.

A hunter, Mr. Wakem explained, is judged from the point of view of his ability to do the job his name implies. In other words, he must look and act like a horse which can carry his rider up hill and down, over timber or stone walls, over flat terrain or rolling meadow, across bogs, and thru brush from the time of the stirrup cup at dawn till the glass of brandy at dusk. In England the hunters are often in the field for ten hours at a stretch, tho in this country they are usually out for a considerably shorter time.

Ah! He's a Streamliner.

A hunter, therefore, is judged for his conformation and his even pace as well as nicks he makes in the fences as he goes over. He must not be an impetuous animal who is likely to get out of hand and run down the hounds. Above all, he must not be a puller, whose hard mouth calls for a tight grip thruout a long day. He must have smooth action so as to give his owner a streamlined ride.

He should have a short, straight back, sloping shoulders, strong quarters, prominent withers—and his legs should not be too long. In other words, he should be built to carry his rider, safely, comfortably, and quickly thru the field. That is the basis of everything on which the judges grant their award of blue ribbons to hunters.

On the other hand a jumper's main job is to jump, Wakem stated. If he can get over the barriers without a fault, he has done his duty. As this young rider remarked, no horse, no matter how good his breeding or conformation, is a jumper until he has proved it, and on the other hand, no horse, no matter how bad his breeding or conformation, is not a jumper until he has demonstrated his inability to get over the barriers. Some good jumpers have been taken off of coal wagons. Some are thorobreds, some are trotters. In other words, even your milkman may have a jumper hitched to his wagon this very morning.

Made Over Race Horse.

Quite a few hunters and jumpers are thorobreds recruited from the race tracks. For instance, Subtlety, a 9 year old mare, which Wakem rode last night, ran at Arlington Park six or seven seasons ago.

Wakem, who is 24 years old, resides at 1430 Lake Shore drive. He is in charge of the jumping string of the 124th field artillery armory.

†Disqualified. Two dollar mutuels paid: Dedication, $12.60 straight, $5.40 place, $3.40 show; Golden Ariel, $4.00 place, $2.80 show; Waringa, $11.20 show.

DEDICATION away well, improved his position in the turn, came with a rush thru the stretch and won drawing out. GOLDEN ARIEL, well up from the start, met with some interference in the stretch but finished with a rush. LAZARUS showed most early speed, saved ground, swerved in front of BARBARA S and others in the stretch and was disqualified. WARINGA, an early trailer, closed with a rush. BARBARA S tired when bothered in the stretch. LITTLE DRIFT could not keep up.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $700. Claiming. One mile and 70 yards. Three year olds and up. Start good. Won handily; place driving. Went to post at 5:31; off at once. Winner, br. f., 3, by Eternal-White Veil. Two dollar mutuels paid: Wedding Morn, $20.80 straight, $9.40 place, $4.20 show; Khar Fair, $6.40 place, $2.80 show; Waugh Pop, $2.80 show.

WEDDING MORN, well handled, was kept just off the early pace and free of interference, responded to call entering the stretch and, disposing of WAUGH POP, was safe from KHAR FAIR. Latter, a keen factor from the start, raced in close quarters in the turn, but held on with fine courage. SHERRY B. far back early, closed with a rush. LOCK weakened after racing well. CEASELESS, far back early, failed to respond when put to a drive.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $600. Claiming. Three year olds and up. One and one-sixteenth miles. Start good. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 5:56. At post 1½ minutes. DOWN PAYMENT, well up from the start and hard ridden to keep up, came with a good rush in the stretch and, passing MARGARET JONES, was safe from MERRY FREDA. Latter, far back early, closed fast in the last quarter. MARGARET JONES tired after holding a good early lead. CROSS RUFF, a keen factor from the start, raced evenly. PROPOSING suffered much interference and finished fast. U DEMON weakened after gaining a contending position. EASTERNER raced wide.

In editions of the Sunday TRIBUNE it was incorrectly stated that the civic dinner for the Notre Dame football team would be held Dec. 4 in South Bend. The dinner will be given on Monday, Dec. 11.

Only 10 Teams Still Untied and Unbeaten

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—With one possible upset remaining, the list of unbeaten and untied survivors of those hundreds of college football teams which started with high hopes back in September has been reduced to only 10.

Tennessee's great team, winner of nine straight and generally rated the best in the south, still has to meet Auburn next Saturday. The other nine are resting, certain nothing more can happen unless they go to one of those bowl games New Year's day.

Records of the undefeated and untied teams:

ART THURNBLAD WINS TO STAY IN TIE FOR CUE LEAD

Arthur Thurnblad, former world champion, kept the Chicago open three cushion billiard tournament in a three-way tie for first place with a 50 to 28 victory over Jess Jacobs last night in the 131 South Wabash recreation. Thurnblad completed his victory in 50 innings and had a high run of 5 against Jacobs' 4.

Thurnblad is tied in the standing with Len Kenny and Joe Moriarity, each with two victories and one loss.

In the second match of the night Paul Lewin scored his third victory by defeating Ed Peters, defending city champion, 42 to 41 in 71 innings.

NORRIS-STEWART BOUT COMES UP AGAIN TOMORROW

Expect Owner to Talk in Governors' Meeting.

the biggest insult which can be hurled at a sports official, next to accusing him of being an accepter of bribes. It means, as you know, that the official plays up to the applause of the home crowd at the expense of fairness to the visiting team. And Mr. Norris called Mr. Stewart "a homer who doesn't dare to call penalties."

This sally is what broke down Stewart, still busy trying to concentrate on the play before him. "You're a hell of a governor and a sport," hollered Referee Bill. "I'm not helping pay your salary to hear you tell it," shouted Magnate Jim. "I'm going to turn you in for your terrible work tonight. I'm going to have you fired."

"You can turn me in and you can have me fired and there are other things you can do," retorted Stewart, "but you can't referee games from a box while I'm on the ice."

The five fights on the ice in addition to the Norris-Stewart air match left the Hawks with a total of six cripples, counting hangovers from earlier misfortunes. Earl Seibert, who has been out of five games with a torn leg ligament, will be out for 10 more days. Hergesheimer, who was out of early games with a spine injury suffered in training camp, will be out as a result of an injured knee.

Mush March will continue to play with a five stitch wound over his right eye, as will Des Smith with a four stitcher on his forehead. George Allen has a bad knee and Art Weibe is cut up and bruised. It is probable that the Hawks will recall Ab DeMarco and John Chad from their Providence farm before Thursday night's game with the New York Americans.

22 Maroons Get Awards; Dine Tonight

Twenty-two members of the University of Chicago football squad will receive major letters and a captain for the 1940 season will be elected tonight at the annual Maroon banquet in Hutchinson Commons.

Eight minor varsity letters and 22 freshman numerals also will be awarded. In addition 22 other freshmen will receive reserve numerals—an award which has not been made since 1931.

With announcement of the honor roll last night, it also was determined that Bob Wasem, named the most valuable player to the squad, played 444 minutes out of a possible 480 during the 1939 season. Lou Letts played 400 minutes, John Davenport, 392 and Don Wilson, 384.

Varsity major letter winners follow:

Minor letter winners:

Bob Dean, John Keller, Bob Kibele, Bill Kimball, Bill Leach, Wallace, Ottenson, John Palmer, Andrew Stehney.

Touch Ball Accident Fatal to Robert Zencka

Because tackling is eliminated, touch football is regarded by many as safer than football. But touch football yesterday cost the life of Robert Zencka, 15 years old, of 8535 Exchange avenue. He died of blood poisoning, which physicians said resulted from a cut on his arm suffered when he fell in a game last Thursday.

CUBS MAKE BIDS FOR BILLY MYERS, ARKY VAUGHAN

Offer Bartell, Mattick for New Shortstop.

McKechnie, appreciating that his outfield can't hit as well as it should, if he is going to repeat, wants an outfielder able to fill the bill. Even tho Myers stumbled to some extent in the series, Deacon Bill hasn't quit on him, because he has nobody to take over the job. The Cubs haven't an outfielder of the kind McKechnie wants. The Cubs may have offered Bartell for Myers, but apparently McKechnie didn't go for that argument. So it doesn't look like if the Cubs will get either Vaughan or Myers unless they surrender kind for kind in ability, and the Cubs are kind of shy on pennant winning commodities.

Dykes Seeks Outfielder.

Jim Dykes, the White Sox manager, is here but is still living in the last football season so may need a few more days in which to get his mind acclimated. He claims he has nothing definite about trades in view, but he was caught a couple of times in conversation with Fred Haney, manager of St. Louis' luckless Browns. Dykes, it is said, has an idea he would like to take either Julius Solters or Myril Hoag from the Browns and give them an outfielder in return. He might be thinking of offering either Larry Rosenthal or Hank Steinbacher.

With Coach Billy Webb promoted to the job of overseeing the Sox minor league affiliations, there's a vacancy in the third base coaching box, but Dykes claims he isn't going to fill it. He still has Monty Stratton and Muddy Ruel as coaches, and if the latter continues to spend his afternoons working on pitchers in the bull pen Dykes will take over the traffic duties on the third base line. The manager is still eligible to play third base, but is beginning to suspect that in the interest of personal safety it might be advisable for him to stay on the foul side of the line.

McPhail Plays His Part.

Brooklyn's signing of Durocher was announced this afternoon by Larry MacPhail, the directing genius of the Dodgers. He sent out a call for all the newspaper men who were somewhat awed when they saw he was occupying nothing less than the Netherland Plaza presidential suite. Clad in white flannel pajamas, which he probably dragged off his yacht when winter set in, he strolled in and announced that Durocher would continue as manager, altho terms had not been agreed upon. Durocher will fix the terms and the contract will be signed some time in February.

The colorful MacPhail also revealed a few of the items he hopes to take up before going back to Flatbush. At one time he made a $200,000 offer for Joe Medwick of the Cardinals and the latter wouldn't budge. At the last world series he renewed his plea, but cut the price to $100,000, with possibly one or two players thrown in for good measure. The last offer still stands and MacPhail hopes the St. Louis chiefs, Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey, haven't forgotten about it. The Cubs claim they are not in on the Medwick bidding.

They All Want Max West.

The Dodgers also are interested in Max West of the Boston Bees outfield. In this respect they are no different than six other National league clubs. All have felt out the Boston club on this proposition, but have made no headway. Brooklyn's known offer is cash and some players.

Dick Coffman, recently released by the Giants after several seasons of valiant work as a relief pitcher, is trying to interest Gabby Hartnett, the Cub manager, in his services. Red Lucas, ex-Red and Pirate, now a free agent, also is seeking a job of one kind or another. Bill Terry of the Giants wants to give Zeke Bonura to somebody, but intends to withhold the gift until after he has determined his chances of dealing for First Baseman Buddy Hassett of the Bees or Elburt Fletcher of the Pirates.

An hour after returning from a hunting trip today, Paul Derringer, Cincinnati pitching star, signed a 1940 contract at a salary reported to be $20,000.

Hunters Turn Guns on Dixie Quail Areas

BY BOB BECKER.

With the Illinois duck and wild geese season ending today and the quail season almost over, northern sportsmen are looking southward across the Mason and Dixon line for a continuance of their fields sport. The southern states not only are able to enjoy duck hunting until Dec. 29, but they also have an abundance of quail for their kingpin sport—what they call "bird huntin'."

The season is barely under way in some of the southern states. Mississippi, for example, opened its season on Nov. 30 with many Chicago hunters on hand to ride horses behind the wide-going bird dogs.

Setters and Pointers Work.

We made a quick trip to Hazlehurst, Miss., a little town about 35 miles below Jackson, a few days ago to watch the fun that attends the start of the quail season. We found all the excitement and the features that make southern Bob White shooting so attractive to a northern hunter.

Setters and pointers anxious to go and racing thru the fragrant pine woods and the weedy thickets . . . smiling colored boys in the expeditions to hold the horses when the shooting started . . . the warm, southern sunshine . . . the picnic lunch in the open with cracklin' bread making a big hit with the northern hunters . . . a thrilling fox hunt at night with the hounds making a kill after a four hour race . . . these are just a few of the most colorful and appealing features of a Bob White hunt in Mississippi where sportsmen take so much pride in their setters and pointers.

Hunt in Heavy Timber.

Making the Brown's Wells plantation, about 10 miles from Hazlehurst, our headquarters, we followed the dogs thru several different types of quail country. Sometimes the setters located coveys in the heaviest timber and undergrowth where the shots were sporty and it was difficult to mark down the birds. One day our Chicago hunting expedition which included Paul C. Warren J. H. Van Moss, and Jerry D. Brandon, found coveys on a big extensively cultivated plantation. There was considerable variety in the shots we had at birds.

On our last morning hunt of the trip Blanche, a steady old pointer, put on a show for us by finding a big covey in woods so open that it looked as if we were hunting in a beautiful park. Here we joined J. V. L. and Van Moss for a covey rise shot that was all but made to order. Inasmuch as the Bob Whites have had a good nesting season in Mississippi the birds are quite plentiful this year and we noticed that they have lost none of their cunning. They know how to hide in dense thickets.

Scalzo, Chavez to Meet Dec. 22 for Title Chance

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—Petey Scalzo of New York and Simon Chavez, Venezuelan fighter, today signed for a 10 round featherweight bout to be held in Madison Square Garden Dec. 22. They will fight at 126 pounds. The winner will be offered a bout with Champion Joey Archibald.

Lee Savold Knocks Out Maurice Strickland in 3d

Lake Forest Beats Alumni in Basket Opener, 73 to 36

Lake Forest college opened its basketball season last night with a 73 to 36 victory over an alumni team.

Fight Decisions

At Des Moines, Ia.—Lee Savold knocked out Maurice Strickland [3].
At New York—Maxie Shapiro beat Wally Hally [8]; Tony Grippo stopped Frank Van [3]; Jimmy Cass beat Eddie Van Alstyne [4].
At Baltimore, Md.—Lew Feldman beat Bucky Taylor [10].
At Newark, N. J.—Joe Marinelli and Morris Parker drew [10].
At Galveston, Tex.—Wild Bill McDowell beat Bandit Villaverde [10].
At Toronto, Ont.—Lew Transparenti beat Norman [Baby] Yack [10].

Lee Oma, Detroit light heavyweight, scored a 10 round victory over Bob Ray of Decatur, Ill., in Marigold Gardens last night. Oma was unable to land his dangerous right until the fifth round when he floored Ray twice for nine counts.

Ray came back in the seventh and battled on even terms as Oma tired and succeeded in taking the eighth. A crowd of 1,320 paid gross receipts of $1,614.54. Oma weighed 175 pounds, 15½ less than Ray.

Joe Spiegel, Milwaukee 139 pounder, won a split decision over Bobby McIntyre, also of Detroit, in a six round semi-final.

Don Goldberg, Milwaukee middleweight, knocked out Coons Peterson in the first round of the opener.

A 12 round return bout between Davey Day, Chicago boxer, and Sammy Angott of Louisville took on grudge aspect with Angott's arrival yesterday. They meet in Chicago Stadium Friday.

Angott came steaming into town bearing a chip on his shoulder. The chip represented Sammy's No. 1 lightweight rating and he dared his Chicago rival to knock it off.

Angott, who won a close decision in 10 rounds in a previous battle against Davey in the same arena on Oct. 6, charged Day is not a legitimate lightweight. Davey scoffed at this and reiterated he still can reduce to 135 pounds and retain his strength.

Day said he will claim Angott's high position if he emerges victorious this time, a fact which has made Sammy fighting mad.

After doing loosening up exercises in Trafton's gymnasium Angott made it plain that he will not relinquish his rating unless the rangy Chicagoan makes the class limit. The agreed weight is 137 pounds, two more than the lightweight mark.

Two south section Golden Gloves winners, Harold Rodie and Tommy Mair, head the team of the 124th Field Artillery boxers who will appear on Promoter Jack Biggerstaff's weekly amateur ring card tonight in Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue.

Four Chicagoans Will Start for the Bruins Tomorrow

Coach Sam Lifschultz of the Chicago Bruins yesterday placed four Chicago lads and one Californian in the starting lineup which will face the Oshkosh All-Stars tomorrow night in the National Basketball league opener at the 132d Regiment armory, 2653 West Madison street.

The four local boys are Mike Novak and Wibs Kautz of Loyola university, Willie Phillips and Frank Linskey of De Paul university, and the lone outsider is Eddie Oran of the University of Southern California. The towering Novak, of course, will be at center, Kautz and Phillips at forward, and Linskey and Oran at guard.

According to the way Lifschultz worked the club yesterday in a practice game Marv Colen will be the first string relief man at guard, Tony Cary at forward, and Elmer Johnson, former Northwestern star, at center.

In the curtain raiser, scheduled at 8 o'clock, the Spencer Coal Girls will meet the Cicero Co-eds. The professional game will follow approximately an hour later.

Interest of the fans tomorrow night very likely will be largely centered in the performances of Novak and Kautz, who will be making their pro debuts after leading Loyola to 21 straight victories last season before the Ramblers finally succumbed to Long Island university in the Madison Square Garden tournament.

FOOTBALL TEAM NETS $256,000 FOR MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 4 [Special].—The Michigan board in control of physical education announced today that a net profit of $256,000 had been earned on the 1939 fotball season just completed. The estimated attendance for the five home games with Michigan State, Iowa, Yale, Minnesota, and Ohio State was 298,345.

It also was announced by Fielding H. Yost, athletic director, that the board had approved retirement of $75,000 worth of stadium bonds to be selected by lot and called Dec. 5. In the last three years $125,000 in bonds have been retired with $900,000 worth still outstanding.

MORTON JUNIOR COLLEGE BEATS HERZL, 58 TO 47

Morton junior college pulled away from Herzl in the second half to win their Illinois Junior College conference game yesterday at Herzl. The score was 58 to 47. They were tied, 25 to 25, at half time. Score:

seats in the Wisconsin Fair grounds are sold.

Every team offensive record, with one exception, was wiped off the books as the Bears, the Rams, the Redskins, the Eagles, the Giants, and the Lions participated in establishing new marks.

The Bears broke six as their freshmen stars, Sid Luckman, Billy Patterson, Bob Macleod, and Bill Osmanski gave them a fresh impetus. They accounted for four records in ground gaining and two in scoring by running up 298 points and 3,988 yards against opponents.

Washington and Green Bay also exceeded the former 11 game marks in these departments. Those three clubs largely were responsible for the new league scoring high of 1,692 points—208 more than were chalked up last year.

Four Passing Records Set.

Four new passing records were written into the books and they in turn led to a fifth mark—a new high in efficiency for the league. Cleveland with 127 completions in 253 tosses for 50.1 per cent broke the former mark for 250 or more passes thrown. The Rams also broke the old completion total by 13.

Washington eclipsed the league efficiency mark by more than nine per cent by completing 117 out of 201 passes for 58.2 per cent. Detroit and Philadelphia each completed 21 passes in one game, three more than the old mark. A total of 951 completions out of 2,238 brought the league efficiency mark to 42.4 per cent—or two percent better than ever before.

New York, with 14 field goals, reached a new high in that department and helped lift the league mark to 55. Detroit tied another field goal mark with four successful placements in one game.

The only record to stand against this avalanche was the 2,885 yards made rushing by the Detroit Lions in their 1936 campaign.

CRANE AND LANE PLAY THURSDAY IN SOCCER FINAL

The championship of the Chicago Public High School Soccer league will be decided Thursday afternoon when Crane Tech and Lane Tech., who finished their regular schedules in a first place tie, meet at Winnemac park in a play-off game at 3 p. m.

Lane, co-champion last season with Tilden Tech, qualified for the title match as a result of a decision rendered yesterday by the soccer committee. The ruling awarded the disputed Lane-Kelly 1 to 1 tie of Oct. 25 to Lane on the basis of the referee's report.

Crane won six games and lost two, while Lane won five, lost one and tied two.

Justice Faces Life Ban from Pro Football

New York, Dec. 4 [Special].—As movie studios prepared pictures for public release which tend to show Washington's riot-provoking field goal attempt at the Polo grounds yesterday to be good, Ed Justice, Redskin half back, tonight faced a $500 fine and life suspension from the National Pro Football league.

Justice's jeopardy was made clear in a statement from Carl Storck, league president, in Dayton, O., as he awaited a full report from Referee Bill Halloran, the official who ruled the deciding last minute field goal no good.

The Giants won, 9 to 7, to clinch the eastern division title.

"If Justice struck Halloran," said Storck in a telephone interview, "he's out of football forever and will be forced to pay a $500 fine. If he even attempted to strike the official, even though he did not succeed, then he'll be suspended for a year or more and fined $500. I will act on the case tomorrow when Halloran's report is on my desk."

Storck made it plain that league officials must have protection. "Any man who does what Justice is alleged to have done can expect only the harshest of treatment from myself and others in authority," he said.

Shapiro Easily Defeats Hally in 8 Round Bout

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—Maxie Shapiro, 130¾, New York, easily outpointed Wally Hally, 135, Los Angeles, in an eight round bout in St. Nicholas palace tonight. Shapiro worked inside Hally's swings and did considerable damage with short lefts followed by hard rights. In four round preliminaries, Tony Grippo, 133¾, New York, stopped Frankie Van, 132, Bayonne, N. J., in 50 seconds of the third and Jimmy Casa, 157½, New York, outpointed Eddie Van Alstyne, 160.

NORTH CENTRAL SCHOOLS ELECT PROF. VAN HORNE

The annual series of winter meetings of intercollegiate football coaches, athletic directors, and faculty representatives of the central states started on a harmonious note yesterday with completion of the North Central conference meeting in the Sherman hotel.

Election of officers, selection of sites and dates for spring sports competitions, and official recognition of South Dakota State, North Dakota university, and South Dakota university as 1939 football co-champions were the major items of business completed.

The North Central meeting, however, was only a forerunner of three similar events scheduled for Chicago later this week. Foremost will be the three day gathering of Western conference officials, starting Friday. Also on the week-end docket are meetings of the Illinois Intercollegiate, Illinois College, and Midwest conferences.

Prof. Robert Van Horne, head of the department of mathematics at Morningside college, was elected president of the North Central conference, succeeding L. M. Bradfield of Omaha university. Dr. Marshall McKusick, dean of the law school at the University of South Dakota, was chosen vice president. Prof. Harry C. Severin of South Dakota State college was reelected secretary treasurer for the tenth year. Other members of the board of faculty representatives are H. E. Rath of Iowa State Teachers' college, Charles Hoff of Omaha university, O. O. Churchill of North Dakota State, and G. A. Talbert of North Dakota university.

"THE BRIDGE PLAYERS" at GREAT NORTHERN HOTEL

VOTE MEISTER BRÄU BEST—28 to 4

WHEN members of "The Bridge Players" gathered for an evening of play at their club rooms in the Great Northern Hotel, they were asked to taste Meister Bräu Beer, compare it with other brands of bottled beer, and vote the results of their comparison by secret ballot. These past masters at the art of remembering, which is vital in the game of bridge, voted Meister Bräu the best of bottled beers by the landslide majority of 7 to 1.

The photo shows from left to right, playing a hand: R. A. Pick, life insurance and annuities, 43 E. Bellevue; Julius C. Bank, Certified Public Accountant, 135 S. LaSalle; S. V. Independent Investigator Stages Showdown Tests on Public Preference in Beer

To learn what brand of bottled beer leads in sales, Chicago newspapers secured figures from leading beer retailers. These reports showed Meister Bräu away out in front by from 2 to 1 to 10 to 1. The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation was asked to check on this amazing popularity and determine the reason for it, by holding taste-and-compare tests where groups of men and women gather.

These tests show that the old-time, all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu gives it this astonishing preference both with those who remember back to the old days and with those who appreciate top quality.

BROAD DEMAND FOR HOGS HOLDS PRICES STEADY

Receipts Lower; Weather Aids Pork Sales.

Colder weather, broader demand for fresh pork in wholesale channels, some decrease in receipts of hogs, and reports current in the trade that packers consider pork sufficiently low to be put into storage were the supporting factors in the market at the Chicago stockyards yesterday. Pork recovered some of the recent losses, while hog prices held fully steady with last week's close.

There was a broad demand for hogs on both local and shipping account, with competition brisk in all weights.

Low Bidders Get Few Hogs.

A few buyers who attempted to make a slight saving in their costs obtained very small purchases. Others filled large orders and in spots paid higher prices. The top at $5.75 was steady with the practical top of last Friday. The day's average also held steady at $5.45.

Packers reported a broad demand for pork, with less of it being unloaded for selling under pressure. Loins rose 50 cents to $1.00 a hundred pounds during the day, with the range at $11.00 to $13.00. This was $1.00 to $1.50 above last week's low spot.

Range of Hog Prices.

A large share of the day's receipts of hogs consisted of good 190 to 250 pound averages that sold from $5.40 to $5.70. Butchers weighing 260 to 280 pounds sold mostly at $5.30 to $5.40, while a few lots of 300 to 400 pound averages ranged from $5.00 to $5.25. Most sows weighed from 350 to 450 pounds and brought $4.70 to $5.00.

Cattle met broad demand at strong to higher prices yesterday. Advances of 15 to 25 cents were general in most classes of steers and yearlings. Top loads brought $11.25.

Slaughter lambs were draggy, despite action in other meat animals. Prices were steady to 15 cents lower with the best available going at $9.10.

Canada Agrees to Supply Great Britain with Bacon

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 4 (AP).—The Canadian government announced today Canada undertook to supply Great Britain with 4,480,000 pounds of bacon weekly under an agreement with the British government. It said the price agreed upon for Wiltshire sides was $20.18 [about $17.50 in United States currency] for an English hundredweight of 112 pounds, free on board Canadian seaboard.

MEMBER REPORTS.

My broker tells me that members of the New York Stock exchange are required to file numerous reports which are intended to protect the investing public. What are some of these reports?—K. F.

Answer: The stock exchange requires its members and member firms to report on various activities. Some of the reports are:

1. Daily record of margin calls in which initial or additional margin is obtained in customers' accounts.

2. Four times a year at the request of the committee on member firms replies must be submitted to a financial questionnaire. The committee may ask that an independent audit be made of the member's accounts, assets and securities held in safekeeping for customers.

3. Firms not carrying margin accounts must report at least once a year on the condition of securities held in safekeeping.

4. Any unsecured loan of more than $2,500 must be reported. The committee may also call for statements of the amount of money borrowed on time and on call as of the last business day of each month.

5. Participation in any joint account for trading in listed securities must be reported and approved by the committee before any transactions can be made.

6. Security transactions executed in this country for accounts of foreign customers and transactions in foreign exchanges for domestic accounts must be reported weekly.

7. Customers' debit and credit balances and short positions and on money loaned and borrowed.

8. Total dollar amount of security sales made on the exchange and settled, together with the total number of shares and total principal amount of bonds. On this monthly report is based the registration fee paid to the Securities and Exchange commission.

9. Expense incurred in entertainment of persons other than employés, including the names of the persons and the nature of the entertainment. There reports are made only upon the request of the committee.

VENEZUELA.

Does Venezuela have any external dollar debt?—G. P.

Answer: The United States of Venezuela, established in 1830 after secession from Colombia, is among the few nations of the world which have no external debt. Until 1906 the history of the Venezuelan external debt was disturbed by repeated defaults and adjustments. After 1906 the government met all its external obligations and in 1930 completed retirement of its entire foreign debt in commemoration of the centennary of the death of its national hero, Bolivar.

In 1935 the internal debt was ordered redeemed, and five year bonds were offered in exchange. The Venezuelan government now has only short term obligations. Taxes on the petroleum industry, the government's most lucrative source of revenue, mainly account for Venezuela's freedom from long term debt.

CORN ADVANCES AS EXPORTERS ASK FOR OFFERS

Europe Is Expected to Need Grain Soon.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.
Wheat	$ .89%	$0.89%
Corn	.54⅛	.54⅛
Oats	.37⅛	.37⅛
Rye	.57⅛	.56⅞
Soy beans	1.07⅛	1.06⅞

Corn was the leader in the grain markets yesterday. Prices advanced despite a heavy undertone in wheat during the early trading. Closing trades on corn futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at gains of ¼ to ⅝ cent.

Reports that exporters were asking for offers of cash corn for shipment had some effect on sentiment. Although no sales could be confirmed, grain handlers expressed confidence that Europe would take considerable corn in the near future.

Other Grains Rally After Dip.

Wheat, oats and rye were lower early, but rallied late in the session. Wheat closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher, the latter on the July delivery, which was affected by continued dry weather in the west and southwest. Chicago experts will issue reports today estimating the acreage and condition of winter wheat.

Country offerings of cash corn for deferred shipment to Chicago remain small. Illinois farmers are said to be refusing to sell their surplus grain because they can secure about 10 cents more a bushel by pledging it as security for government loans.

Corn Shipped East by Lakes.

Additional shipments of cash corn will be made from Chicago via lake to eastern ports this week, it is understood. Uncertainty regarding conditions in Europe, it was said, has resulted in many eastern distributors and industries laying in liberal supplies this fall in order to be assured that grain will be available when needed.

Lack of support was largely responsible for an early decline in wheat prices, brokers said. The market became more active late in the session, when some of the early sellers tried to cover short sales and found offerings small.

MARSHALL FIELD TO PAY COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND

Clears Arrearages on Preferred.

Directors of Marshall Field & Co. yesterday declared the first common stock dividend since 1931 and ordered payment of a $9 arrearage on the preferred stock. Stanley Field was elected chairman of the executive committee of the company and James Simpson Jr. was made a member of the committee. Both succeed the late James Simpson.

James Simpson Jr.

The common stock dividend, amounting to 30 cents a share, will be paid Dec. 26 to stock of record Dec. 15. No previous disbursement has been made on the common shares since Dec. 1, 1931. The distribution of $9 a share on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, payable Dec. 26 to stock of record Dec. 15, clears up accumulations on that issue.

Regular Preferred Dividends.

Besides these disbursements, directors also voted a regular quarterly payment of $1.50 a share on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred and on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred, second series. These dividends are payable Dec. 31 to stock of record Dec. 15.

Stanley Field has been a director of the company for 33 years. He served as first vice president from 1906 to 1917. James Simpson Jr. has been a director for nine years.

The directors' actions were taken immediately following stockholders' approval of a proposed plan of reorganization and recapitalization of the company. Holders of more than 78 per cent of the common stock and 99 per cent of the preferred voted in favor of the plan, which calls for a reduction of $5,400,000 in the preferred stock outstanding. The plan was proposed Nov. 8.

Preferred Stock Reduced.

Reduction of outstanding preferred stock was one of two major financial objectives undertaken by the company during the year. The other was accomplished last May thru the purchase of the land underlying the main retail store and annex building. This purchase terminated leases under which $90,000,000 of rent would have been due in the next 85 years. The immediate effect was a reduction in fixed rental charges at the rate of $950,000 a year.

The plan of reorganization calls for exchange of outstanding preferred stock for common stock, and issuance of a new series of preferred stock. It offers holders of the present 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock ½ share of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, second series, and 2¾ shares of common stock for each share of preferred stock.

Will Make Offer for Stock.

Frederick D. Corley, president, told stockholders the company also expected to offer to purchase up to 82,733 shares of its preferred stock from stockholders at $83.50 a share after payment of the $9 accrued dividends and the $1.50 payment for the current quarter. Corley said the directors had determined that its cash position was strong enough to use some of its excess funds for retirement of an additional amount of the preferred stock.

Holders of more shares than the company is now in a position to buy have already indicated their willingness to sell their shares at the $83.50 price, Corley declared.

"We have been advised that the holders of at least 108,000 shares of preferred stock will make the exchange on the basis offered," he continued.

Effect of Preferred Reduction.

"This will reduce our outstanding preferred stock by about $5,400,000 and will also reduce our preferred dividend requirements by about $324,000 a year. Exchange of this number of shares of preferred stock will require the issuance of about 300,000 additional shares of common stock."

Holders of the preferred stock making the exchange under the plan will be excluded from the $9 a share accumulated dividend on the 6 per cent preferred but will receive the current quarter payment of $1.50 on the preferred, second series, and 30 cents a share on the common stock received in exchange. Dec. 14 was fixed as the final date on which preferred shares may be exchanged under the plan.

RE-ELECT WILSON TO HEAD BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Percy Wilson, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., was reëlected president of the Chicago Better Business bureau yesterday. Kenneth E. Rice, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, was named vice president. Fred A. Cuscaden, first vice president of the Northern Trust company, was chosen treasurer.

The following were reëlected: Nathaniel Leverone, president of the Automatic Canteen Company of America, vice president; A. R. Floreen, vice president of the City National Bank and Trust company, vice president, and Kenneth Barnard, general manager of the bureau, secretary.

Bulova Watch Votes to Pay Extra Dividend

Bulova Watch company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 50 cents, and a regular quarterly payment of the same amount, both payable Dec. 21 to holders of record of Dec. 15. The payments bring the total paid on common stock in 1939 to $3, the same amount paid in 1938.

Dividends were also declared by two motor parts manufacturers. Ex-Cell-O corporation, Detroit, Mich., announced a dividend of 30 cents, payable Dec. 22 to record Dec. 14. The declaration brings 1939 payments to $1, in comparison with 60 cents in 1938.

Hein-Werner Motor Extra.

Hein-Werner Motor Parts corporation, Waukesha, Wis., officials voted an extra of 30 cents payable Dec. 22 to record Dec. 12. The regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents was previously declared payable Dec. 15. Besides the quarterly payments during the year, the company also paid an extra of 10 cents in March, and paid a total of 60 cents in 1938.

A special dividend of $1 a share was declared by directors of the Beatrice Creamery company, large midwestern creamery with headquarters in Chicago. The dividend is payable Jan. 2 to record Dec. 14. Directors also authorized the regular quarterly of 25 cents on common stock payable the same date.

Grumman Aircraft Engineering corporation declared a year-end payment of 55 cents on capital stock, payable Dec. 27 to holders of record Dec. 14.

Brown Quits Agricultural Bureau Post to Join TVA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—President Roosevelt accepted today the resignation of Harry L. Brown, assistant secretary of agriculture. Brown will become affiliated with the Tennessee Valley authority. The resignation becomes effective tomorrow. Brown, who was appointed from Georgia, will become chief of the TVA division of test demonstrations and assistant director of the authority's department of agricultural relations.

COURT HOLDS FEDERAL PAY-HOUR ACT VALID AGAINST CHICAGO FIRM

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday upheld the constitutionality of the federal wage and hour law. The ruling was given in a case involving the Chicago Macaroni company, 2170 Canalport avenue, and three officials of the company.

Government prosecutors said the ruling was the first in the country on a criminal prosecution under the wage and hour law.

The company, Fred Matalone, president; Steve Matalone, his brother, secretary, and Joseph Matalone, the latter's son, vice president, were named in indictments returned by the grand jury last July. They were charged with failure to pay minimum wages of 25 cents an hour, failure to pay overtime, and falsification of and failure to keep required records. Conviction carries a possible maximum fine of $10,000 for the first offense.

Judge Barnes overruled motions to quash the indictments on grounds of unconstitutionality. Attorney M. K. Hunt of Kirkland Fleming, Green, Martin & Ellis represented the defendants. Judge Barnes set the trial for Jan. 16.

OIL PROPERTIES WERE EXPLOITED, SAYS STIMSON

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—Counsel for the Pan American Petroleum and Transportation company charged in state Supreme court today that the Standard Oil company of Indiana "exploited" Pan American properties for the benefit of Standard and to the injury of Pan American stockholders.

The accusation was made by Col. Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of state, in a suit to restrain the Indiana company and the Standard Oil company of New Jersey from allegedly attempting to forestall competition by Pan American.

The suit was brought by the estate of Louis Blaustein, late Pan American president, and his son, Jacob, executive vice president. The suit asked an accounting of $50,000,000 Pan American contended it lost as a result of Standard's action.

Ralph Harris, counsel for Standard of Indiana, said the company had lived up to its agreement made in 1933 when it assumed control of Pan American.

PARKINSON RAPS NEW DEAL FOR FARM POLICIES

New Deal policies are opening the door to a flood of foreign agricultural products and closing the door against the sale of American products abroad, Thomas I. Parkinson of New York, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, charged last night.

He expressed the thought that subsidy payments to American farmers may be used as a weapon to secure more governmental domination over agriculture, in addressing the 10th annual meeting of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers at the Great Northern hotel.

"We in business are not much concerned with government punishment as we are with government foolishness," he said, terming the Florida canal project an example of "foolishness." He assailed the New Deal easy money policy as a blow to insurance policy holders and savings bank depositors, and condemned reciprocal trade agreements as harmful to American farmers.

Bankers Clash Over Award of Utility's Bonds

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—A Securities and Exchange commission hearing turned today into a clash between Wall street and other investment bankers. The hearing was on the request of the Consumers Power company of Jackson, Mich., to sell $28,594,000 of bonds publicly and 125,000 shares of common stock to the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, which owns the rest of Consumers Power's common.

The proposed public sale of bonds had been allotted to Morgan, Stanley & Co., Bonbright & Co., and 25 associated banking firms. However, Otis & Co. of Cleveland, O., a group of Michigan bankers, and Halsey, Stuart & Co. of Chicago protested they had not been given a chance to handle the financing and would have offered better terms.

Half Million Fees Involved.

The controversy involves more than a half million dollars in fees on the sale of the bonds.

Former United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio appeared as counsel for Otis & Co. He will not complete until tomorrow a formal petition of intervention in the case. Then it will be up to the commission to decide whether he and his clients can participate.

William R. Daley, president of Otis & Co., asserted that altho he and associated bankers were primarily interested in making money out of handling the financing, they were interested also to test the asserted right of bankers in his area to handle financing of corporations operating in that territory.

Company Selects Bankers.

Jacob Hekma of New York, vice president of Commonwealth and Southern, testified that he and Wendell Willkie, president, made up the full list of underwriters after consulting the Morgan and Bonbright firms. No other groups were considered, he said, because the company was well satisfied with the way these bankers had handled previous financing.

Officials of Consumers Power explained that $18,594,000 of the proceeds from the bonds, which will bear 3¼ per cent interest, will be used to redeem outstanding 3¾ per cent bonds. The remaining $10,000,000, together with $3,500,000 to be derived from the sale of common stock to Commonwealth and Southern would be used to reimburse Consumers Power for property improvement expenditures already made.

REVEAL MERGER AND STOCK PLAN FOR SQUARE D CO.

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—A meeting of stockholders of the Square D company to vote on a possible merger agreement and a new stock issue, has been called for Dec. 28, the New York Stock Exchange bulletin reported today.

Stock holders were summoned "to consider authorizing $3,000,000 of 5 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock, and to approve a merger agreement which, if approved by the directors at a meeting to be held Dec. 6, will then be submitted to stockholders," the bulletin said.

TREASURY BOND BUYERS AWARDED 8% OF REQUESTS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—Secretary Morgenthau announced today that bids for the $500,000,000 treasury bond issue offered last week totaled $6,263,000,000. He said most subscribers would be allotted 8 per cent of the amount they asked for. The bonds will be 9 to 11 year maturities and pay 2 per cent interest.

Under a special plan for small investors, subscriptions totaling about $21,000,000 will be allotted in full. This group was made up of individual requests up to $5,000.

Morgenthau reported the treasury sold its weekly issue of $100,000,000 of 91 day bills at an average interest rate of 0.016 per cent, compared with 0.015 per cent for the bills sold last week.

Pines Winterfront Board Authorizes Loan Increase

Directors of the Pines Winterfront company yesterday authorized an increase in a loan secured by a first mortgage from $123,680 to $180,000, providing about $50,000, in additional working funds. It was announced that a group of stockholders has agreed to purchase the $180,000 of obligations from the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. Benpamin F. Stein resigned as president of the company and was replaced by Ralph F. Cohn.

Cook County's Auto Sales Set All-Time November High Mark

Automobile sales in Cook county last month reached 6,800, the highest level for any November in history, the bureau of motor advice reported yesterday. The month's volume represented a decline of 597 units from October's sales of 7,397, but a gain of 1,613 units over the total of 5,187 for November, 1938. The previous November record was established in 1935.

Chevrolet took the lead in November with 1,500 sales, while Plymouth, in first place for October, tumbled to seventh. Sales of Dodge, Chrysler, and De Soto turned lower with those of Plymouth.

Plymouth's November total of 331 contrasted with 1,363 in October and 901 in November, 1938, when Plymouth ranked second. Dodge, holder of fourth place in October with 658, had sales of 134 last month, or 13th on the list. Dodge sales in November, 1938, were fifth largest at 335.

Slips to 16th Rank.

Chrysler, in 11th position during October with 270, slipped to 16th last month with 74. In November last year sales totaled 108. De Soto dropped from 12th place in October on sales of 200 to 15th place last month with 76. In November last year sales were 107.

Buick continued in second place with sales of 940, compared with 1,032 in October and 687 in November, 1938.

Ford held to third place with 898, against 716 in October and 457 in November last year. Pontiac, in sixth place during October, advanced to fourth on sales of 637, compared with 549 the preceding month and 330 in November, 1938.

Oldsmobile and Packard, in seventh and eighth places respectively in October, each climbed a notch last month. Oldsmobile's sales totaled 553, against 536 in October and 293 in November last year. Packard's sales of 374 contrasted with 380 in October and 298 in November, 1938.

Comparative Figures.

MOTOR CARRIER WORKERS PLACED UNDER ICC RULE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—A three judge federal court ruled today that the Interstate Commerce commission has authority to regulate the hours of all employés of common and contract motor carriers.

The decision, which removed 150,000 to 200,000 office workers from the maximum hours provision of the wage hour act, was made in a suit brought by American Trucking Associations, Inc., and four motor carriers to force the ICC to assume such jurisdiction.

The ICC had taken the position that the motor carrier act of 1935 empowered it to regulate the hours of only those employés, such as drivers, whose work involved a "safety factor." The court held, however, that the ICC had authority to prescribe "reasonable requirements regarding qualifications and maximum hours of service" of all employés of highway carriers coming under the act.

Signing the majority opinion were Chief Justice Lawrence D. Groner of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia and Justice Jennings Bailey of federal District court. Justice F. Dickinson Letts of federal District court dissented. The judges heard the case as a special constitutional court.

OFFER 8 MILLION REFUNDING BONDS FOR PULP FIRM

An $8,000,000 issue of West Virginia Pulp and Paper company first mortgage bonds, 3 per cent series due in 1954, will be placed on the market today by an underwriting group headed by Harriman Ripley & Co., Inc. The bonds are priced at 99 and accrued interest.

Proceeds from the sale will be used, with other funds, to redeem $9,268,000 of 6½ per cent first mortgage bonds, due in 1952.

CROWLEY, FDIC HEAD, TO ACCEPT POSITION WITH STANDARD GAS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—Chairman Leo Crowley of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation said today he would accept the position of chairman of the board of the Standard Gas and Electric company, but would remain with the FDIC several months to clean up several problems.

Crowley discussed his plans with reporters after talking with President Roosevelt about "the whole banking situation." Asked whether he might remain with the FDIC for as much as six months, Crowley said, "for a few months, put it that way."

The problems which must be ironed out before his departure, Crowley said, do not pertain to FDIC assessments but to individual banks. He said he could not discuss the matter further because he might embarrass the banks.

Standard Gas and Electric is a vast utility holding company which includes systems in 20 states and Mexico.

STEEL OUTPUT DIPS; STILL FAR ABOVE YEAR AGO

Steel operations are scheduled to begin this week at 92.8 per cent of theoretical ingot capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute reported yesterday, a decrease of 1.6 points from the 94.4 per cent rate of last week.

The rate in the corresponding week a year ago was 59.5 per cent of capacity. A month ago, according to the institute, the indicated rate was 92.5 per cent, a gain of 1.5 points over the preceding week.

The decline from last week's rate is the second since Labor day, according to the report, the first occurring in the week of Oct. 23.

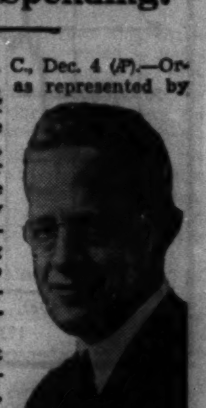
BUSINESS RAKES ROOSEVELT IDEA OF DEFENSE TAX

Urges Congress Cut Federal Spending.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—Organized business, as represented by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, threw cold water today upon the idea broached by President Roosevelt of levying special taxes to finance emergency defense outlays.



Rep. Ditter opposes defense levies.

Asserting that new and additional taxes, whether for defense or other purposes, were not the answer to the country's fiscal problems, the chamber suggested that congress "drastically overhaul its taxing and spending procedure so as to tighten up its control of the government's purse strings."

Urge Expenses Be Pruned.

Specifically, the organization suggested creation of a central budget committee which, supplementing the existing appropriations and revenue raising committees, would survey the budget situation as a whole soon after the President sent his estimates to congress.

The chamber contended "liberal use of the pruning knife" offered the only practical solution for the government's financial problems.

At the same time Representative Woodrum [D., Va.], one of the leading economy advocates in the house and an influential member of its appropriations committee, conceded that considerations of "practical politics" in the coming presidential campaign would make it difficult to cut down federal spending.

Held Dangerous Politically.

Other committee members said privately that any attempt to effect substantial reductions in either relief

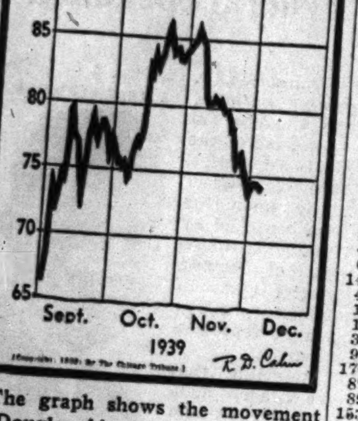
New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 4.—The stock market turned in its most listless performance in more than five months today as prices drifted irregularly lower on a turnover of only 427,815 shares. Franctional changes on both sides predominated, with the price range extremely limited thruout the session.

Absence of new price-making developments plus continued speculation over the next turn in the European war stiuation were held the chief restraining influences on traders.

The cheerful dividend announcements coming to hand apparently continued to have little effect, while the drop in estimated steel operations was said to have been foreshadowed by a weakening of scrap steel prices.



The graph shows the movement of Douglas Aircraft stock since the start of the war.

The list opened dull and continued lifeless until the start of the second hour, when moderate selling appeared. The selling soon dried up, however, and for the remainder of the day prices fluctuated narrowly.

Pivotal steels were on the up side. United States Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube recorded fractional gains. Chrysler worked ½ point higher, while other motors were unchanged to lower.

Most aviation shares eased slightly, altho United Aircraft gained ½ point. Curtiss-Wright and North American Aviation closed unchanged in relatively active dealings.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—Obligations of Finland slumped more than 20 points today in the bond market, indicating holders' concern over the fate of the little nation in its conflict with Russia. The dollar loans of Copenhagen, Helsingfors, Denmark, and Norway also declined.

On other fronts bonds were uneven. Trade was so narrow that trends were indistinguishable. It was the smallest volume since Nov. 6, with sales totaling $5,349,500 face value, compared with $6,079,800 Friday.

Chicago Stocks.

Several active issues advanced fractionally on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in dull trading. No distinct price trend was evident thruout the list. Sales totaled 21,000 shares. Central and South West Utilities held steady at ¾ on a turnover of 3,500 shares. Midland United preferred, Fuller Manufacturing, Advance Aluminum, and Berghoff gained ⅛ to ⅜ point. Commonwealth Edison and Chicago corporation lost ⅛ each.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust and Savings bank stock advanced five points yesterday to close on a bid of 310. Continental Illinois closed at 87½, a half point gain.

Commodities

Raw silk futures rose virtually the 15 cent a pound limit in active trading yesterday as buyers took contracts at top prices in the New York market. The advance, however, quickly subsided, and profit taking forced prices downward.

Futures for delivery this month at approximately $3.48 a pound, cents higher than on Saturday. distant deliveries were up practically the limit permitted in a single day's trading. Brokers reported large advances in Japanese silk markets influenced heavy Japanese purchases in New York.

Domestic sugar futures under liquidation attributed to lack of news from Washington on the expected Cuban trade treaty or the 1940 domestic sugar program.

World sugar futures were also lower on scattered selling, altho Cuban covering gave some support to the market. Prices were 2 to 2½ cents lower. Raw sugar was dull, with the only offering a cargo of Philippine sugar for December arrival at 3 cents a pound. Duty paid Cuban raws were unchanged at 3.29 cents, while refined sugar was fairly active at 4.7 cents.

A reduction of a half cent a pound in the price of zinc, East St. Louis basis, to 6 cents, was the major development in the metal markets. The reduction carried the quotation back to near the early September level before the advance caused by the European war.

Santos coffee and cocoa also advanced, while Straits tin, cottonseed oil, rubber, and hides declined. Wool tops were unsettled.

STOCK YARD CO. LOSES SUPREME COURT DECISION

Must File Rate Schedule with Commission.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 [Special]. —The Union Stock Yard and Transit Company of Chicago today lost a rate case in one of numerous decisions handed down by the United States Supreme court. The court held that the company is subject to regulation by the Interstate Commerce commission.

In 1938 the commission issued an order requiring cancelation of schedules by which the company proposed to abolish its tariff specifying charges for loading and unloading live stock. The company contended it was not a common carrier and that therefore it could not be required to file the tariff with the commission. The court held, with no announced dissent, that the ICC can require the schedule to be filed.

Fear Tripling of Rates.

Railroads carrying live stock to Chicago charged that the stockyard company intended to triple its rates if it won its effort to cancel the tariff schedule.

The company asserted its rates are subject to the jurisdiction of the secretary of agriculture, and that its handling charges are paid by the railroads it serves, not by the shippers. The National Live Stock Marketing association, representing farmers and live stock men, claimed the stockyard company is paid "out of the line-haul charge which shippers are required to pay."

Commission Rule Upheld.

The ICC was upheld in another case involving a commission order permitting the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad to lease the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railroad. The issue was whether the commission has the power to require the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific to provide for certain interests of workers involved in the lease.

The portion of the ICC order relating to the employés was set aside by a three judge federal court for northern Illinois, but the rest was allowed to stand. Today's ruling reversed the lower court decision on the employé benefits issue. The benefits prescribed by the commission related to dismissal pay, seniority rights, and salary adjustments of employés involved in the agreement between the two roads.

Oregon Wins Trust Case.

The state of Oregon won a suit for the right to levy an inheritance tax on a $450,000 trust created in Chicago by Dr. Edward S. Hayes, an Oregon resident who died in 1936. The court upheld the state's claim that jurisdiction in the case was dependent "not on physical location of the property in the state, but on control over the owner." Justice McReynolds dissented.

The court set aside a lower court decision which held that a farmer who has no reasonable prospect of financial rcovery has no right to seek relief from a mortgage foreclosure under the Frazier-Lemke moratorium act.

Appeal Turned Down.

In a case from Pennsylvania, the court refused to consider an appeal based on a claim that the National Labor Relations board lacks authority to order reinstatement of strikers if a strike does not obstruct commerce. A review had been asked by the Titan Metal Manufacturing company, which the NLRB had accused of unfair labor practices.

The court agreed to review a petition of the Missouri-Illinois Railroad company that oil lying beneath its right of way be produced and sold, and the proceeds impounded until a dispute over ownership is settled. Two oil companies claim the oil on the grounds that the road's right of way does not cover oil and mineral rights. The dispute involves oil in the Salem field in Marion county, Ill.

DEBITS AGAINST BANK ACCOUNTS LOWER IN WEEK

Checks written against individual deposit accounts in 159 banks in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district decreased 12.7 per cent in the week ended Nov. 29, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago announced yesterday. The total, however, was 4.4 per cent above that shown for the corresponding week last year in the 41 leading clearing house cities.

Debits [checks written] totaled $1,072,617,000, compared with $1,229,080,000 in the preceding week and $1,027,763,000 a year ago.

Chicago banks reported debits of $588,356,000, against $694,850,000 in the week ended Nov. 22 and $573,841,000 in the week ended Nov. 30, 1938.

TWO LARGE AIR LINES REPORT TRAFFIC GAINS

Two of the major airlines yesterday reported increases in passenger traffic during November compared with a year ago. American Airlines, Inc., for the eleventh consecutive month, bettered the 1938 figures for passengers leaving Chicago. A total of 6,914 persons left the city on the airline, compared with 4,662 a year ago—an increase of over 48 per cent.

United Air Lines reported that the system flew a total of 12,100,300 revenue passenger miles during the month, an increase of 35 per cent over November, 1938.

Jones & Laughlin Steel to Hold Prices Steady

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 4 (AP).—The Jones & Laughlin Steel company followed the lead of other steel producers today and reaffirmed its prices on most steel products for the first quarter of 1940. Certain price and extra adjustments on hot rolled sheets, hot rolled strip and hot rolled rods were made to conform to lists announced by others in the industry.

Federal Statistician Warns War May Boost Prices Unduly

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, predicted before the national economic committee today that prolongation of the European war would boost American prices and bring about a "period of painful economic adjustment in the United States."

Lubin was the first witness as the committee opened an investigation suggested by President Roosevelt, who urged the group last fall to "keep a constant eye" on the price structure to prevent war profiteering. Senator Borah [R., Idaho], who had not attended committee sessions in several months, presided in the absence of Chairman O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.].

Tracing the history of wartime price increases, Lubin told the committee there was no assurance that commodity cost increases which already have begun would not continue and include a constantly wider group of materials.

Fears Higher Living Costs.

"If this happens," Lubin said, "we must expect an increase in the cost of living and a demand for increased wages by labor. Out of it all will come the same serious economic repercussions that we witnessed 20 years ago.

The labor statistician said industry now had far greater capacity and was much more easily adaptable to using substitute products than it was in the years just prior to this country's entrance in the world war. For those reasons, he said, there is less likelihood of industrial over-expansion and less chance that prices on basic commodities such as chemicals will rise precipitously as they did in the last war. He mentioned, however, the possibility of over-expansion due to high prices.

Reports Price Advances.

Lubin said that important changes already had occurred in the domestic price structure since the outbreak of the European war three months ago.

"The curtailment of normal sources of supply has caused the wholesale price of numerous drugs and medicines to more than double during the last few months," he told the committee.

He said burlap prices had doubled since August, partly because of the demand for sandbags by belligerent nations and that zinc prices had gone up 40 per cent, affecting the cost of producing galvanized steel.

Meanwhile, the United States Chamber of Commerce issued a statement saying that "remarkable stability" of price levels prevailed during the last two months. The chamber's review of business suggested that "a full bill of particulars" accompany all official comment on prices.

BUSINESS RAKES ROOSEVELT IDEA OF DEFENSE TAX

Urges Congress to Cut Federal Spending.

or agricultural appropriations would be potentially dangerous politically because these funds affected so many voters. Both appropriations are likely targets of economy efforts, however, because they have included such large emergency outlays.

Six of the major departmental supply bills, which accounted for $4,685,184,247 of the current fiscal year's appropriation total, will be under consideration of appropriations subcommittees this week.

Committee Members' Views.

Committee members said they were heartened by recent indications that the administration hoped to reduce the deficit $1,000,000,000 during the year starting July 1, but they were not optimistic that the suggested special tax could be enacted to meet the $500,000,000 increase which has been predicted in national defense expenditures. Here, too, some committeemen said, "practical politics" would make congress cool toward such a levy.

Asked about prospects for a special defense tax, Representative Ditter [R., Pa.], who is chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee as well as a member of the appropriations unit, said: "We would like to see them try it."

Mr. Roosevelt has not advocated the special taxes for emergency defense outlays, merely raising the question whether such taxes or borrowing should be employed.

TRADING IN EGG FUTURES SETS NOVEMBER HIGH

All November records for trading in egg futures were broken on Chicago Merchantile exchange last month, it was disclosed yesterday. Transactions involved 91,968,000 dozens, compared with 89,472,000 in November, 1938, and a 10 year November average of 63,480,000 dozens. The previous November record was set in 1925, when transfers were 90,108,000 dozens.

Egg futures sales for the first 11 months of the year were 492,996,000 dozens, an increase of 7 per cent over the 461,760,000 traded in during the corresponding 1938 period, and a new high for the period since 1933.

Butter futures trades amounted to 43,776,000 pounds, an increase of 132 per cent compared with November, 1938. During the last 11 months transactions totaled 229,374,400 pounds, against 212,524,800 in the 1938 period.

Both egg and butter futures prices declined yesterday.

Cudahy Sues for $308,182 Processing Tax Refund

The Cudahy Packing company filed suit in federal court yesterday for a refund of $308,182 in processing taxes paid on floor stock under the defunct agricultural adjustment act. The bill says the commissioner of internal revenue has failed to rule on the company's claim, altho it has been pending for 29 months. The revenue act of 1936 provided for such claims after the law assessing processing taxes was declared unconstitutional.

BRITAIN, FRANCE PLAN ECONOMIC POOL AFTER WAR

English Press Discusses Mutual Advantages.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 4.—With the unanimity that usually indicates official government inspiration, the British press is developing the theme that the decision to pool Anglo-French economic operations should not be allowed to lapse after the war, but should become the first link in some kind of a federal union which would spread to other countries.

All of the papers are talking about whether the allied economic coördinating committee, of which Frenchman Jean Monney has just been appointed chairman, will not be the start of a post-war economic partnership.

Expect Finance Coördination.

This committee, which is to have six subdivisions dealing with aircraft, munitions and raw materials, oil, food, shipping and economic warfare, is likely to have a seventh division shortly dealing with coördinating finance and exchange between the two empires, it was announced today.

Differences in commercial policy and industrial structure exist but, it is pointed out that the economies of the French and British empires are, in many respects, complementary rather than competitive. This leads the important magazine, The Economist, to recommend that an Anglo-French custom union should be one of the war aims. It also suggests there would be benefits in joint assumption of trusteeship by the two mother countries for their colonial empires, which adjoin in every continent.

Would Exchange Products.

The wish here may be the father to the thought and there may be practical obstacles in the way to accentuating English industries and French agriculture in bringing out this complimentary factor. But that seems to be the idea. The British would manufacture for France and France would send more food and raw materials to England.

Meanwhile, commercial interests on both sides of the English channel are urging decisions to increase the cross-channel trade, which has been highly disorganized by the hostilities. Both countries have been trying to conserve their exchange and purchase only necessities.

The English have cut off their purchases of French luxury products and the French have taken similar measures. Business men say the situation still is unsatisfactory. Conferences have been held in London recently to improve matters and the difficulty seems to hinge on the refusal of authorities on both sides to grant import licenses.

May Ruin Christmas Trade.

The Christmas trade may be ruined, according to some business men. With the British authorities refusing import licenses to the French, it now devolves that the French are withholding import licenses which will prevent goods from crossing the channel. One suggestion to help matters is that the trade exchanges should be equal so that a definite trade balance for either side can be avoided. Before the war the French usually had an annual favorable balance with Britain of $200,000,000.

To defend the sterling exchange the British clamped down. Because of the depression of the franc the English can buy cheaply in France but the French won't buy British goods because of their high prices.

The Bank of France and the Bank of England may, therefore, have many differences to solve before the economic systems of the two countries are tied together on a permanent basis.

MINIMUM PRICE ON INDIANA COAL RAISES DEBATE

Arguments Are Heard by Federal Board.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—Objections to the proposed minimum prices for bituminous coal in the Indiana district were entered today by W. J. O'Brien, Chicago, vice president and general manager of the Sterling-Midland Coal company, which markets Indiana coal.

O'Brien testified before the three man examining board which is hearing objections to minimum prices proposed by the bituminous coal division of the interior department. He advocated increases in some and decreases in other differentials on grades of coal above or below the base price. He upheld the recommendations of the Indiana district board against those of the coal division.

Objections against some parts of O'Brien's testimony were made by J. W. Guider, counsel for the Illinois district board.

Debate Effect on Illinois.

Illinois producers believe that the Indiana testimony will lead to a request for lower Indiana prices and will increase Indiana competition with southern Illinois coal.

When asked in cross-examination by counsel for the coal division whether his testimony, along with others, would result in a recommendation for lowering prices, O'Brien replied: "I cannot say that."

O'Brien testified that the prices proposed by the coal division would upset the movement of Indiana coal.

"I've seen a differential of 10 cents a ton put coal mines out of business," O'Brien said. "I don't know how long these fixed prices will last or how long this law will last. When I see prices on some coal raised 25 cents per ton when coal is standing idle on the tracks I know you're not going to move it."

Tells Effect of Relief Buying.

He said that relief coal buying in the Chicago market area has had a decided effect on regular coal prices during the last five years. The relief coal situation developed into prices at which the relief coal committee was willing to buy, he said. He believed that Indiana coal was among that bought for relief purposes in the Chicago area.

He compared this situation with the Indiana law providing that all public buildings in Indiana are to be heated with Indiana coal. This has not been done, and the law has never been tested on its constitutionality, O'Brien said.

The Indiana producers made it clear that they will contest the proposed coördination of Indiana prices with those of other districts. The prices proposed by the Indiana board would upset minimum prices tentatively set up by the coal division.

Local Loan Gives You SERVICE

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers.

75% of our loans are Signature Only Loans to employed men and women. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this service because employed people—young or old and regardless of occupation—are entitled to a simplified loan method. You may obtain $25 to $300—

Salary Loans On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months] and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends, and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

Residents of Illinois have benefited by this new "SPECIAL" Loan Plan.

As little as $2.00 to $2.26 a week repays in full, including all charges, a $150 loan over 20 months at America's largest loan company. No salary assignments.

$2.00 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $150 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1½% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance, or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $2.26 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $150 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.

First Pictures of Russian-Finnish War; Bombs Damage Helsingfors—Pick Champion Wether at Stock Show

[Associated Press Wirephoto: Sent yesterday from London by radio.]

One of the first pictures to reach United States of air raid damage in Helsingfors, Finland's capital. A Russian bomb was dropped into this street, causing heavy damage and some loss of life. Snow yesterday saved the Finn capital from further bombardment, but more raids may develop as soon as the weather clears up. (Story on page 3.)
